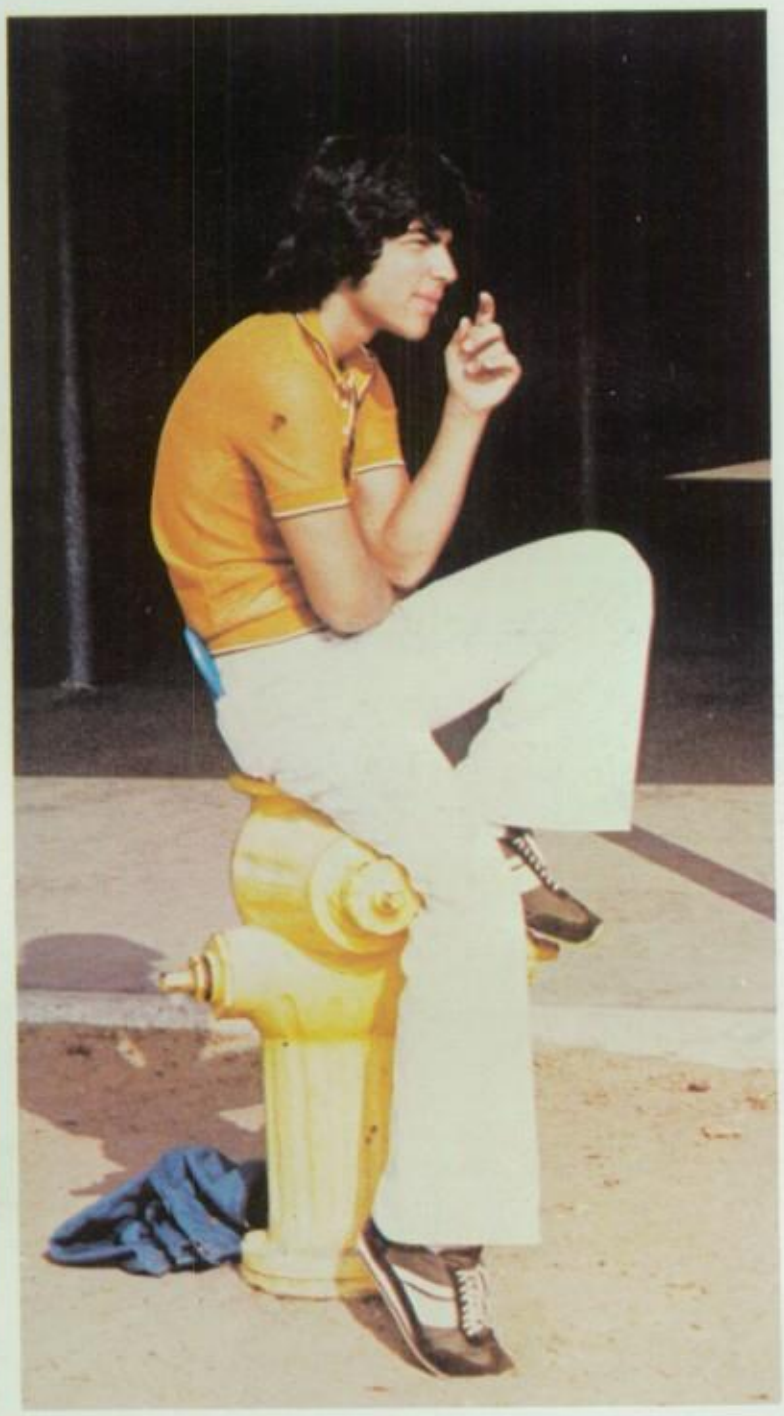
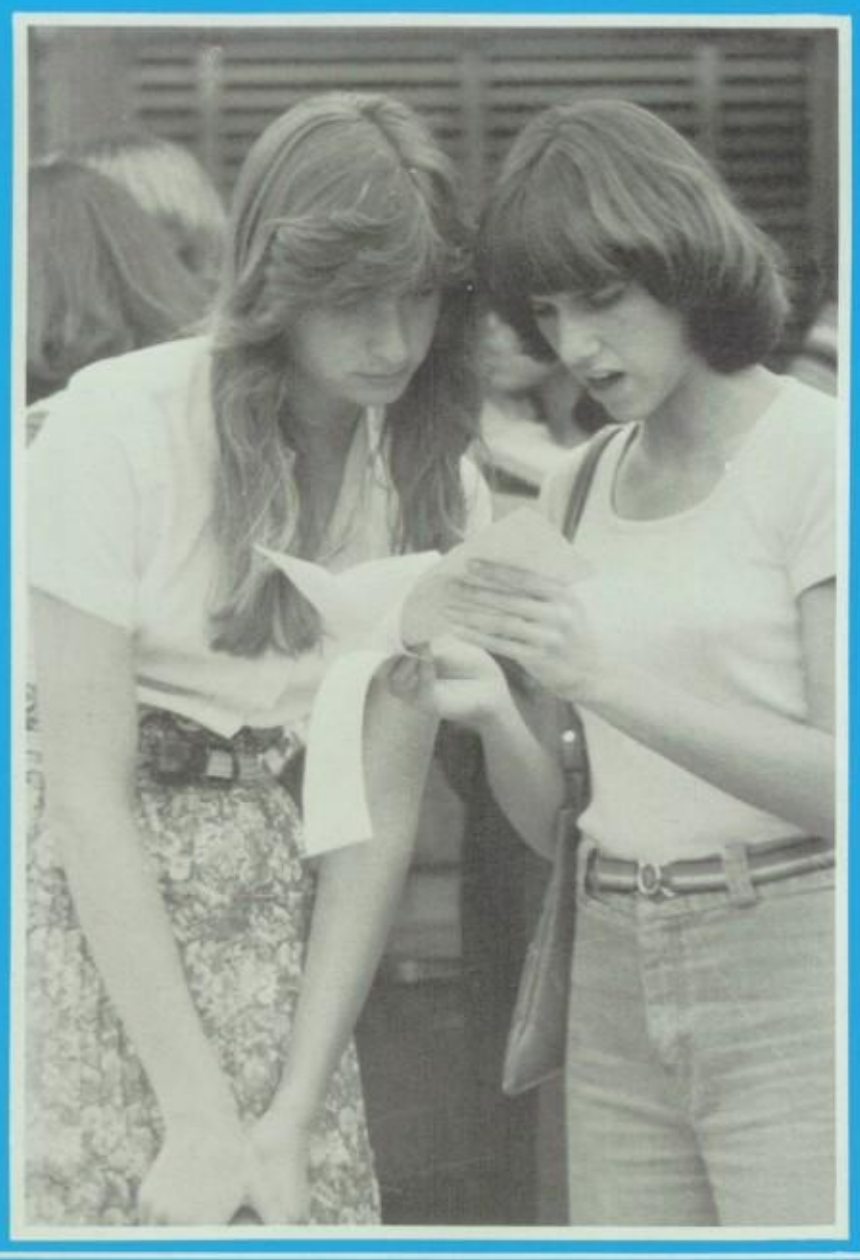
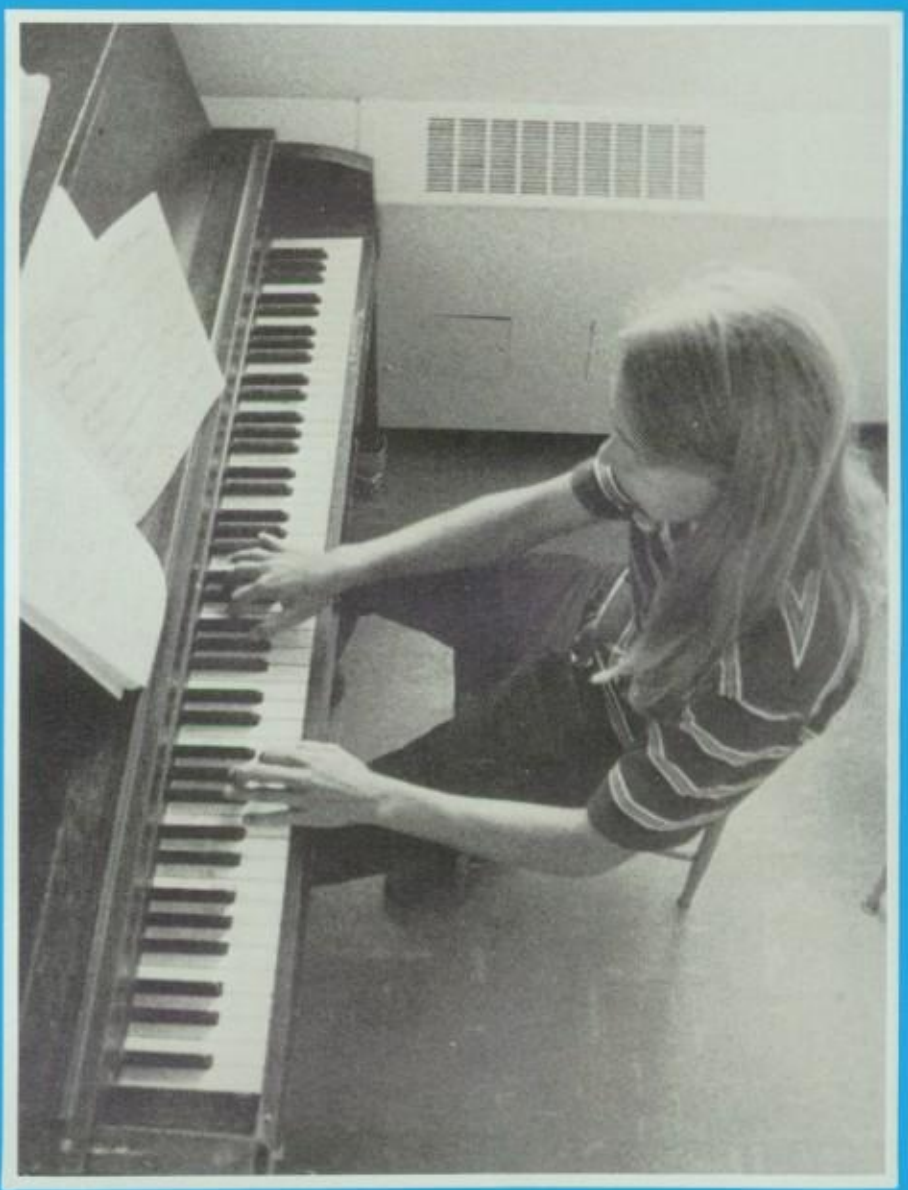
Volume 22

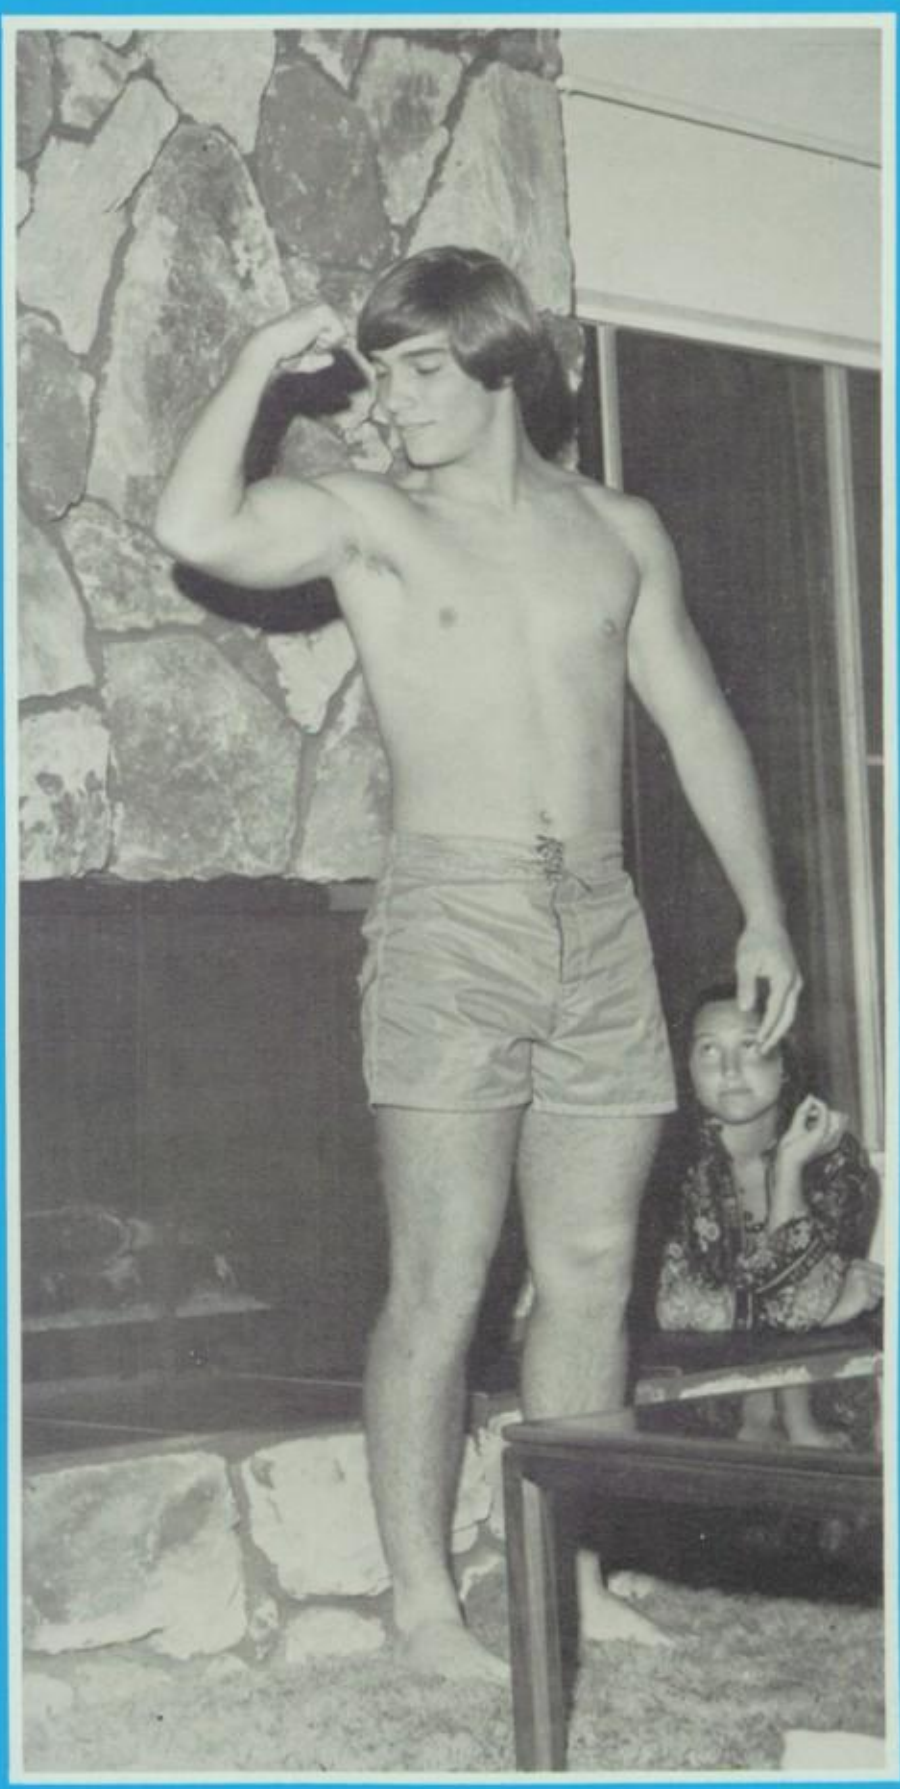
September is the month of change. As the new school year begins and the warm months of summer shorten into crisp autumn days, everyone shares the trauma of readjustment to school routine. But before you know it, you're in the midst of another year, surrounded by those certain moments that make memories. Warming the bleachers in PE the first week of school. Waving your Buccaneer pennant at football games. Mopeds. Sunning on the weedpatch. Struggling through a four hour history class in summer school so you can have a free period during the year. Memorizing Julius Caesar.



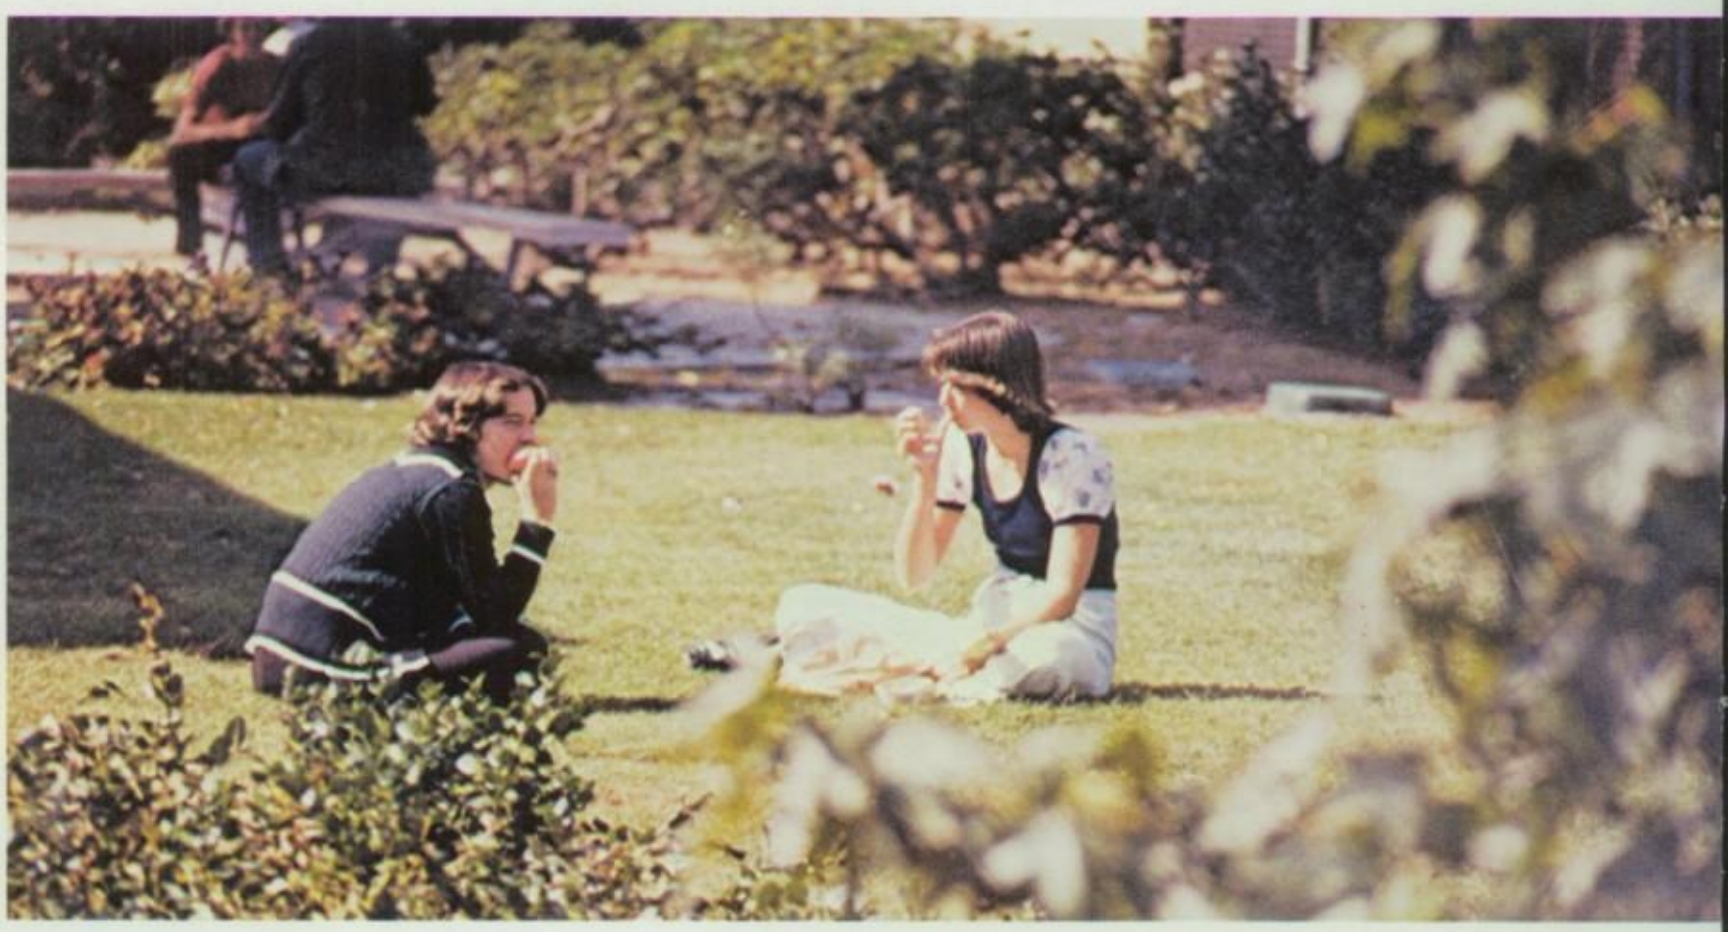


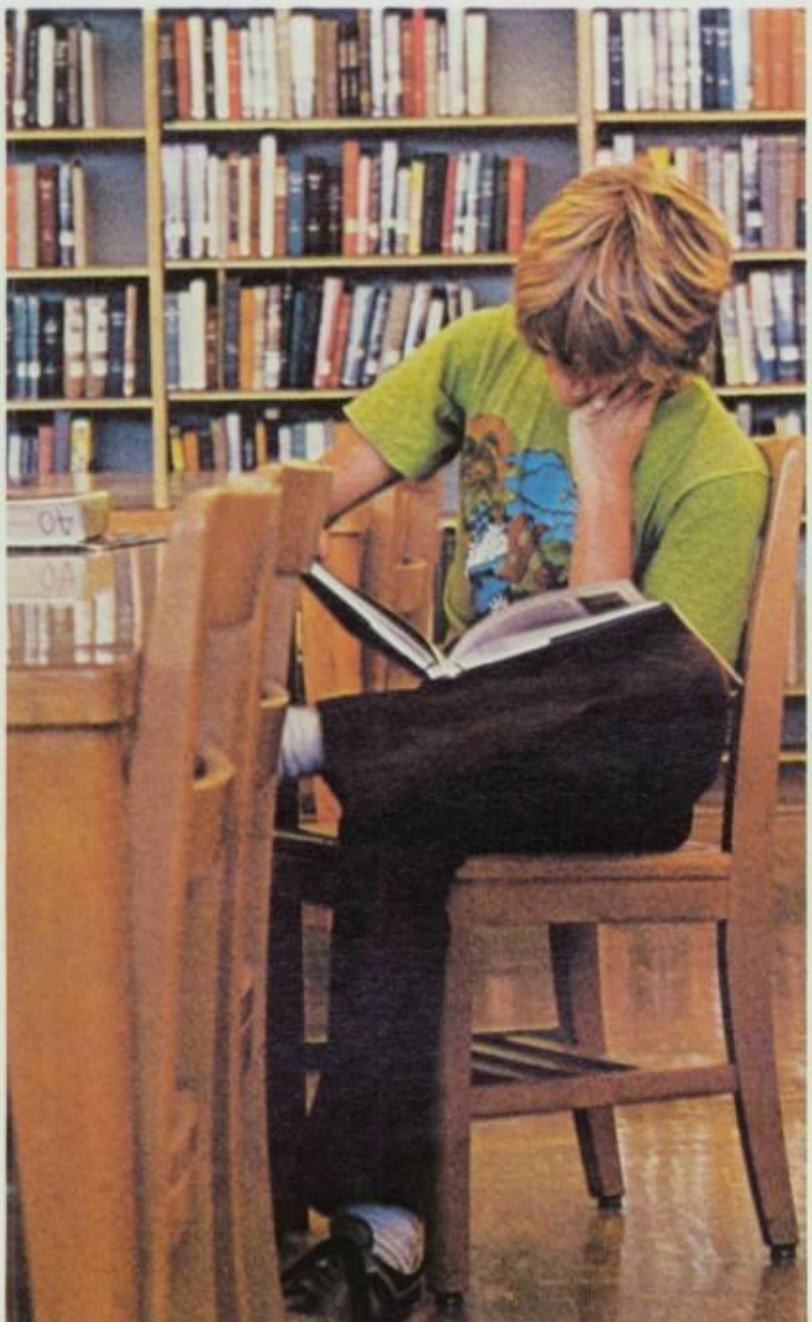


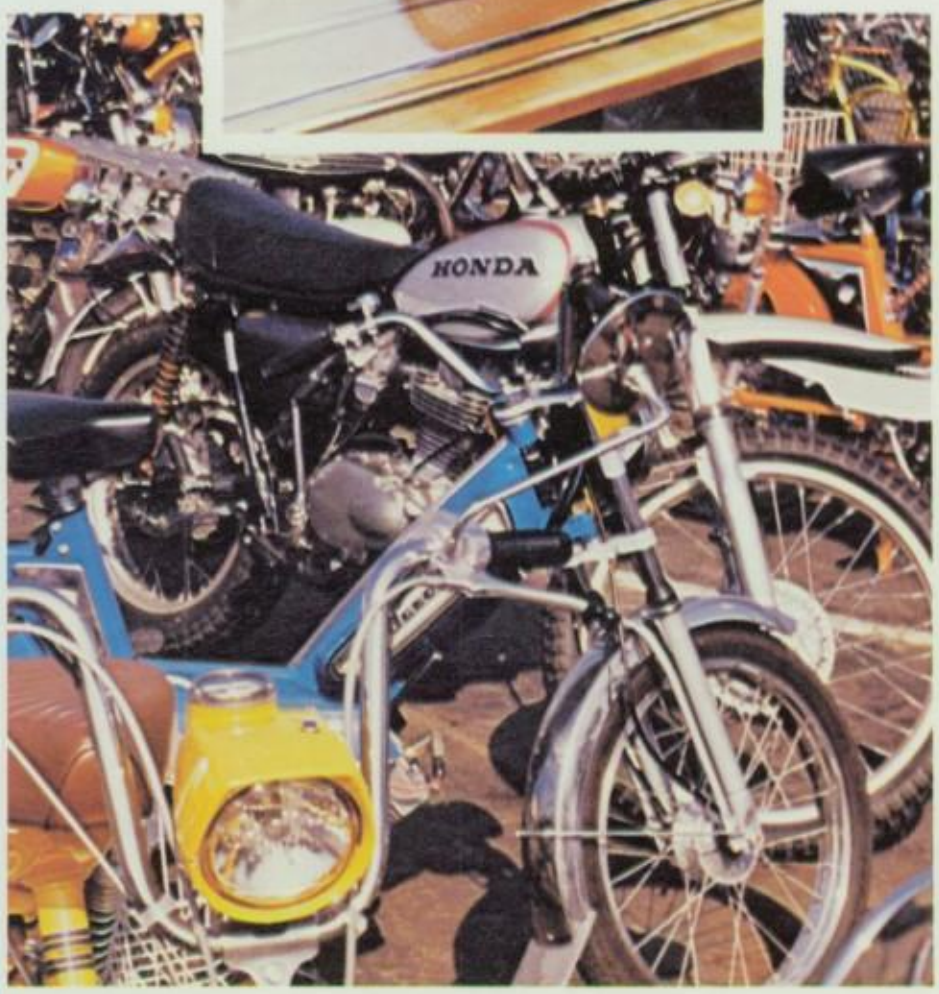
*L*osing your money in the coke machines. Buying pie when you should be getting cottage cheese. Dread of the scale in weight training. Dissecting a cat in Physiology. Early morning Drivers' Ed classes and failing to stay awake. Class competition. Drag racing down Grand. Taking a field trip to Linda's Donuts. Gossiping. Making up a false name for your ID picture. Comparing schedules on the first day of school. Making callbacks in Drama. Getting your braces off. Reeking of smoke when you leave the bathroom. Taking your Driver's test. Lugging a twenty pound block of clay to crafts. Going steady. Going off campus for a whopper when the cafeteria food isn't exciting.



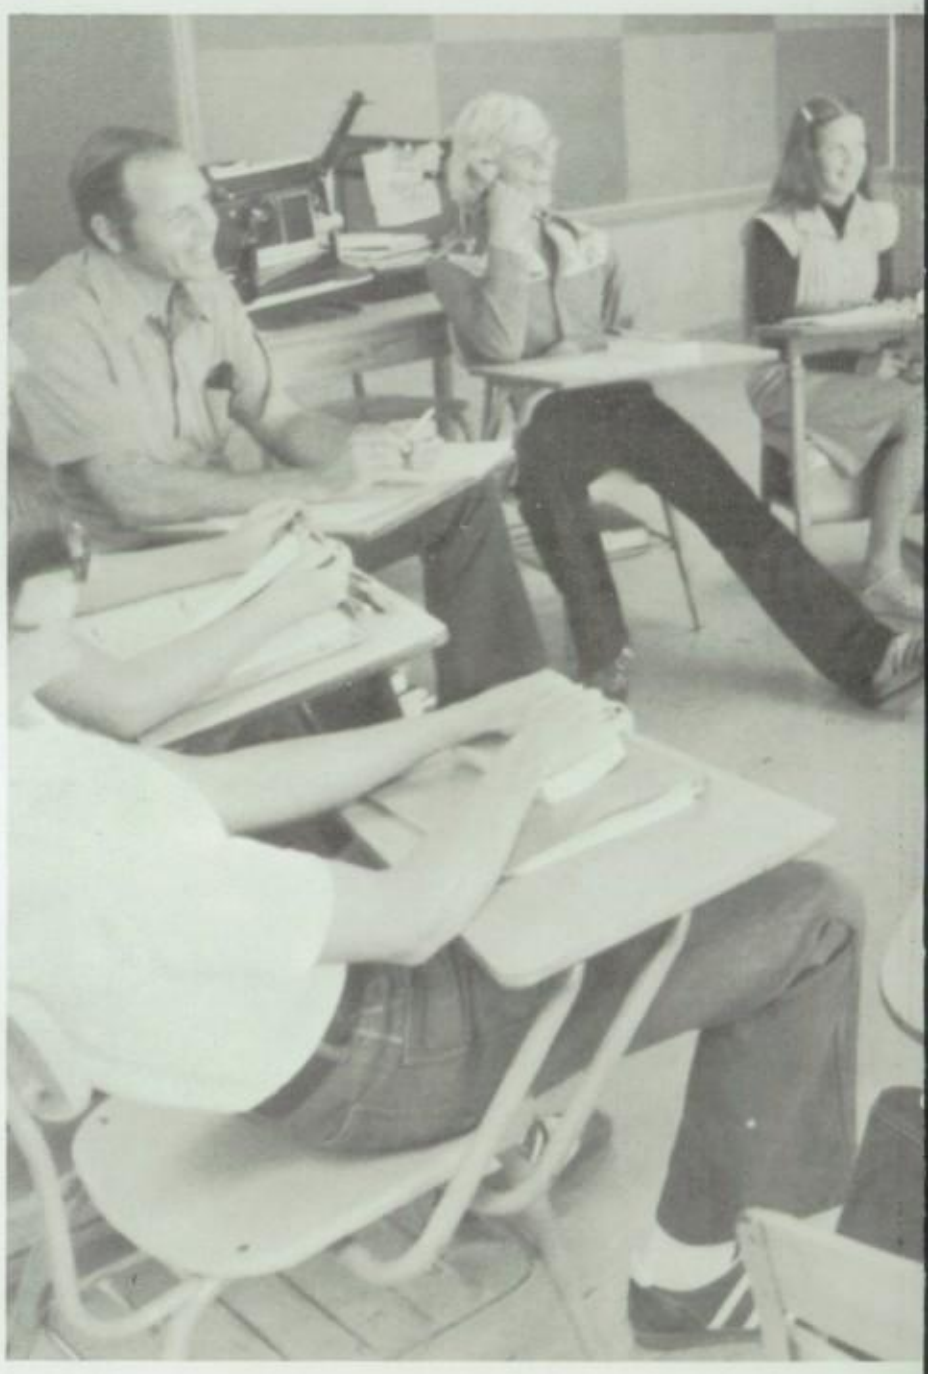
Jogging to the first bathroom on Fridays. Cramming for a test. Singing the alma mater at the end of a football game, even when we lost. Crunching old popcorn. HOMEWORK! Finding a quiet corner during lunch. Relaxing in relaxation class? Washing bottles after school because you were late to chemistry. Dressing up for the Halloween Dance. Avoiding the varsity room on your birthday. Growing up. Being the only girl in a co-ed field hockey class. Making a friend. Shaking nervously when you ask somebody to Sadie Hawkins . . . being terrified when he says yes! Feeling the bungalows shake beneath your feet as the bulldozers plow by. Conjugating irregular verbs in Spanish.





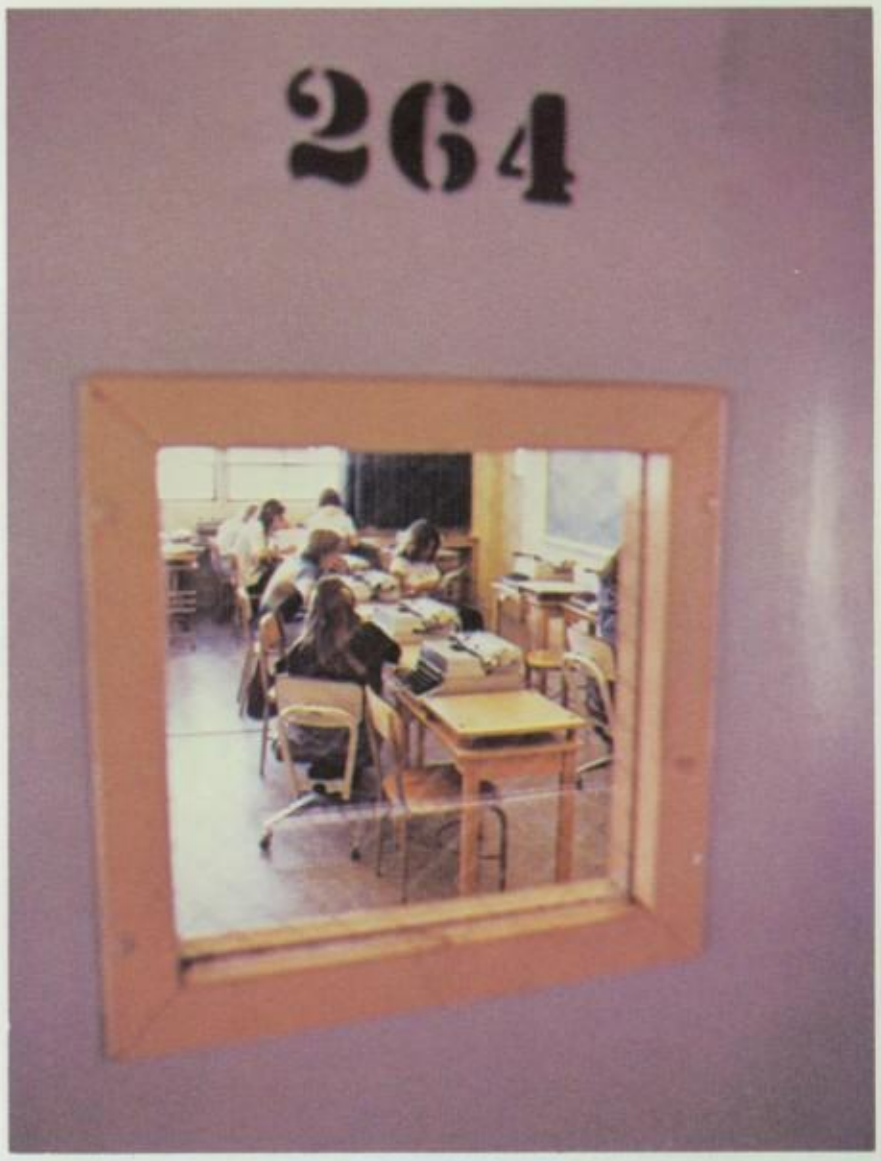


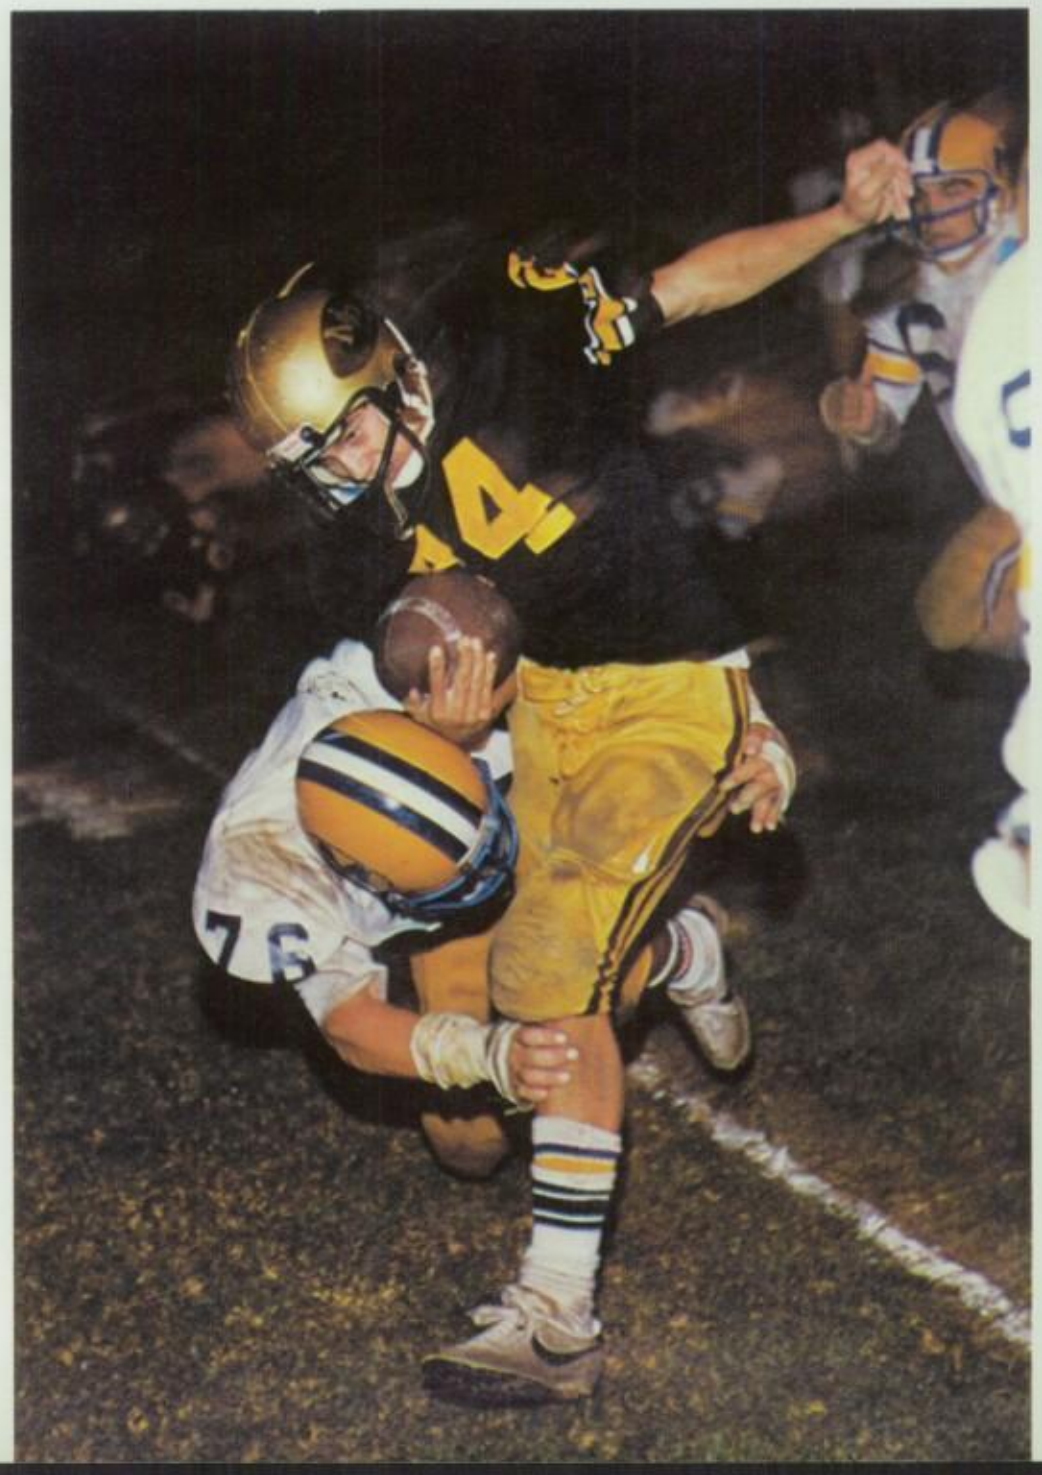
HONDA

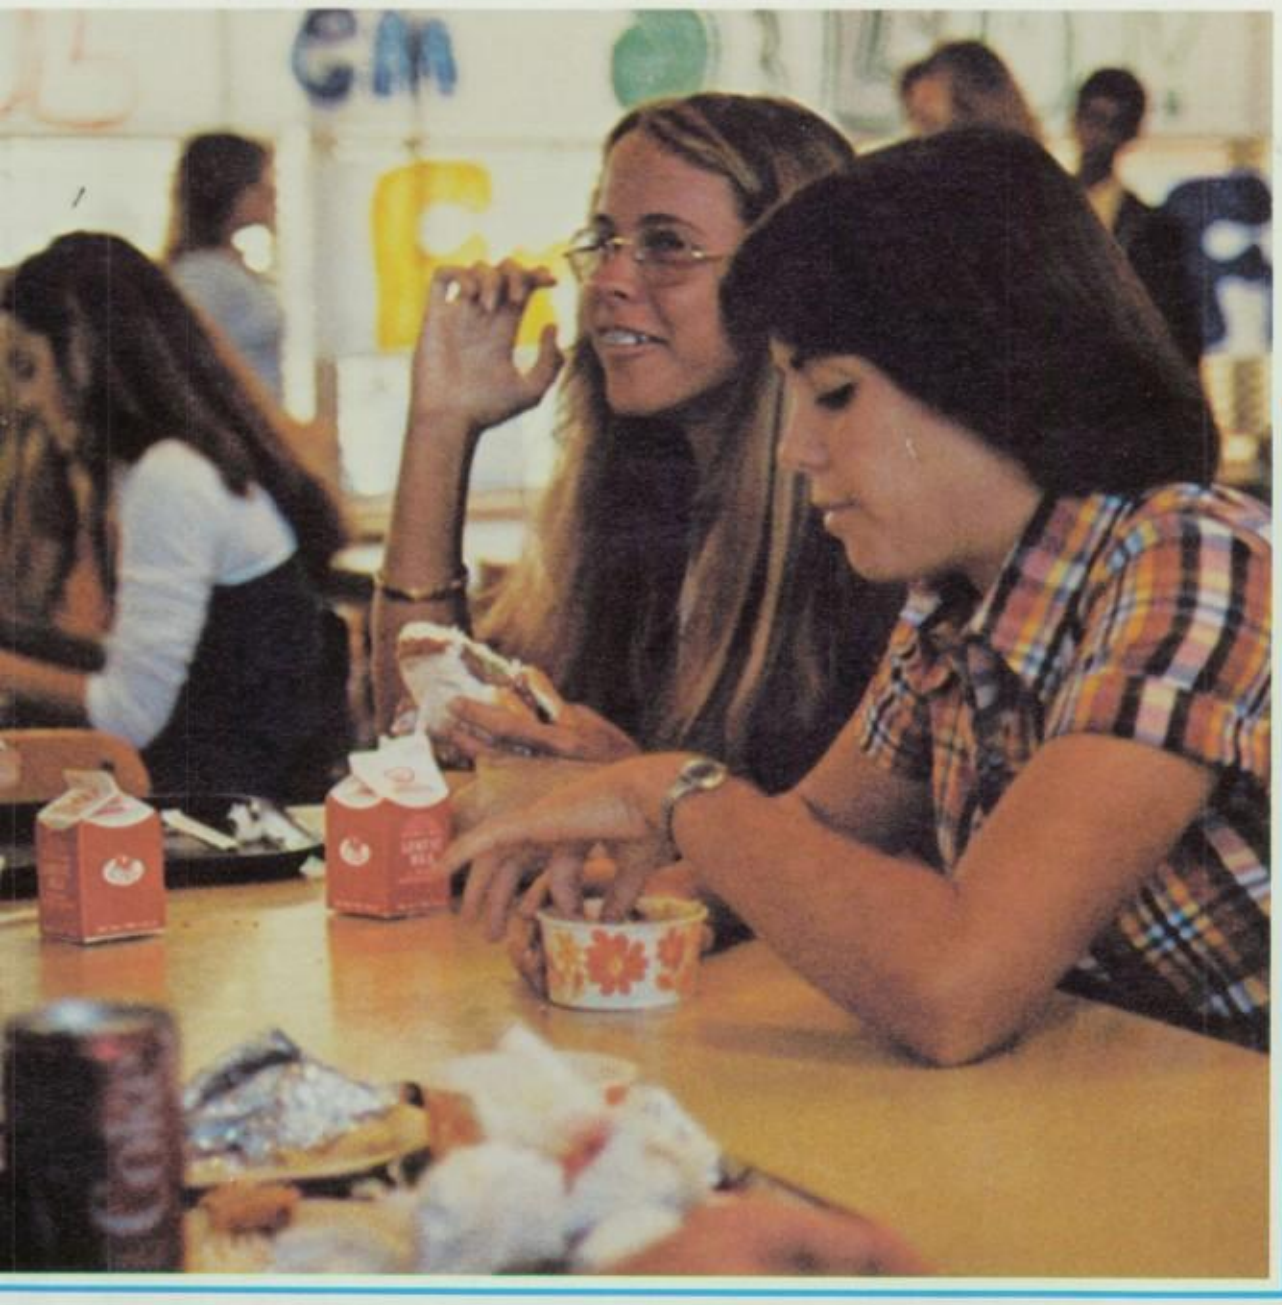


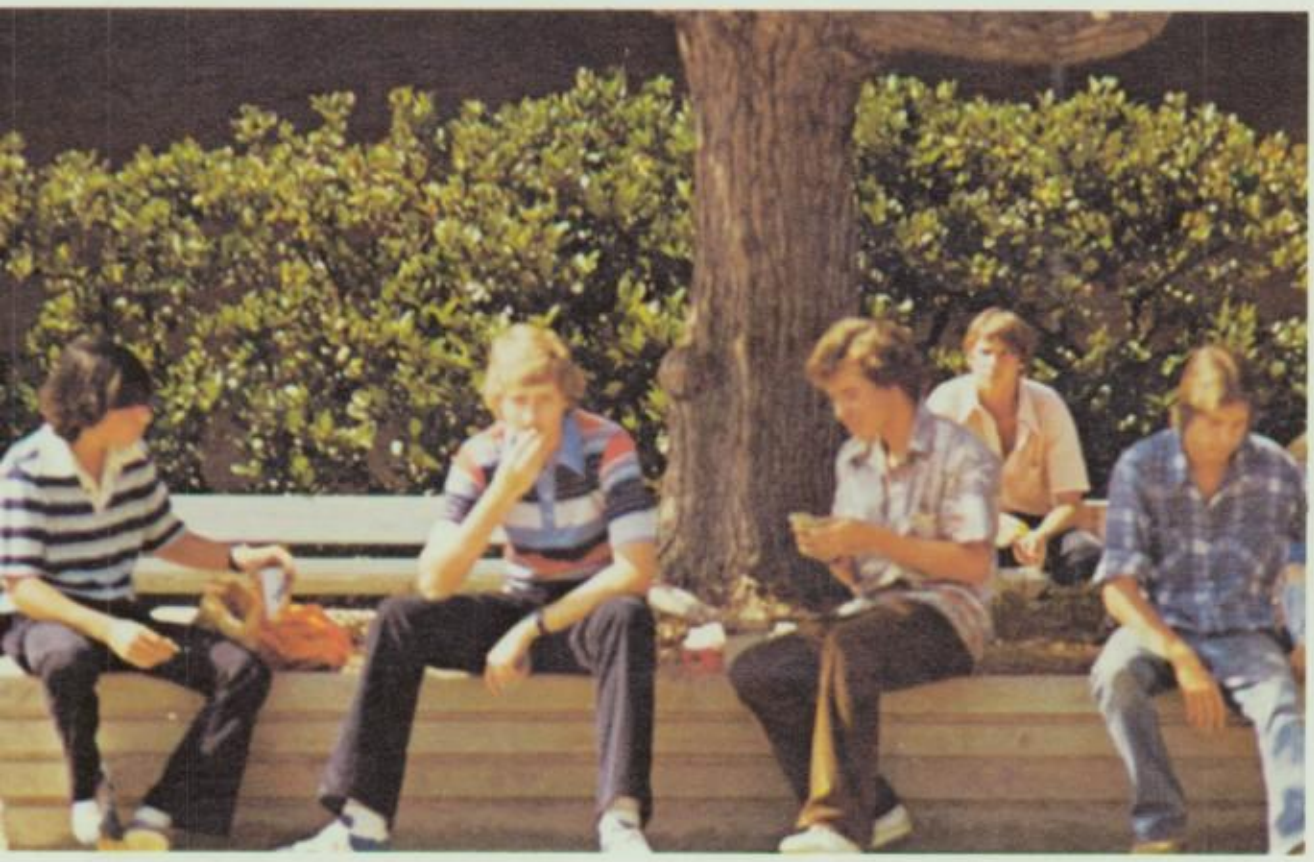
Buying a car. Crowding in the cafeteria on rainy days. Dragging yourself out of bed for the SAT the morning after Homecoming. Friendly rivalry with the Snobs. Falling madly in "like". Getting the highest score in the class. Missing your bus. Getting a locker in the senior locker section. Crying. Laughing. Being sick so you can watch your favorite soap opera. Walking home from school. Playing eeny meeny miny moe on a multiple choice test. Worrying about the future. Trying to be specific for an English essay. Wearing the latest style. Being unique in not seeing "Star Wars." Wondering what to put for your major on college applications. Sneaking peeks at the eclipse, then worrying you'll go blind.

Writing a song. Wearing your tongue out on a sucker from the student store. Working at a part-time job. Disillusionment. Passing notes. Decorating a friend's locker on their birthday. Getting the nerve to send that special person a carnation, then having it get lost. Surprising your secret sister with a gift. Helping build a Homecoming float. Buying black and gold gym clothes. Cutting class. Staying after school. The cloudless blue skies of a santa ana. Doing your math homework during art, your English essay in math, your physics lab during English, and letting your history homework slide until tomorrow. Losing a friend. Waiting for the library gate to open automatically, then being embarrassed when you find it doesn't. Rollerskating on the Boardwalk.









Partying
in the parking lot before a dance.
Having a secret admirer.
Being spirited. Learning how to develop film. Teachers.
Paricipating in the weedpatch rallies. Mondays at 8:00 a.m. Transferring from another school and not knowing anyone. Baking a pumpkin pie in Home Ec. Trying to explain your fifth tardy of the week. Surfing before school. Making up a test. Bundling up in your new winter sweaters although the climate calls for a bathing suit. Changing.

Holly-
I didn't get to know you as well or as soon as I wanted to. I don't really know you except when I say hi or you say hi. Maybe its not to late any-be in the summer I'll see you and talk to you we can get to know each other Sister: May we could go to a party or something

The Lighter Side

Weighty texts and dry lectures are not all school has to offer. Serious learning can only take place when it is interrupted by lighthearted moments of fun. Assemblies and rallies come in handy for this purpose. Not only do they entertain an audience of students, but they also provide endless amusing hours for the people who organize and participate in them. The break from concentrated study refreshes the mind, and makes it all the more interesting when the student returns to work. Of course, evenings can be spent at dances, where energetic exercise (received via dancing) pumps blood to the brain to aid the mental processes. The socializing that goes on at dances is another excellent from of distraction. Without these amusing activities to punctuate dull routine, students might themselves uninterested in classwork, which we know is never the case.

The offense builds a pyramid for the Weedpatch rally.

The crowd was totally wrapped up in the spectacular game.

Cheerleaders, old and new, join in the fun by starting out the parade on the Meano 6.

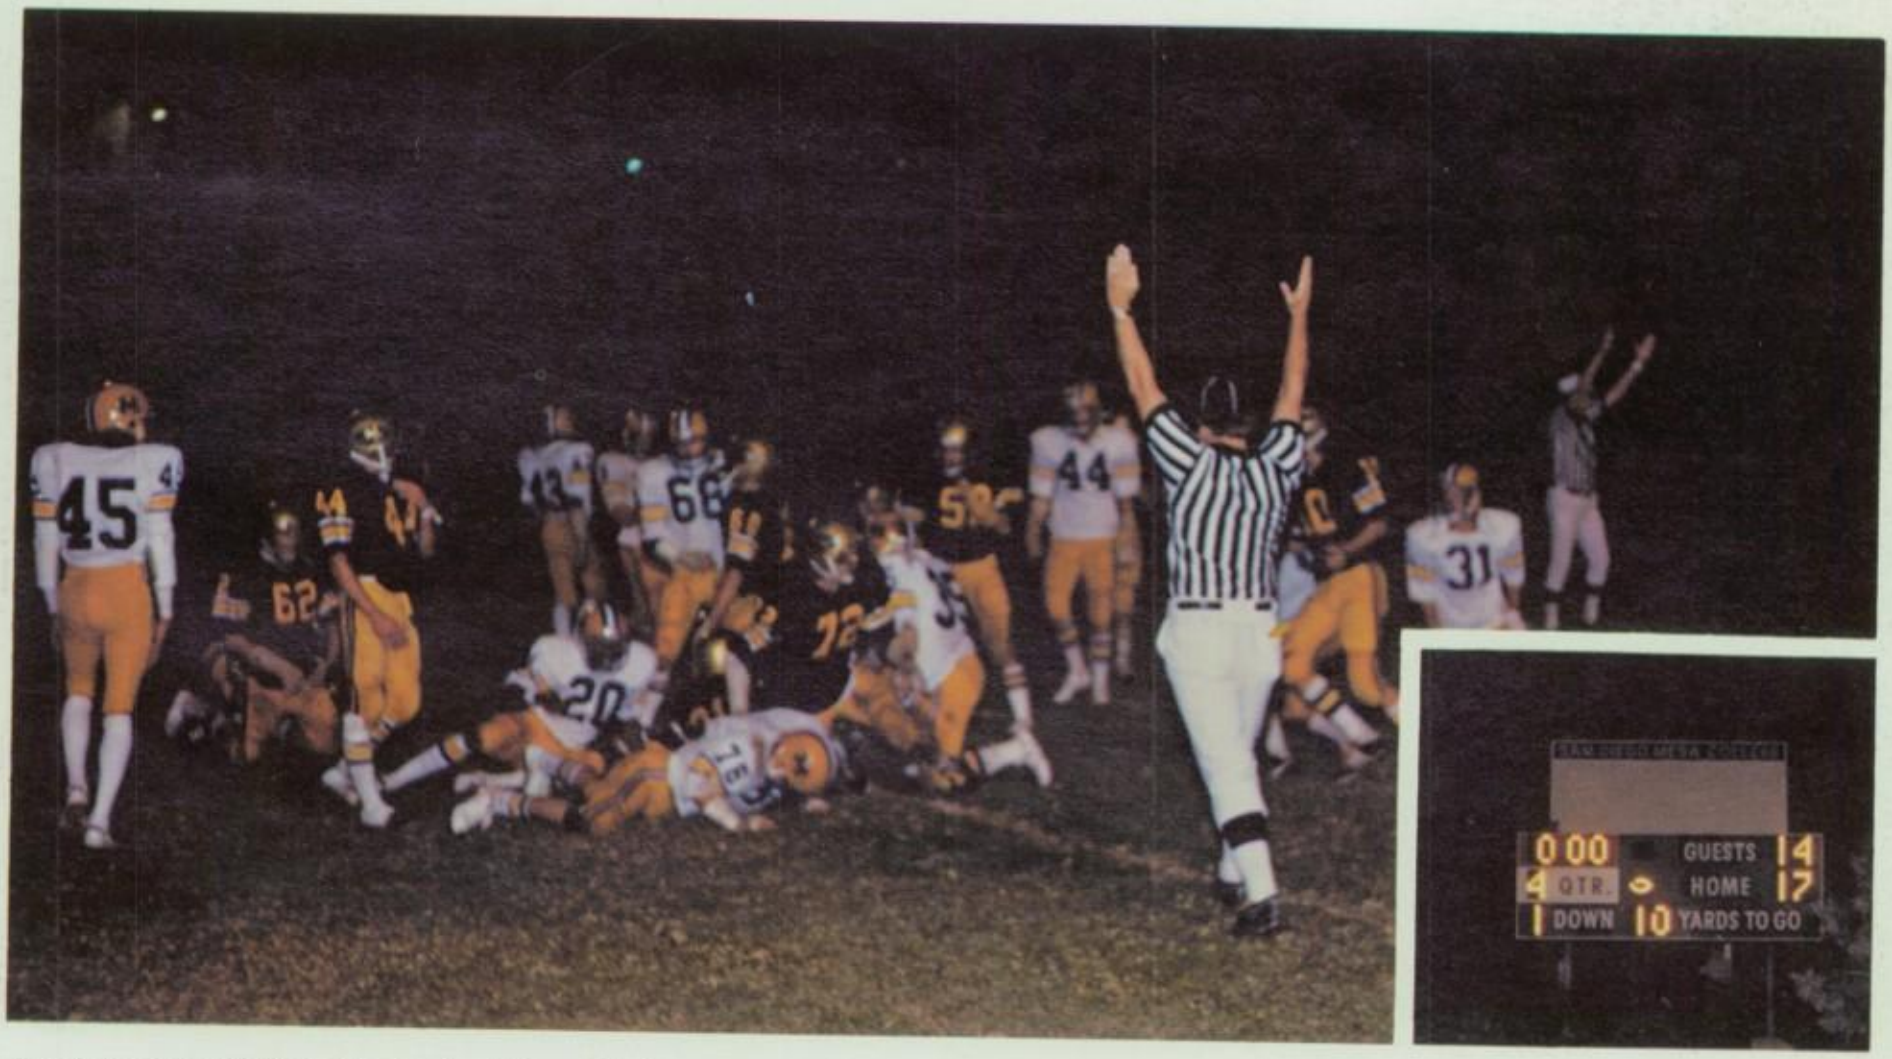
Hollywood on Parade

Homecoming 1977 festivities were started out by a parade of floats. Each group that entered a float spent many long hours creating original entries to the theme of "Movie Greats". The floats were judged by alumni students. The Sr. class float, Star Wars, took first with the Jr. class float, Wizard of Oz, a close second. The winners made a second trip around the field at halftime.

During half-time all the attendants were driven onto the field in chauffeur driven antique cars. They all took their places at the end of the red carpet to await the big moment. Excitement grew as last year's Queen, Liz Cameron, crowned Julie Brewster Homecoming Queen.

Kick-off was at 7:00. Spirits were high and victory was in the air. Jean-Marc Barr described the game as, "one game . . . one chance . . . one good time!" Victory prevailed when M.B. intercepted a key pass and defeated Mira Mesa 17-14. It was an overwhelming game for both players and audience. It truly was a Homecoming dream come true.

Judges awarded first place to Senior float, Star Wars.



Touchdown for Mission Bay by Paul Mraz. Final score was M.B. 17 Mira Mesa 14.

That's Entertainment

A giant searchlight, reminiscent of a Hollywood premier, scanned the sky on October 15th, marking the spot and drawing students and alumni to the Mission Bay Premier Homecoming Dance.

The gym was elaborately decorated with ornaments such as a large football that had the players names in silver glitter stars. A beautiful cake and punch were served as refreshments.

Sophomore attendant, Anita Bye and escort David Conde, Junior attendant, Roberta Oakes and escort Richard Sablan, AFS attendant Louise Miller and escort Munir Ismet danced along with the crowd until the specified hour of 9:00, when Queen Julie Brewster and date Jean-Marc Barr, with attendants, Jill Casey and Wendi Tilton and their dates, Matt Osborne and Brent Ball arrived in a chauffeured Rolls Royce. They proceeded into the gym where their thrones were waiting. The Queen was seated and prevailed over her court. She and her date Jean-Marc Barr were the center of attention during a song dedicated to them. Soon all the couples joined in and danced the night away. It was a picturesque ending to a wonderful, victorious Homecoming weekend.

"A Remedy for a Sick Society"

Laughter, the best medicine, was certainly evident on October 19.20.21 when the Mission Bay Players presented their first show of the season. "The Star-Spangled Girl."

Directed by Mr. Dennis Drake, this Neil Simon comedy went into production on the first day of school. Every afternoon for the next month was spent in rehearsal by the cast of three, Ed Zimmerman as Norman Cornell, Janice Pollack portraying Sophie Rauschmeyer, and Glenn Hofmockel in the role of Andy Hobart.

"The Star Spangled Girl" is the story of two liberal activists, Andy and Norman, who work their fingers to the bone to put out a protest magazine called Fallout. However, their literary efforts go sadly awry when swimmer Sophie Rauschmeyer moves next door and Norman falls madly in love with her. He ceases to write and instead spends his days plaguing poor Sophie with his attentions. Sophie appeals to Andy to make Norman leave her alone, but somehow she ends up working for Fallout, whose principles she heartily opposes, and falling in love with Andy. What results is a typical triangle of love, or rather a quadrangle, if Sophie's fiance' is included. The troubles aren't insurmountable, though, the Fallout staff falls together in a happy ending.

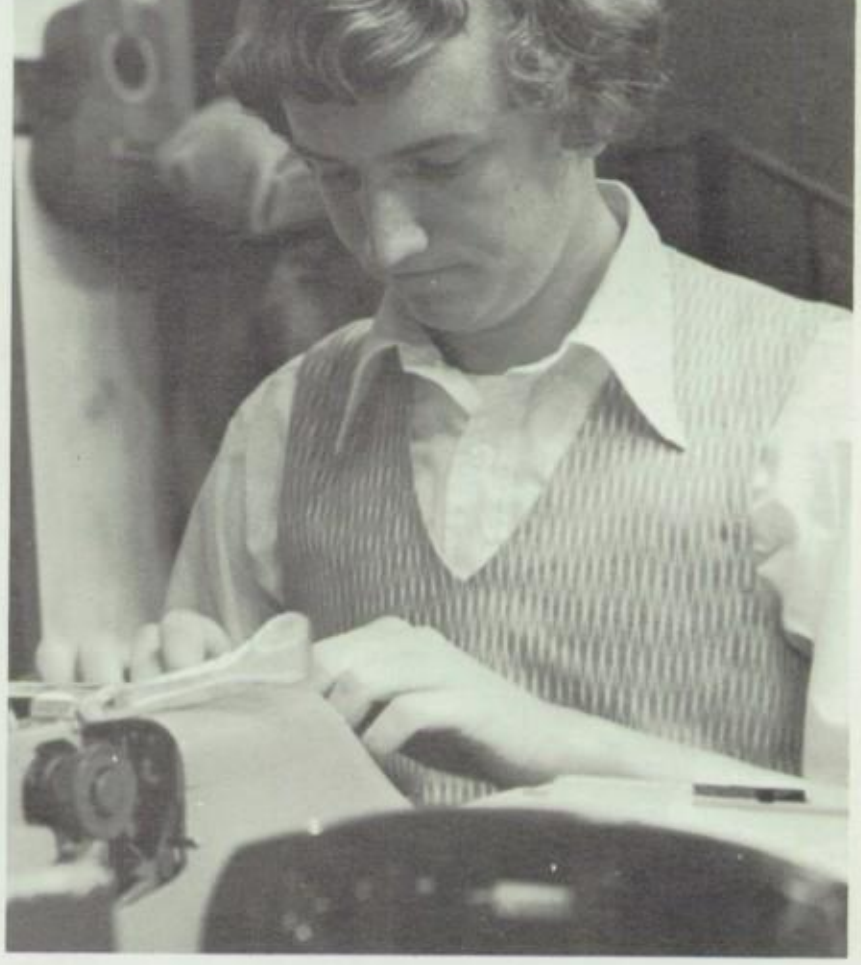
Belting the Battle Hymn of the Republic, Sophie settles into her new position with Fallout magazine.

"These hives are caused by nervous tension."

To save his magazine, Andy shackles Norman to the handrail.

Caught in the act. Norman returns from the corner deli to find Andy kissing Sophie.

Glenn Hofmockel as Andy Hobart, tapes a response for Luigi's restaurant to avoid angry creditors.



Writer Norman Cornall, alias Dr. Sidney Kornheiser, Abbot Kellerman, Professor O.O. Pentergast, Gaylord Heyerdahl, Jose Batista, Major General Wylie Krutch, Akruma Oogwana and Madame Punjab.

Gene feels a rare closeness to his father as he observes Tom's praying.

Hilary DePrez as Alice listens to brother Gene's confidences.

Father and son disagree over the proper ownership of the luggage.

Tom Garrison reminisces over his difficulties with his own father while his wife and son look on embarrassedly.

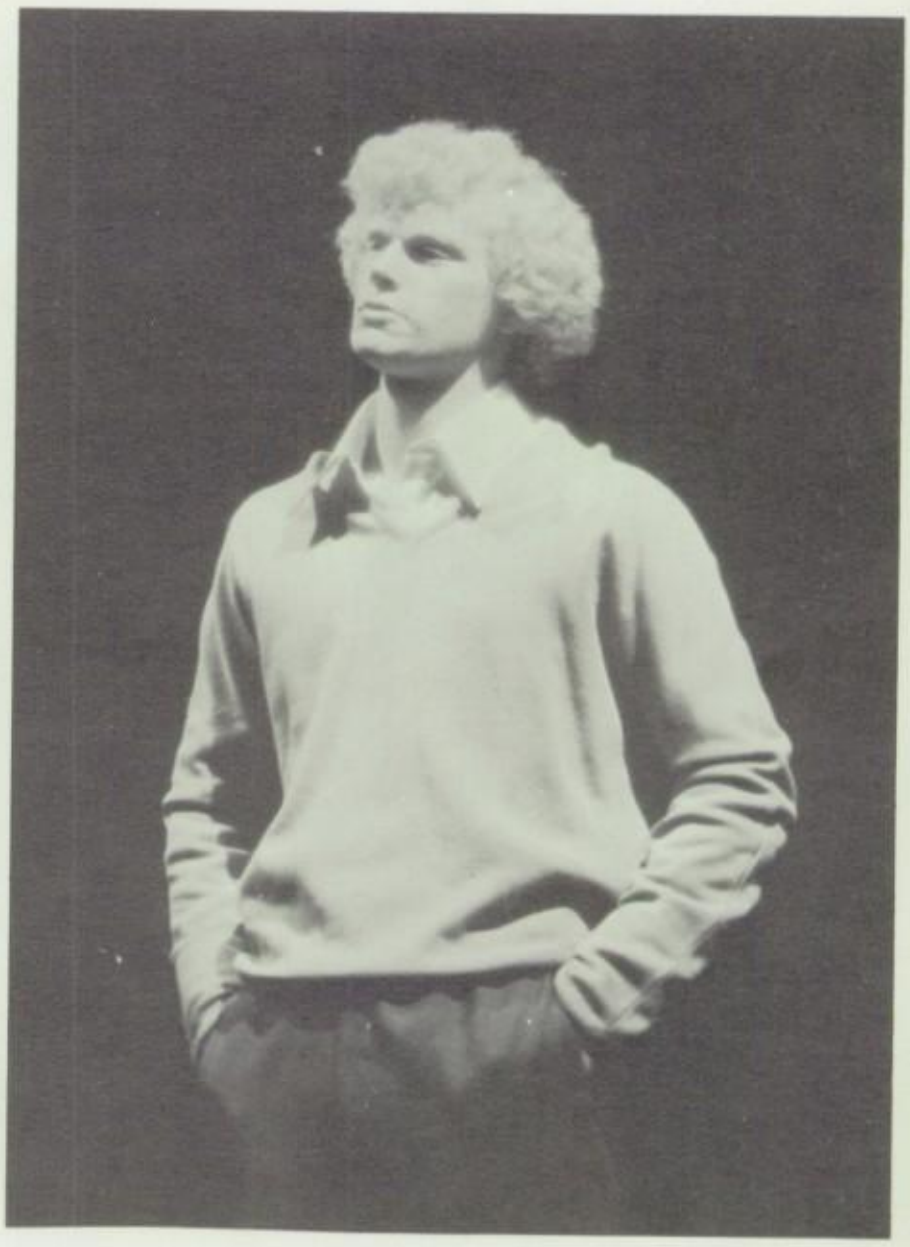
Father and Son— Dramatic Conflict

I Never Sang For My Father, by Robert Anderson, was presented on December 7, 8 and 9 in Mission Bay Auditorium. This deeply moving drama was directed by Mr. Dennis Drake. A beautiful lighting design eliminated the need for sets besides creating an appropriate mood for the inner conflicts of the play.

The plot of I Never Sang For My Father deals with Gene Garrison's attempt to overcome his alienation of his father. The difficult father-son relationship is intensified when Gene's mother dies. Gene searches for the same affection he found in his mother in the hard character of his father. Alice, Gene's sister, arrives to convince Gene to leave his father's house and make a new life in California, but Gene resists her strong personality until the situation between he and his father explodes into open antagonism. Gene comes to the realization that a giving love between the two men is impossible.

The gifted cast was headed by Glenn Hofmockel and Mike Rea as Gene and Tom Garrison. Cassandra Shafer played the understanding mother, while Hilary DePrez made a convincing role of Alice. The supernumeraries were: Ken Holder, Ed Zimmerman, David Mongan, Sarah Higdon, Ginger Rosser, Carolyn Cory, Tara Kaylor, Mike Carroll and Todd Gardner.

Mike Rea as Tom Garrison comforts his dying wife, Margaret, played by Cassandra Shafer.



Glenn Hofmockel as Gene Garrison brought tears to many eyes in his concluding monologue.

A very dramatic rehearsal of The Boor.

The entire cast of The 12-Pound Look rehearses before the big night.

Around the World in One Act Plays

The drama department is always attempting new and different things to help each drama student reach their full potential. An example of this was their presentation of An International Evening with the Players. Each of the four drama classes performed a one-act play. The plays took place on February 22, 23, and 24.

The whole presentation was very original in many ways. For one thing, this was the first time something of this nature was performed at Mission Bay. In the past there have been only three presentations by the drama department—a comedy, a tragedy, and a musical. This event was a lighthearted change after the very solemn play, I Never Sang for My Father. Each of the plays was humorous.

Each of the plays was taken from a different country. The presentations were produced, directed and acted out by students. Lisette LeCompte directed, The 12-Pound Look, a play from England. The cast consisted of Jon Roberts, Devon Cottom, Debbie Searel and Rob Batterton. "The Boor", from Russia, was directed by Casey Nicholaw. The stars were Jeff Paden and Jan Tassi, and the rest of the cast included Mike Rogers, Marlene Backes, Liz Du Pont, Sue Doughty and Greg Koshkarian. An Irish play, "Spreading the News", had Glenn Hofmockel and its director. David Lott and Pam Ponich headed the cast, which also included Larry Rupe. Sarah Higdon, Harold Austin, David Lucas, Ginger Rosser, Mike Gandolph, and Brad Conrad. Ken Holder directed, "A Sunny Morning", a play from Spain. Hilary De Prez and Bryan Sperbeck headed the cast, which also included Kelly Owen, Todd Gardner, Mike Rea, David Westmoreland, and David Mongan.

All of the plays were produced by the Drama Production Board, the House and Business manager took care of the ticket sales and the technical directors oversaw all the technical elements.

This presentation was also the first time a unit set was used. This is a single set that can have props added to it or taken away from it to make it look like a completely different set. An International Evening with the Players was seomthing new, but it proved to be a success. The students put a lot of work into their presentations, and it showed.

David Lott and Larry Rupe are led away by the authorities as the cast of Spreading the News rehearses.

The players in A Sunny Morning spent many hours rehearsing.

Glenn Hofmockel and Janice Pollack portray Nathan Detroit and Adelaide.

The "Guys and Dolls" that made up the cast of the spring musical.

Sarah Brown and Sky Masterson were played by Tami Williams and Steve Zauner.

A Musical Fable of Broadway!

Guys and Dolls, a musical, ended the dramatic productions for this season. The cast consisted of four main characters, Sky Masterson, Nathan Detroit, Sarah Brown and Adelaide. These were played by Steve Zauner (Sky Masterson), Glenn Hofmockel (Nathan Detroit), Tami Williams (Sarah Brown), and Janice Pollack (Adelaide).

Sarah Brown is in charge of a Salvation Army Mission near Times Square, close to the hang-out of Nathan Detroit. Nathan is the owner of a floating crap game and is looking for a new spot. He needs to raise $1000 to get a location for the game. The quickest way to get the cash is to trick Sky Masterson, a well known top gambler passing thru town, to bet and lose the money. Nathan bets Sky that Sky can't get Sarah Brown to go to Havana for dinner with Sky. Sky wins the bet, but to defend Sarah's honor, whom he falls in love with, he tells Nathan he didn't get her to go to Havana.

The second plot consists of Miss Adelaide's plight to get Sky Masterson to marry her. Miss Adelaide is a singer at the Hot Box. She and Nathan have been engaged for fourteen years. Adelaide suggests a plan for elopement which to her dismay falls thru.

The two intermingling plots come together when the long-waiting Adelaide and Nathan get married in a double ceremony with Sky and Sarah.

The musical numbers were accompanied by dancing numbers choreographed by Patty Byrnes. Some of the musical selections were, "Adelaides Lament", "Guys and Dolls", "If I Were a Bell", "I'll Know", "Luck be a Lady", "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat", "Take Back Your Mink", and a "Woman in Love".

Other than the four main characters, the cast consisted of many Guys and Dolls. The Guys were Ed Zimmerman, David Westmoreland, Casey Nicholaw, David Lucas, David Lott, Ken Holder, Rob Batterton, Rick Legg, Mike Rea, Mike Gandolfi, Todd Gardner, Larry Rupe and Frank Esqulin. The Dolls were Sarah Higdon, Kelly Parnell, Lisette Le Compte, Jeri Dau, Pam Wilhelms, Hilary De Prez, Pam Ponich, Ginger Rosser, Cheryl Slean, Nancy Strukel, Shelly Williams, Jan Tassi, Abby Milkis, Pam Palmer, Debbie Searl, Wendy Trup, Judy Gehring, Colleen Murphy, Jenny Collins, Rita Riccio, Betsy Baldwin, and Tina Johnson.

A Monster Mash

It was a graveyard smash! For those too old to trick or treat, the dance provided a perfect opportunity to enjoy the thrill of dressing up for Halloween. Boys and ghouls flocked to the dance in a wide variety of costumes. They were creative and very effective. Some of the costumes were cute and funny, while others were rather scary and eerie such as: a pregnant nun, Godzilla, mice, sheiks and a peacock.

Higher Ground provided the music for the dance. The gym was decorated for the occasion with spider webs at the wrestling room doors, paper pumpkins with green glitter, growing on vines along the wall and a huge skeleton.

Anonymous jocks costumed as "Death" terrorized the dancing crowd from their perch in the bleachers.

"I only have eyes for you."

and a Hillbilly Bash.

The Hoedown started at 8:00 with the band Spice gettin' the feet stompin' in the gym. Girls grab a guy was the theme of the annual, much anticipated, Sadie Hawkins dance. Being one of the few ladies' choice dances it was widely attended. Farmers, hicks and the good ole country bumpkins attended, dressed a la L'il Abner characters.

Marryin' Sam's booth was quite popular. Reverend Baily conducted marriages for the students. He performed a shotgun marriage ceremony for a reasonable 10¢. A ring and a marriage certificate were given to each couple after the proceedings, but the most important was the kiss. The bleachers were available for quick after-marriage honeymoons.

Jackie Del Bene gladly pays Reverend Baily to marry Phil Granito.

A touch of country was brought to the gym with real home style decorations.

All in the family. Another big event brought all the home folk to the gym for the Sadie Hawkins celebration November 18th.

From the Halls of Montezuma

People arrived in chauffeur-driven limousines, after having toasted their evening with a glass of champagne. Was it a premiere in Los Angeles, or opening night at the Met in New York? No, it was the annual ASB Ball, which was held at Montezuma Hall in San Diego State.

As the couples arrived, they came upon an elegant staircase, which led up to a foyer. There students were greeted by coaches Mike Solari and Mark Grogg, who handed out the invitations with each couple's name engraved as a memento.

Many of the guys wore three-piece suits or a tux. The girls wore long, formal gowns, accompanied by that very special boutonniere or corsage.

Cakes were made and decorated by ASB members and along with crackers and dip and punch served as refreshment. Students acted as hat checks and servers. Teachers and parents provided chaperone service. A professional photographer took portraits for the students in the entry hall.

The large dance floor provided plenty of room for dancing. Between sets couples star-gazed on a balcony which overlooked all of the State campus. Hot Fun executed the music for the evening.

The towering arcs of the San Diego State campus added a glimmer of excitement to the ASB Ball.

Entering into the foyer of Montezuma Hall, students were given their engraved invitations as mementos for the evening.

The music was provided by Hot Fun, and the students had plenty of room to dance and get closer.

To the shores of Mission Bay

Students wait in line to have their pictures taken by a professional photographer, which served as a souvenir of the dance.

Couples took a moment out from the gala evening to relax and socialize.

Brent Ball, King of Hearts, and his date Pam Palmer.

The reign of Brent Ball begins, as he is crowned king.

Junior Richard Hollenbeck escorted Kim Trieger to the dance.

Long Live the King

While hearts and cupids adored the walls, love filled the air. What else could this be but the annual King of Hearts dance.

Even though the dance was held on February 18, four days after Valentine's Day, romance was still all around.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the King of Hearts. The three nominees from the Senior class were Brent Ball, Jean-Marc Barr, and Denton Seilhan. Brent was the lucky winner. In his court were Junior Richard Hollenbeck and Sophomore Mike Sawyer.

Central City provided the music for the evening. The dance was made extra special as one of the members of the band, James Zollar, was a former student at Mission Bay. When he attended school here he was a member of the award-winning Jazz Ensemble.

Another "Love"-ly dance.

Central City got the Bucs goin'.

Go Bananas!

The old pie in the face routine! This was the start of the Fall pep rally. Charlie and Harrigan opened the rally by throwing a pie in the face of a "La Jolla fan".

The purpose of the rally was to introduce those members of the Fall season sports. The teams included boys' football and waterpolo, girls' volleyball, tennis, badminton, and swimming, and co-ed cross country.

Sophomore, Bruce Moon, along with Junior, Cookie Erwin, and Senior, Billy Fields, were chosen to compete in a banana eating contest. Peeling off to a good start, Bruce Moon scarfed down the most bananas. This wasn't hard, as Greg and Billy weren't eating. They, along with the audience, watched as Bruce became top banana of the rally.

The cheerleaders did a routine to the theme of Rocky, "Going to Fly Now". The dance ended in a boxing match between Jill Hutcheson, "Rocky", and Laura Willis, where Jill won by a knockout.

A Mr. Cool contest was held. Ralph Kemp, Dwayne Day and Chris Teeple cooled down sitting on blocks of ice during the rally. None of the guys gave up. They endured the whole ordeal. A prize was given to each one for being such good sports.

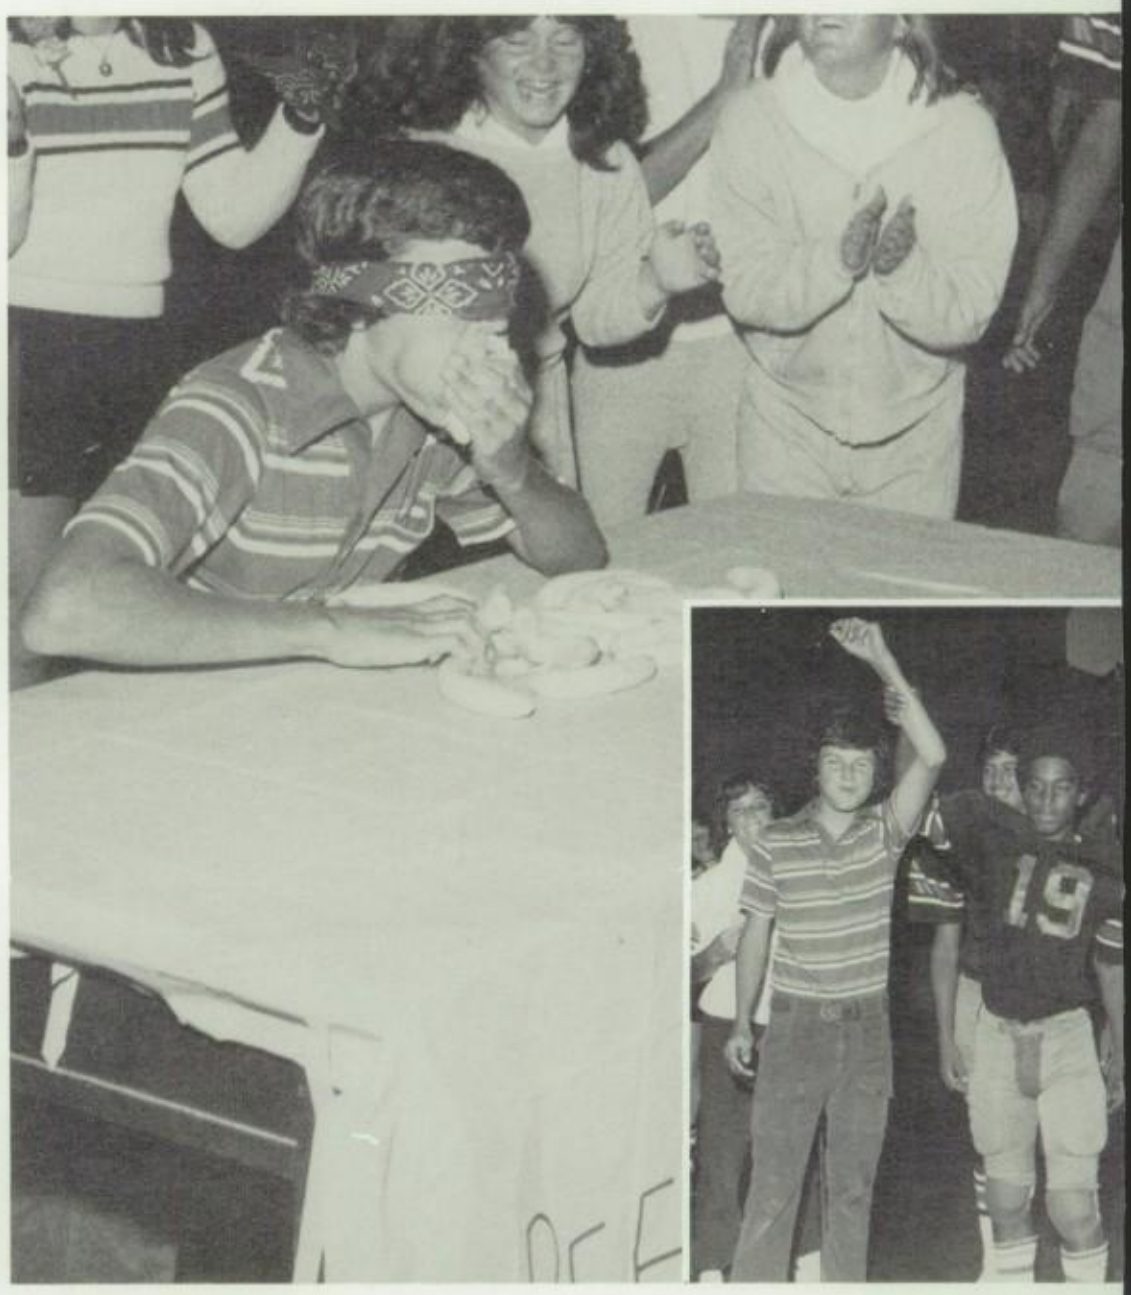
The theme of the Winter rally was "We Are the Champions". The cheerleaders did a dance to the beat of the song, with their own original words.

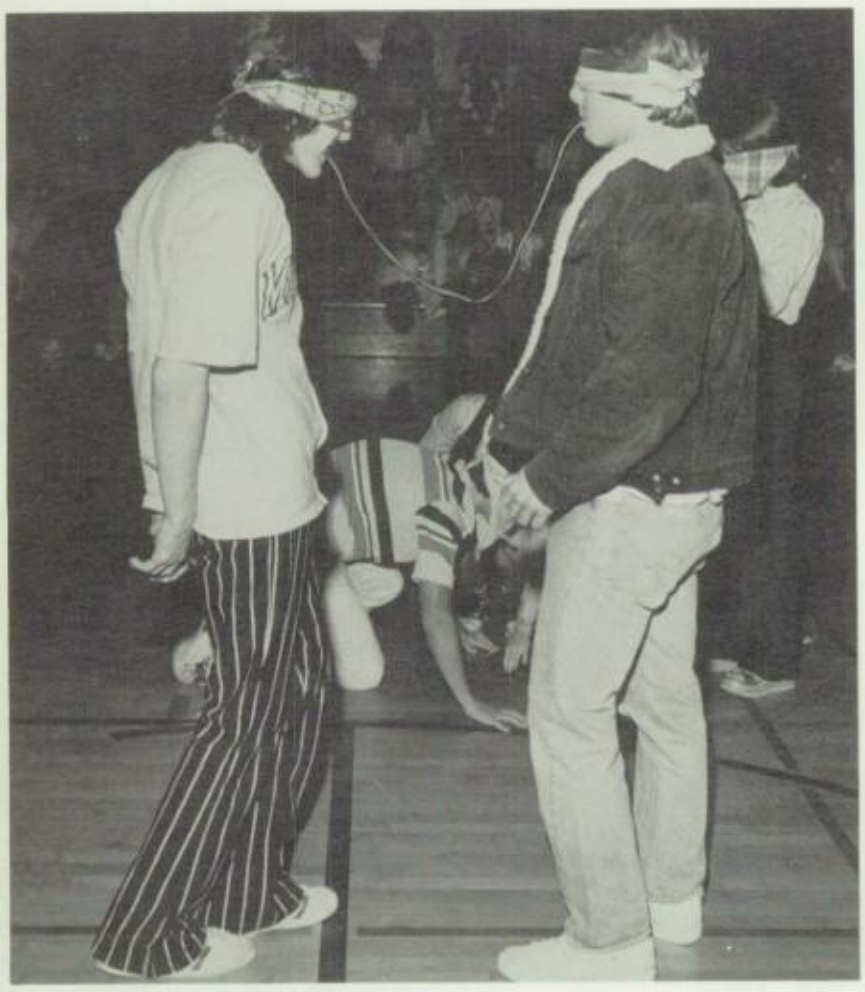
A visit from some "La Jolla" basketball players brought roars of laughter from the crowd. The players were really the J.V. cheerleaders dressed in sweaters and wigheads.

An obstacle course was set up for the sports competition. Scott Brown represented soccer, George Davis basketball, and Kris Lynds wrestling. The object was to go through the course in as little time as possible. Scott came in first and was awarded a Marathon candy bar.

The rally was the culmination of Spirit Week, and inspired enthusiasm for the La Jolla wrestling and basketball games that day.

"You're as Cold as Ice!" Ralph Kemp, Dwayne Day, and Chris Teeple cooled off sitting on blocks of ice during an event of the Fall rally.



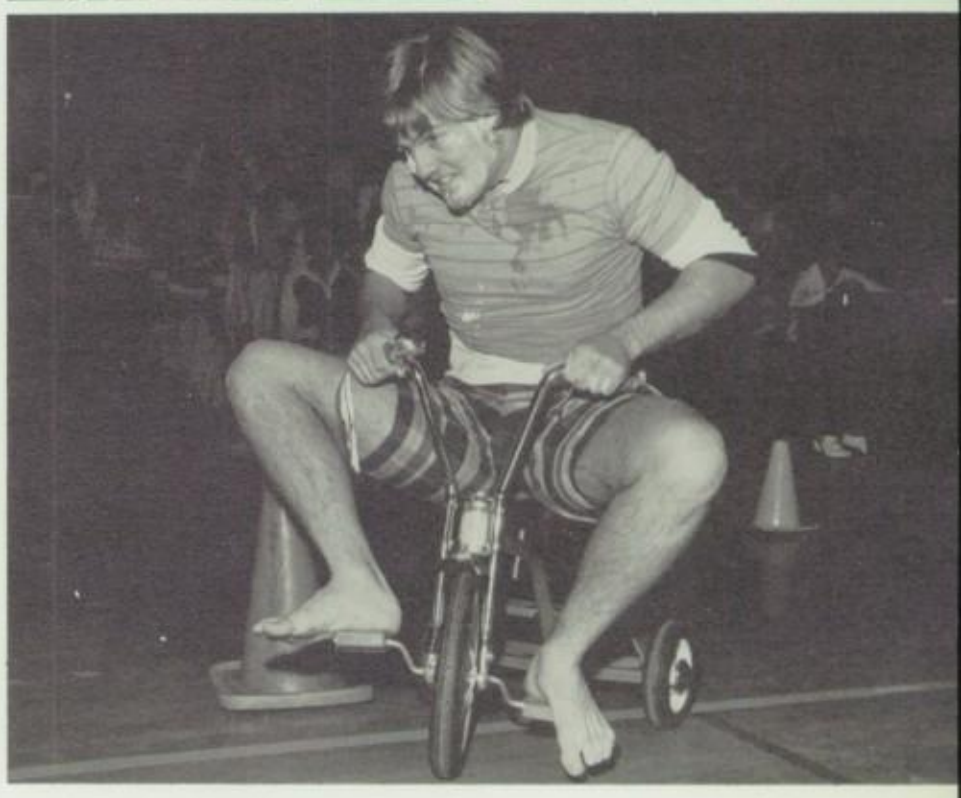


I'm at the end of my rope. Thinking they are paired up with a girl, Brent Ball and Todd Burzette eat their way to a kiss.

Devouring his bananas, Bruce Moon eats his way to the championship.

Winter teams get ready to run through the sign to begin the Winter rally.

J.V. cheerleaders parody La Jolla basketball players during the Winter rally.



Team participants in the sports obstacle course were George Davis, waking up; Kris Lynds, shaving; and Scott Brown, riding his tricycle.

Spellbound with Dr. Dean

He's called the World's Foremost Hypnotist, and how true it proved to be. On Thursday night, February 16, Dr. Dean came to Mission Bay and put on a show that will not soon be forgotten.

It was one of the most successful events at Mission Bay. Parents, teachers and students all came to the show. Those who had never seen Dr. Dean perform, were curious to know what was in store, and those who had seen his show knew they were going to be entertained.

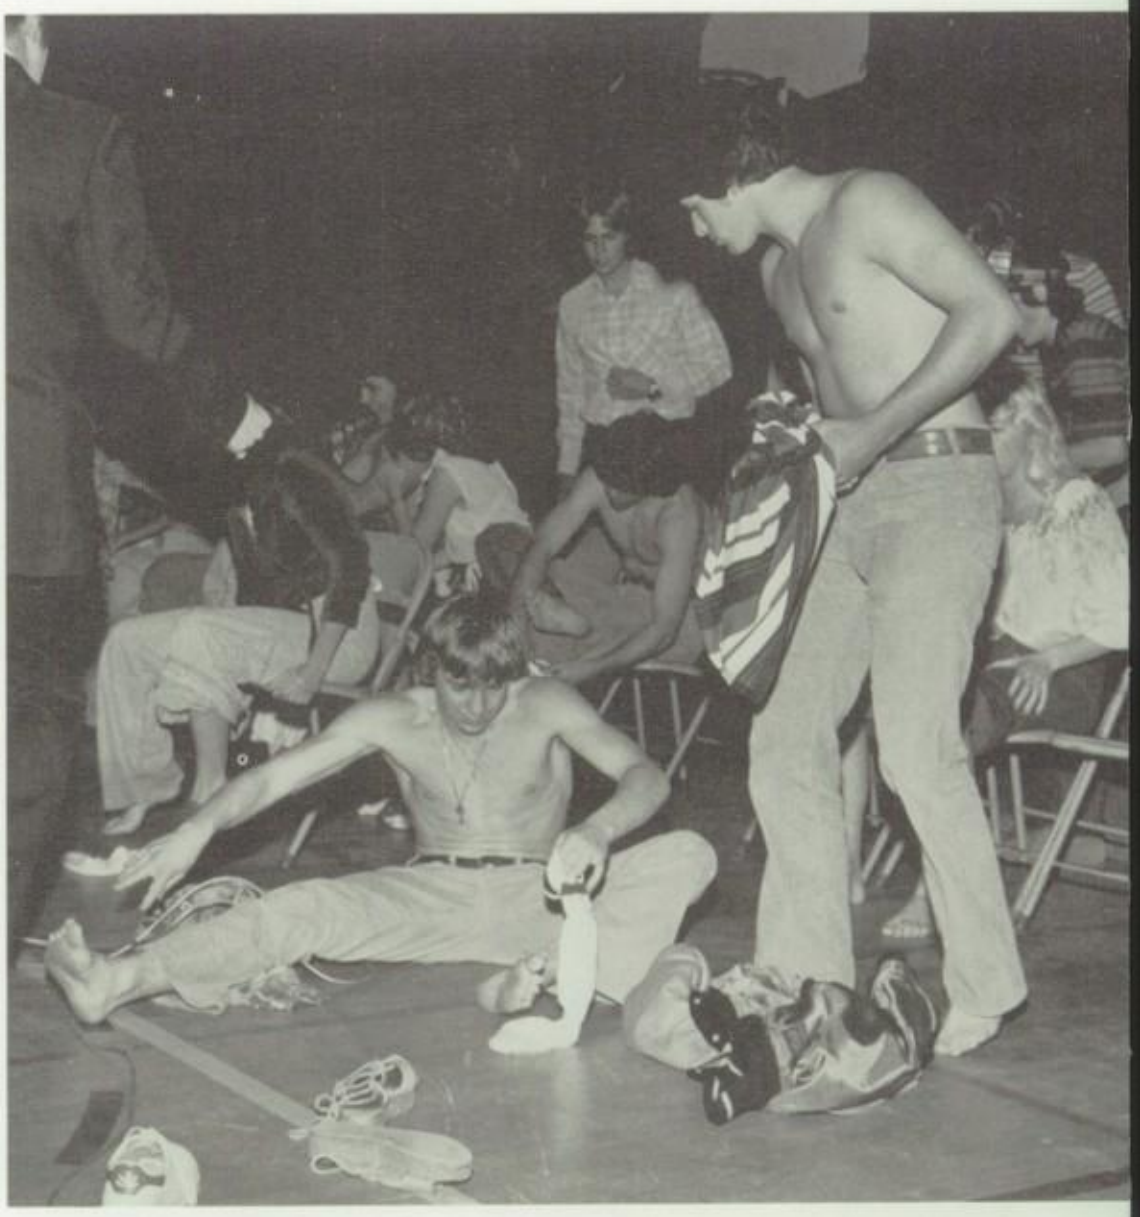
The show started with a mad rush to get into the one of the 30 chairs that were set out for those who wished to be hypnotized. Of course, there were many more willing subjects than seats. So, after the chairs were all taken, about ½ second later, the lights dimmed and Dr. Dean started to do his stuff. He told the participants that he was going to count to ten, and that each person's eyes would be shut by the time got to ten. And lo and behold they were! Then he told them that they were seeing the funniest movie ever, and almost all of them started laughing hysterically. After that, the movie turned very sad. And, almost automatically, the tears started to flow. The show started off with a bang, and steadily improved from there.

Since it would be very difficult for Dr. Dean to work with such a large number of people, he chose about 15 of the original 50 to work with.

And work with them he did. He had the guys almost strip down to their birthday suits, but stopped them before they got too far. Dr. Dean also made them all feel very hot, then they had a bee on their noses, which became a hen. Then the boys tried to get dressed but could not find their feet!

At the end of the show each participant performed individually, under hypnosis, of course! And what talent there was! Male ballet dancers, go-go girls and strip-teasers were all to be found. There were also some famous people in the audience- the lead singer from Kiss, Neil Diamond, Julie Andrews and Carole King. Each performed a song for the audience in his or her own unique way. There was also a tap-dance routine.

Obviously, it was a very eventful evening for both the audience and those who were hypnotized. It proved that seeing is believing.



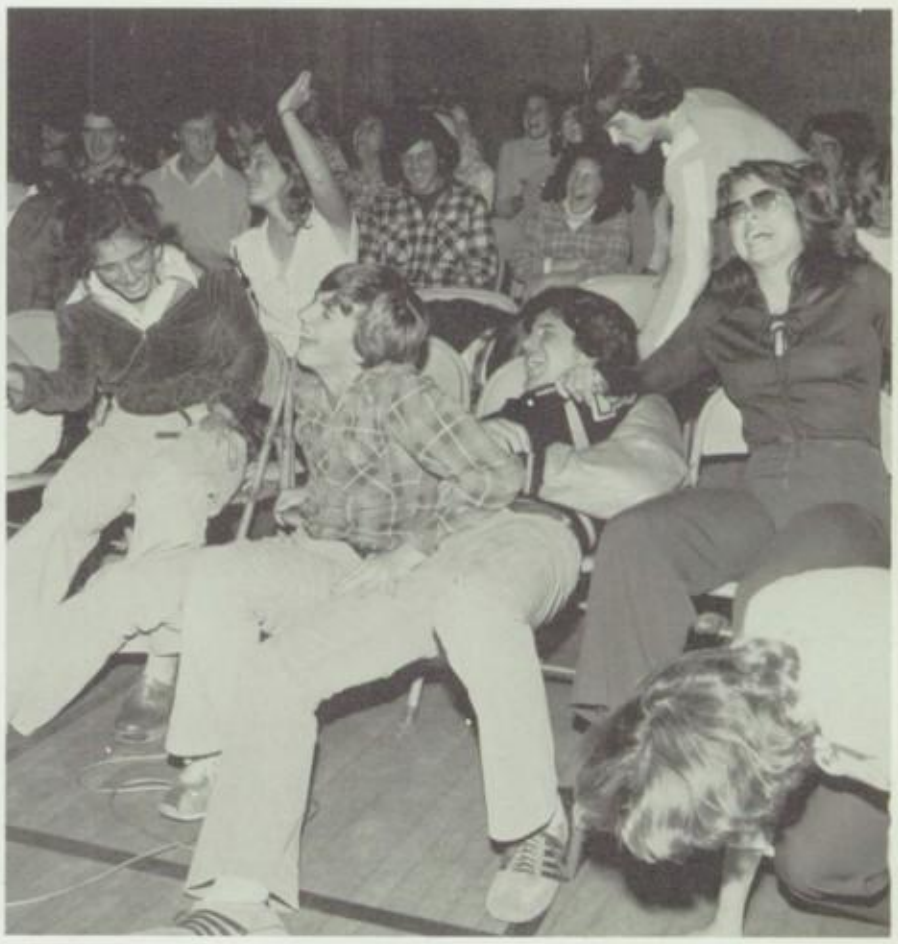
While Dr. Dean sang "Sonny Boy", Robert Mooers reverted to his childhood and asked Dr. Dean to "Sing to me, daddy".

Thy guys all had shoes, but none had feet to put in them!

A real knockout! Dr. Dean demonstrated his talent– by putting everyone to sleep!

The lead singer from KISS, Gene Krupa, and Neil Diamond each made an appearance at the Dr. Dean show.

"1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10-?"



Why are these people laughing? While seeing the funniest movie ever, hypnotized students laugh hysterically.

A Touch of Class Spirit

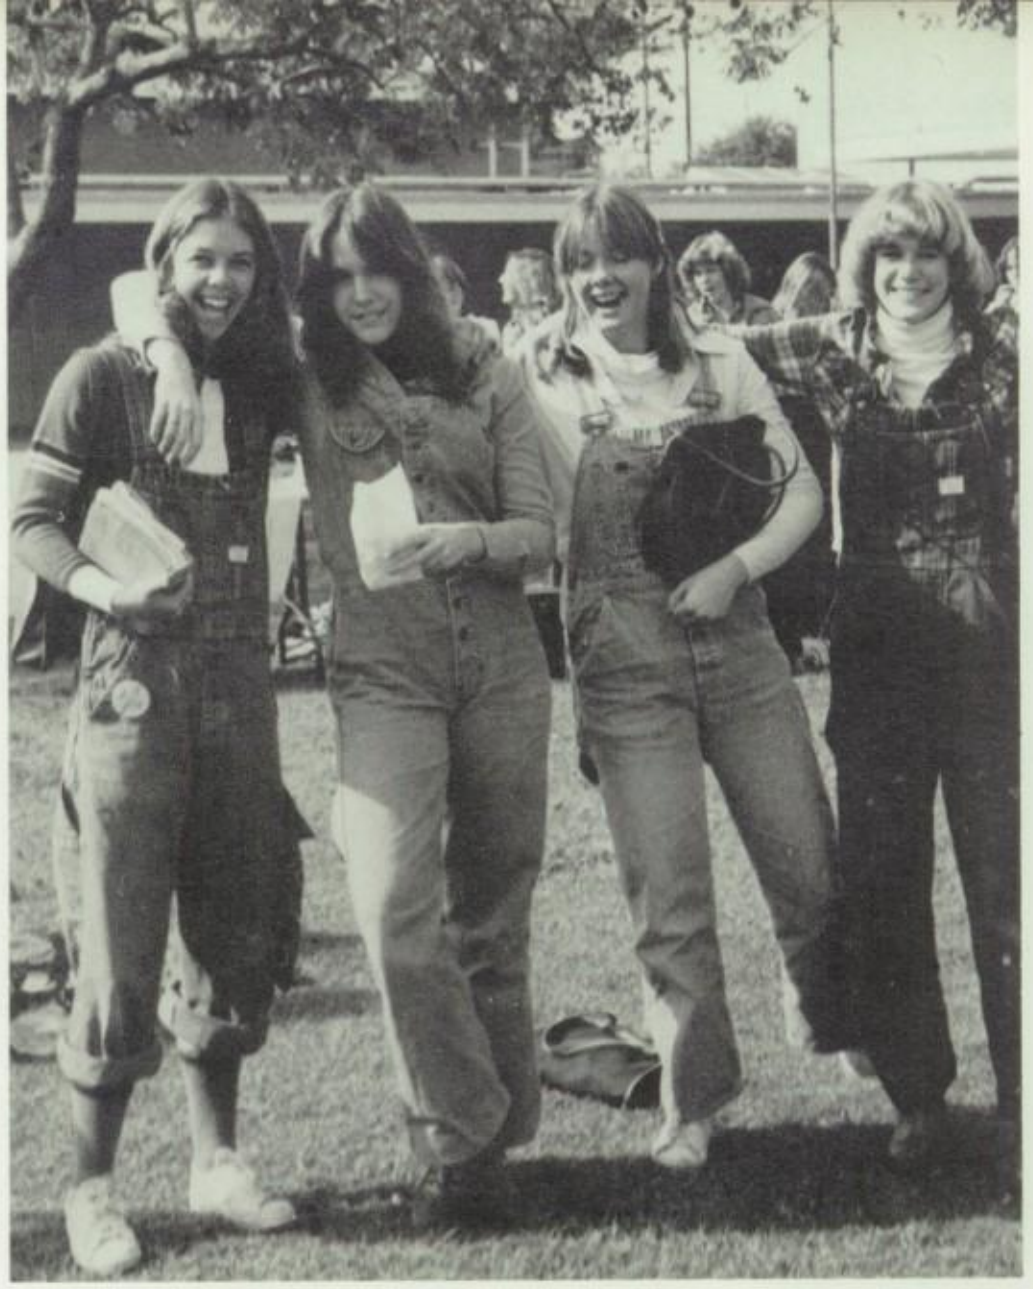
Competition and snob rivalry started off on Tuesday, Jan. 17th, with Black and Red Snob Day. Wednesday was Overall Day, Thursday was Tennis Shoe Day and Friday was Black and Gold All Spirit Day.

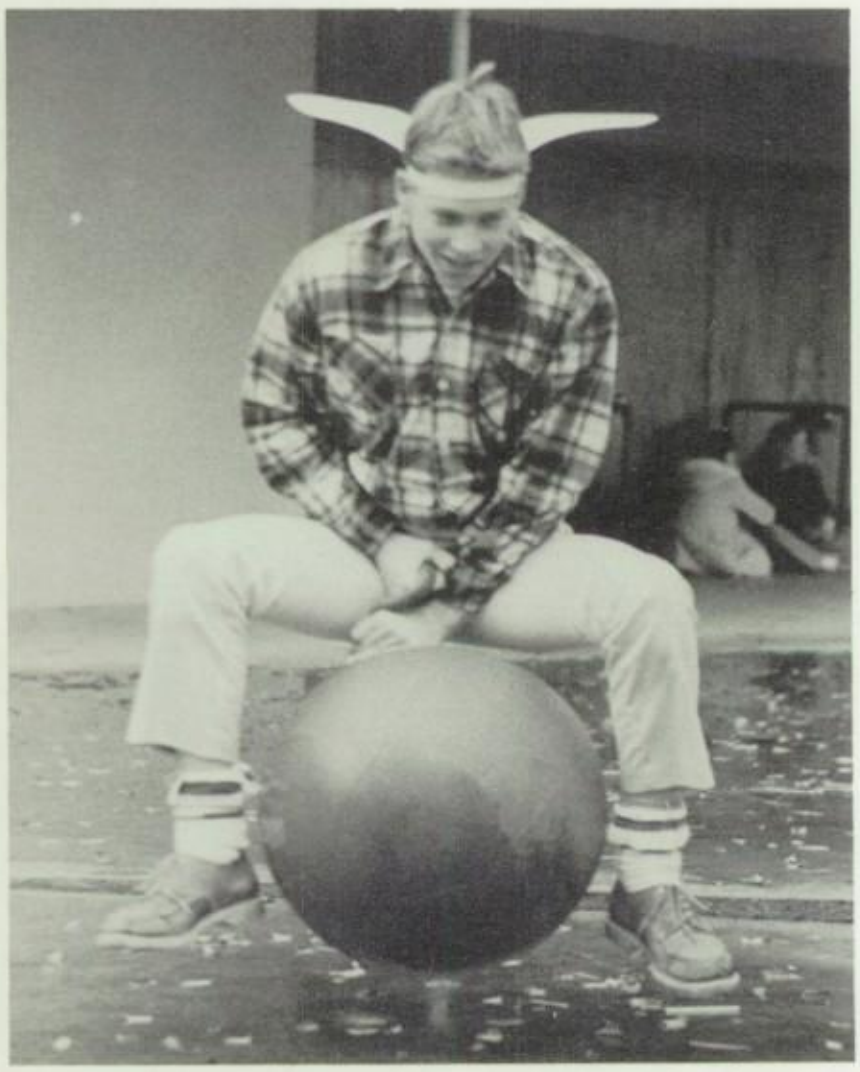
During lunch, weed patch rallies were held. On Wednesday the cheerleaders thought up a stunt that included Sophomore, Bruce Moon, Junior, Tad Bukowski and Senior, David Barczak. They were chosen to compete for the various classes in a jelly bean-pie eating contest. A jelly bean was put in a pie tin and covered with a mound of whip cream. The object of the relay was to find the jelly bean, hold it in their mouth and hop around the designated course and bring back the bean to a cup in one piece. Junior, Tad Bukowski, came in first with David Barczak second, and third, Bruce Moon.

Thursday a hoppity-hop contest was held. Due to rain, the course was the cement perimeter of the weed patch. Contestants were Senior, Anna Tink, Junior, Jeff Grant and Sophomore, Frank Barczak. Jeff Grant hopped on to victory, winning the contest for the Juniors.

Scores were given for each event throughout the week. At the end of the week the scores were tallied and the Juniors proved victorious.

Spirit week was a build-up to the basketball game against arch rivals La Jolla. It was the culmination of an entire week of enthusiasm and sky high spirit for both players and audience which proves that, "We're number one, second to none" . . . in school spirit anyhow."





On his championship run, Jeff Grant hops to the finish line.

On Overall Spirit Day, Debbie Dorris, Diane Usher, Heidi Voss and Cheryl Slean dress up for the occasion.

I Can't Believe I Ate the Whole Thing! Tad Bukowski triumphed over David Barczak and Bruce Moon in the jelly bean-pie eating contest during the Wednesday weed patch rally.

High Society

Nostalgia colors the memories of most people when they think back on high school. They forget the crabby teachers, tedious lectures and incomprehensible homework assignments. Instead, they remember the fun and excitement that is so closely associated with school. Most of the fun comes from doing things with friends, and nothing provides a better opportunity to do this than clubs.

Clubs are a lot more than meetings and monthly dues, they are people. People working together, people playing together, people learning, and people sharing. Sharing. The fun of an early-morning kidnapping, snacking during a bakesale, doing a service project for needy children, putting on a performance, picnicking at the beach, meeting new people from different lands, learning about careers, skiing at Mammoth, all this is part of being in a club.

New Office Inspires New Ideas

Inspiration came to the ASB Council in the form of two new offices. The more obvious of the two was the new room the office was located in, replacing the smaller one the school store now occupies. The second new office, not quite as noticeable as the first but more active in the council was the new position of Commissioner of Fine Arts which Kent Latham held. The new office was developed to keep open the lines of communication between ASB and Drama, Yearbook, Music, and the newspaper.

After adjusting to these new offices, the council got down to the business of organizing the schedule of events aimed at exciting the "student body". Headed by President Maureen Harrity, who was aided by David Barczak, the council consisted almost entirely of girls, but the three boys that infiltrated the group still managed to make themselves heard among the eleven girls. Misti Moon worked closely with Debbie Moncrief to fill the calendar with interesting events which Gina Del Bene informed the public about. Lydia Gonzalez was successful in encouraging the development of new clubs to interest a wider range of students. Kris Lynds and Jacque Robbins kept the council up to date about the various sports. Julie Brewster efficiently organized all elections and Cassandra Shafer managed the accounts capably. In addition, the class presidents—Kim Jensen, Leslie Mann, Laura Brown—represented their respective classes in the council. Through the combined efforts of all the members, the council ran smoothly.

Keeping in the Swing of Things

The duties of the ASB swing from the more business-like management of funds to fun activities like organizing rallies and the ASB Ball. Aside from this, the ASB has other jobs, including monthly representative assemblies and weekly meetings of the ASB Council.

The representative assembly is designed to keep the student body informed of what the ASB Council and each class is doing. ASB vice-president David Barczak conducts the meetings, at which elected representatives listen to officers' reports and discuss or ask questions about pertinent issues. The representative can then report to his class, thus giving everyone the chance to submit his own suggestions and get involved.

Along with the ASB Council, there are appointed ASB officers who help things run smoothly. ASB secretary Donna Sidman takes the minutes at ASB meetings and representative assemblies. Business manager Cheryl Slean coordinates the Coke machine schedules and records, and Jon Sanchioli is in charge of keeping the marquee up-to-date.

Among the presentations put together by the ASB are the sophomore assembly, the staging of a Shakespeare play, and a special assembly by hypnotist Dr. Michael Dean.

Delta Dawn

The Deltas faced the dawn of a new year with a purpose and determination to serve others while having fun.

Sponsored by Mrs. Creaghe, the Deltas organized various service projects, including a canned food drive . . . Toys for Tots. They also build a Homecoming float, "Cabaret."

Among the lighter things in which the Deltas participated were a pizza party, decorating the Sadie Hawkins' Dance, and sponsoring Sip 'n' Sing, an annual talent show. They also celebrated Christmas with a traditional Key Club Christmas party.

The most enjoyable Delta event, though, was the picking of Mr. Irresistible. The candidates for this title were Jean Marc Barr, Scott Brown, Kris Lynds, Willie Gentry and Bob Wilder. The victims were made to answer such questions as, "Why should you be selected Mr. Irresistible?" and they had to compose an on-the-spot love song. Lastly, they had to model in a bathing suit competition. Although all the guys were pretty irresistible, Bob Wilder ran away with the title in the end.

With Mrs. Creaghe's help, the Deltas are run quite efficiently by Laura Wilhite, president; Vice-President Julie Brewster, Rita Riccio, secretary; and Treasurer Carol Tink.

AFS is A-OK

AFS, the American Field Service, is a program that organizes the introduction of foreign exchange students to our society's academic customs.

Sounds stuffy, right? But Mission Bay's chapter of AFS does a lot more than select and place exchange students. It is, primarily, a social organization through which its members can meet the exchange students and learn about other cultures.

AFS was kept organized by President Elizabeth Love, Vice-president Starr Housemann, Secretary Ruth Woodcock and Treasurer Betsy Baldwin. Carolyn Emme took care of publicity and Ellen MacCallum ran the AFS concession stands at football and basketball games, with the help of Mr. McGucken. Further assistance was provided by school sponsor Dr. Rogers.

Among the activities produced by AFS were the Cabaret, a showcase of talented Mission Bay students, and various spontaneous parties, including a rousing one on Halloween.

The major AFS function was the AFS weekend, which brought together exchange students from all over San Diego county. The students first attended a day of classes with their weekend hosts. They were then given a tour of Scripps Aquarium, followed by a basketball game and an impromptu party. The final day's agenda included a picnic and motorboating at the Mission Bay Yacht Club, and a potluck dinner at Christ Lutheran Church. The evening was topped off by a square dance. All members enjoyed and took part in the experience.

Key Club Re-opens Door

The re-organization of the Key Club after a year of nonexistence opened the door of participation for many enthusiastic guys.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, Key Club is a service organization designed to set an example to others through the exemplary behavior of its members. Whether exemplary or not, though, you can trust Key Club actions to be interesting, if not unusual.

The club's largest and most important service project was its non-smoking program, which consisted of Key Club members going to various local elementary schools to present slides and lectures concerning the bad effects of smoking. Members also made their appearance at Pacific Beach Junior High in June to tell future M.B. sophomores what to expect at Mission Bay.

For all its other activities, Key Club will probably be best remembered for its toilet paper-shaving cream raids after meetings, as well as its lively initiation rituals, which will never be forgotten by those who took part in them. With the help of school sponsor Mr. Weiss, meetings were presided over by President Xavi Romano and Vice-president John Hasse. Other officers were Treasurer Brian Stapp and Secretary Greg Koshkarian.

Mensa, Here We Come

Perhaps they won't go that far, but the members of CSF have a head start in that direction. As Mensa is a society of highly intelligent adults, the California Scholastic Federation is a club for students with high academic achievement. To join the club, a student must earn at least 10 points on his report card, with an A being worth 3 points and a B 1 point. To become a life member, one must be a member for four semesters, one being in the senior year.

The Federation is an honorary organization, and has one of the highest number of members in the school. Members are eligible for special scholarships. Certificates of merit and life member pins are awarded to outstanding students at a breakfast banquet in spring.

The club's motto is "scholarship for service" and to meet that obligation they sponsored a tutoring service. The club officers worked to raise money so that in the future they would be able to sponsor different field trips and activities to increase goup involvement.

Followers Of Thespes Unite!

Since the first actor's name was Thespes, it is appropriate that a club involving theatrical people would derive their name from him; thus the name: International Thespian Society. Although the MB chapter was only recently begun, the worldwide society has existed for many years.

Membership is based on a ten point system. Points are earned by participating in various areas of production. Basically, one point is worth ten hours of theatre work, although certain things have more point value. After earning the required ten points, the initiate becomes a life member of the society. Members are also eligible for a special scholarship.

The main objectives of the club were to get organized and to build up the treasury. Plans for the future include attending different shows and gaining additional experience in other aspects of theater arts.

Stage Magic

Whenever the curtain opens for a dramatic production, an expectant and excited crew watch from the wings, ready to perform their particular brand of "stage magic" and make sure the show goes as planned. This "behind the scenes" group includes the stagecraft class. Under the direction of Mr. Drake, they're responsible for constructing the sets, rigging the lighting and running the sound. Within the class, stagecrafters learn the elements of set and lighting design, and often they help crew for the actual preformances.

Another group of stage magicians is the Production Board. The Board takes care of all technical and business aspects of each production. Stage-manager chairs the Board meetings and manages both cast and crew during rehearsals and performances. Tech Director appoints chairmen for the Property, Costume, Construction, Lighting, and Sound crews, and oversees the operation of these departments. House/Business Manager regulates production budgets, ticket sales, and controls the house and ushers. Publicity Director publicizes all drama events, and Choreographer creates and teaches all dancing.

Watching The Ship Come In

As the mast of the good ship TAROGA sails into view and the voyage nears its end, the crew watches anxiously. For as the new crew soon realized, there is a lot of work involved in producing a yearbook—everything from scheduling a photographer and selecting negatives to drawing layouts, writing copy and coming up with creative headlines. This is more difficult than one might imagine, especially for the inexperienced and overworked members of the class. With only twelve people to do the work of twenty, everyone had to slave diligently to compensate for the small size of the staff. Each section had its own editor and staff, but some members were transferred to different sections to accommodate larger deadlines.

The year was a series of frantic incidents, such as when no photographer was available to cover an important event, or when senior memories were unreadable but still had to be typed. Sometimes it seemed that all creativity disappeared as deadline day rapidly approached. Many late nights were spent trying to prepare for deadlines, but these only made everyone appreciate the day after even more.

But there is a lighter side to Yearbook; it isn't all drudgery. Yearbook is notorious for parties, as anyone who saw all the cakes and streamers could testify to. Every birthday and special event was celebrated to ease the tension of the anxious crew. The group also had a special dinner and an awards banquet to mark the debut of the book.

Besides the work involved in preparing the book, there was also the business of raising money to tend to. Along with the annual picture sales, the class also went patron hunting at different businesses in the area to raise money. But the newest source of income was the PEPSI machine, located in the girls' gym. Pam Ramseyer, Business Manager, was in charge of keeping the machine full and operating, which was a big job in itself. This added income helped relieve the tight budget of the class.

Throughout the year, Cassandra Shafer and Donna Sidman, the editors-in-chief, worked closely with the staff, showing them the techniques that would be used, while still managing to complete their own work. Besides organizing the book, selecting a theme, and doing the opening and closing pages, they were also responsible for checking everything that was turned in. They also had to watch anxiously with Ms. Quam, the advisor, as the staff tried desperately to meet their deadlines. There was some moaning and groaning, but eventually the work got done. Now the ship is docking and the crew can breathe a sign of relief.

All That Jazz

Those within listening distance of Room 111 during 5th period were often provided with preview concerts by the Jazz Ensemble. Jazz was most commonly heard but the band also played disco, rock, and blues. In their fourth year under the direction of Mr. Vinole, the ensemble again showed that practice pays off. The group played at many schools in the area to entertain the students and to interest them in music. The band competed at various jazz festivals as well, including the Orange Coast Jazz Festival, and consistently received first place and superior ratings. They have also been featured on local radio and television stations.

To raise money, the entire Music Department held a dance marathon which was extremely successful, raising over a thousand dollars. Because it was such a success, Jazz Ensemble was able to purchase new shirts to give them a more professional look on stage.

The band consisted of many fine musicians, some exceptionally talented. The featured soloists were Brad Cummings on bass, David Lott on drums, and Dean Eppley and Kent Latham, both on trombone. These performers did well in individual competition as well as within the group. The Jazz Ensemble has steadily improved and has earned quite a reputation as an outstanding jazz group.

"Gotta Dance Gotta Sing"

Swing Choir, song and dance company, had a busy year perfecting and performing their numerous acts. Directed by Mr. Rey Vinole, they performed for many clubs, churches, elementary and junior high schools in the area. The Swing Choir also had the honor of singing on the Star of India and the PTSA Executive Members' Regional Convention. During the Music Department's annual Christmas program, Swing Choir performed a "Side by Side" medley and "Ticket to Ride". Their repertoire also included "I've Got the World on a String", "Let There be Love", and "I Write the Songs". Soloists Tina Johnson and David Westmoreland were also featured.

Swing Choir spent long hours practicing. They learned new songs and rehearsed many different dance routines. For the first time in Swing Choir history, an ex-student, Shirley Hilstrom, choreographed all productions.

Live in Concert

Practice makes perfect is a statement easily proven by the Wind Ensemble. Under the guiding hand of Mr. Vinole, the class rehearsed until musical perfection was reached. Wind Ensemble, formerly known as Concert Band, consists of flute, trumpet, trombone, percussion, clarinet, tenor sax, and bassoon, and performs for the school and community. The Wind Ensemble has put on concerts for several junior Highs and Elementary Schools in the area.

The Wind Ensemble earned most of their money this year by participating in the music department's dance-a-thon.

Another facet of Wind Ensemble is the Pep Band. Although the Pep Band is totally volunteer, all the members except Kent Latham of Jazz Band, are from the Wind Ensemble. The Pep Band played at the football and basketball games.

Day by Day, Note by Note

*P*repare ye the way of the concert choir! "Godspell" was performed for the choir's spring concert. In addition to that concert, three seasonal selections, combined with skits, were presented to the school and community at Christmas, and individuals participated in the San Diego City School's Pop and Solo Ensemble Festival in January.

Each festival participant was judged by a professional and given a rating. There were five soloists: Joan Forsmark, Tina Johnson, Rick Legg, Rita Riccio, and Brian Stangle. Nancy Almeleh and Joan Forsmark formed a duet, and Tina Johnson, Rick Legg, and Doug McCready teamed up to make a trio.

The choir was composed of students with a range of musical interest. To arouse interest in the music program, Mr. Vinole, has taken groups around to area elementary schools for the past four years.

Thinking serious thoughts about the choir Mr. Vinole prepares to rehearse them.

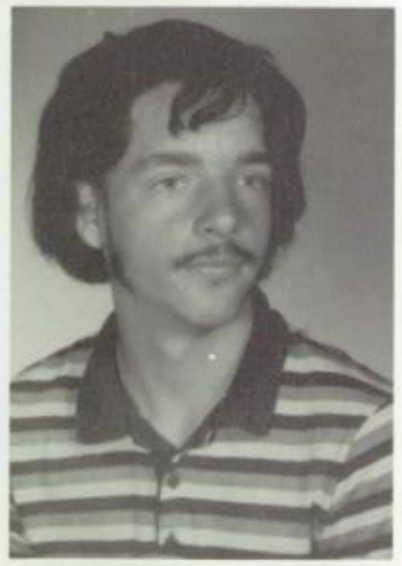
Staff: Shelly Williams, Kathy Fugitt, Mike Johnson, Chris Rhoades, Tami Christi.

Every third week in the year students catch up on everything that has happened at school. Why this exact date? Because that is when The Beachcomber is distributed. The Beachcomber is the official newspaper. Every page is filled with articles about the students or of interest to them. Reporters cover all school events and many articles are accompanied by a picture taken by the staff photographer. The Beachcomber is the students paper, students do all the writing, researching, photographing, and editing for every article published.



Editor-in-chief Victor Buckel.

Photographer Jeff Shapiro takes all the pictures for the paper.

The staff consists of an Editor-in-chief, a news editor, a boys' sports editor, a feature editor, two editorial editors, two copy editors, reporters, a photographer, and a staff advisor.

The two editorial editors alternated throughout the year, one issue being staff and the next being editor. The copy editors did the same thing.

The staff of the paper agreed that it was a lot of fun even though they had to work hard. The Beachcomber, through the combined efforts of the editors and staff, managed to print a paper of consistent quality.

Editorial editors Renee Faiola and Denize Rosenblatt alternated.

Learning The Trade

Who does all the folding and counting and stacking and distributing of the nice, fresh Beachcombers? Well, the people with the black hands on distribution day are most likely cubs. Being a cub reporter involves a lot of legwork, from delivering the paper to covering a regular newsbeat. The third period cubs class, taught by Mrs. Rhoads in her first full year as advisor, is basically a training ground for the cubs, but they do contribute many news stories as well as occasional feature articles to the newspaper. The cubs that do exceptionally well in class may later become staff reporters. Being a newspaper reporter takes a lot of determination and enthusiasm. The cubs often find their perseverance being tested.

Cubs do all the legwork! Cub reporters Libby Molyneaux and Greg Benson help deliver the paper.

Ein Gutes Club

Sprecken zie Deutch? The German Club members did. Membership was restricted to those people who took German. In order to gain more insight into the country's culture, the club attended German movies and plays. A taste of Germany was provided by making strudel an annual German club event. Tiger milk bars were sold as a fund-raiser to provide money for club activities.

At language camp the club's members immersed themselves in a miniature Germany. They occupied themselves with learning to speak the language fluently and eating food that is native to Germany. All members that attended camp acquired an added insight of Germany.

Officers were given traditional German government titles: Chancellor for supreme leader, and vice chancellor for assistant leader.

Secretary/Treasurer Tracy Baldwin, Chancellor Ken Patrick, and Vice-Chancellor Susan Baldwin.

Fire Up Big Black and Gold

Buc Pride really abounded in the members of Pep Club. Their enthusiasm was a real asset to the overall attitude of the fans. A long-standing tradition as one of the most spirited groups on campus, the club attended many of the sporting events as well as rallies, and promoted spirit by accompanying the cheerleaders in chants. The members were easily recognized by their bright black and gold uniforms which they made themselves.

The club officers-President Tina Flores, Vice President Dolly Frazier, Secretary Venise Bunn, and Treasurer Teresa Kavanagh-came up with many fund-raising plans such as sponsoring a dance and a car wash, as well as loading the coke machines and selling baked goods.

All their ventures were extremely successful, especially the Homecoming float, "A Tribute to the Stars". The teamwork and cooperation exhibited in the making of the float was evident all year long as the Pep Club, under the supervision of Mr. Beckett, the advisor, had a very successful year.

One of their most successful projects was the Homecoming float, "A Tribute to the Stars"

Go! Fight! At the Homecoming rally, Pep Club rallied the girls to out-spirit the guys.

Showing their spirit by their uniforms as well as their actions, Pep Club was an enthusiastic addition to the stands.

Under the supervision of club advisor, Mr. Beckett, the girls raised money to finance many different plans.

Cheering the BUCS on at football games was just one aspect of their spirit.

Do Not Fold, Spindle, or Mutilate

Punch it! Writing programs and using the school's computer were the activities of the Computer Club. The club was specifically formed to provide students with the opportunity to use the computer.

Mr. Benson, a new Mathematics teacher, acted as sponsor. The man who coordinated the computer's programming was Mr. Pascua.

The eleven members were able to come in on their own time to use the machine located in room 352B. The club did more than punch buttons, they also enjoyed several social outings. Members originate their own programs, both serious and fun. They can play blackjack against the computer, schedule athletic events, average grades and design computer art. One favorite use for the computer was the planning of war games. Members made up their own games or used programs from a game book.

Dan Fettner takes advantage of his membership to use the computer terminal.

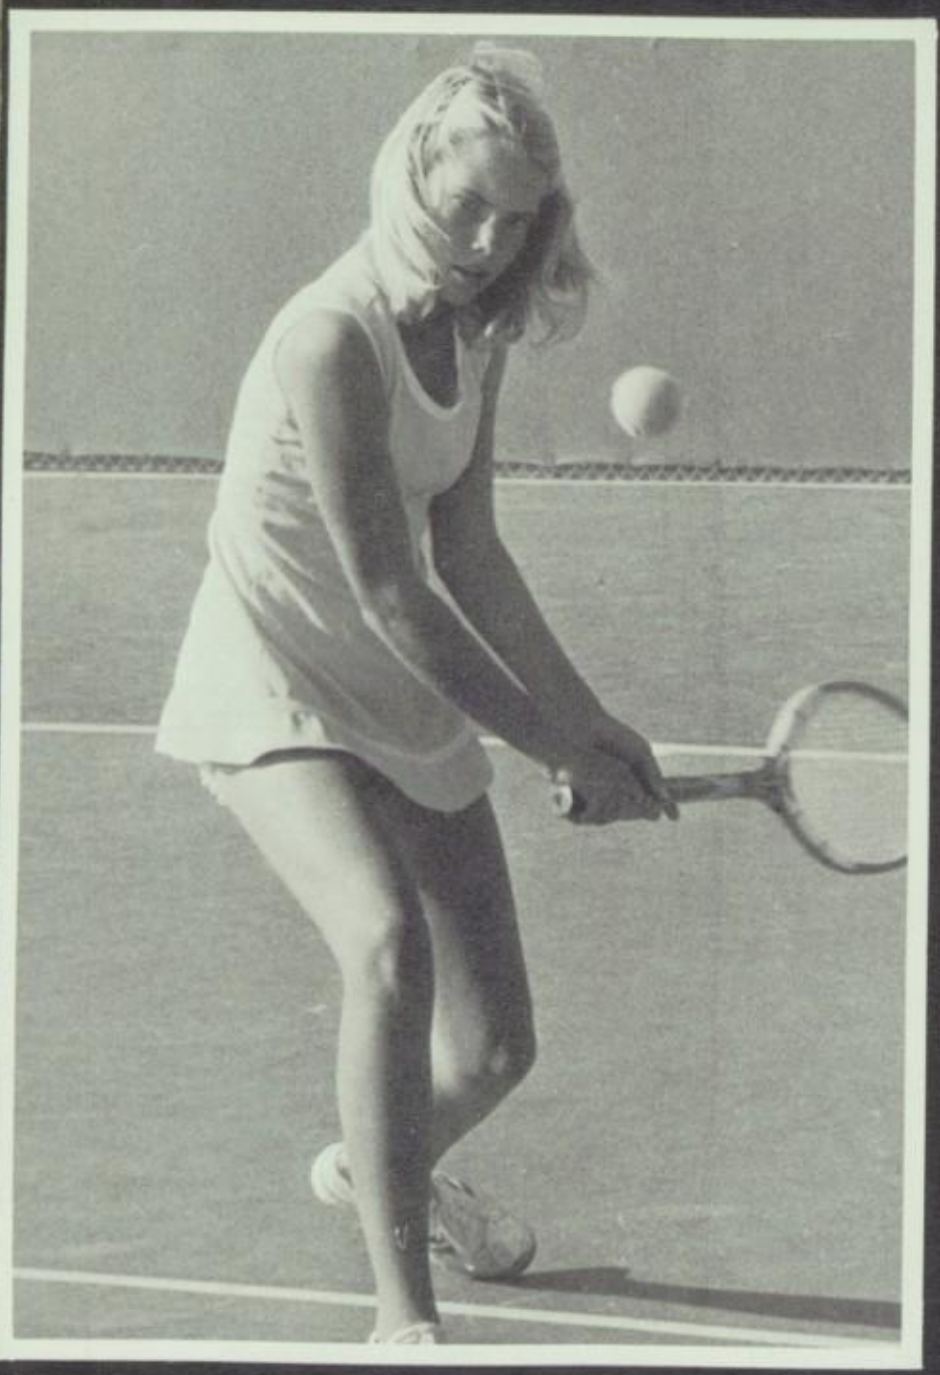
Sports: United We Stand



Concentration.

Athletics is more than fun and games. Anyone who has ever participated in a competitive sport, or cheered for a winning squad, knows the thrill of being part of The Team.

Being a fan enables one to get wrapped in the energy of the game. The players realize this and recognize their importance to the school. In fact, when a team really pulls together they can't lose, because the scoreboard loses its importance in the face of such camaraderie between athletes, coaches and fans.

It's not whether you win or lose, nor even how you play the game, but that you do play.

Satisfaction

Striving.

Agony and Injury

This was the first year the football team untilized separate offensive and defensive squads. The team was blessed with few truly exceptional players, but it was extremely well-rounded. The coaches felt that with a consistent team, they could give more players playing time by platooning. Platooning is the concept of having a separate team for offense and defense, with no players going both ways. This worked out well until injuries began to plague the team. As the weeks progressed, many players were lost and consequently others had to start playing both ways.

With the additions of Coaches Solari and Feeney, the coaching staff was enlarged which enabled the team to break down into smaller groups for more specialized instruction. Coach Lewis often said, "Football is a game of mistakes and inches." Too often Mission Bay came up with too many mistakes and not enough inches. Mission Bay lost four critical games by six or less points.

The defense was the strong point of the season until injuries interfered. With the loss of key linebackers, Denton Seilhan and Jeff Stapp, pass defense and run-support were weakened dramatically. Defensive linemen Bryan Johnson, Dwayne Day, George Davis and Tom Britt did a superb job tackling all season. Bob Martin and Bob Wilder were tough against the pass all year. Jim Mann was responsible for six key interceptions.

"The offense, led by quarterback Brent Ball, improved steadily every game." said offense guard Scott Brown. He, along with Charlie Franklin, Jean-Marc Barr, and Mark Mikels opened holes for runningbacks, Greg Lynds and Paul Mraz, and gave Brent time to throw passes to wide receivers, Kris Lynds and Billy Fields.

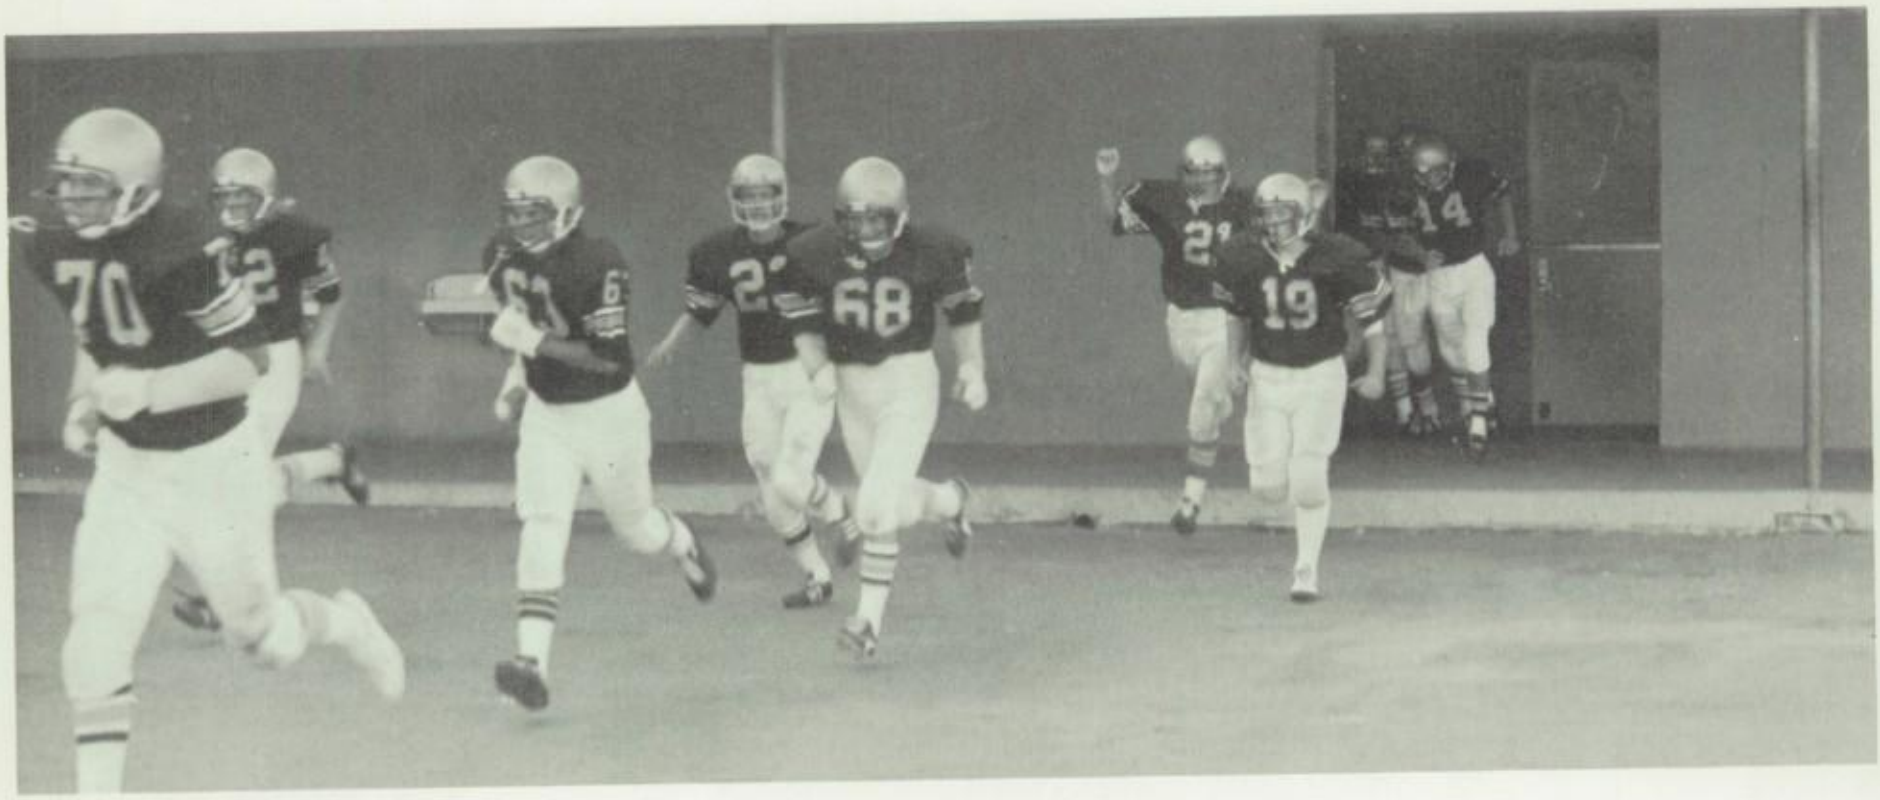
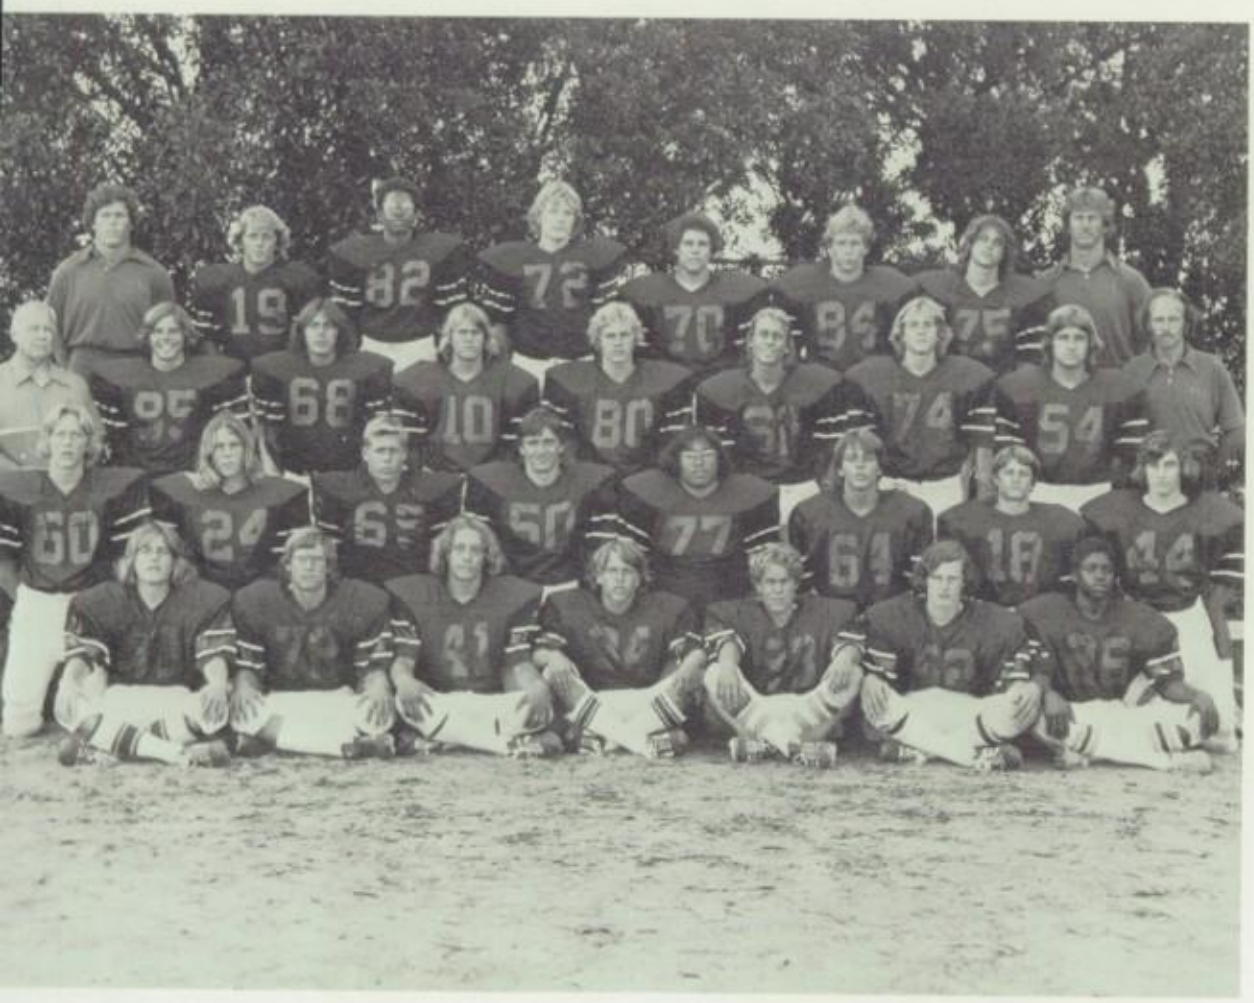
Yardage is gained by fullback Paul Mraz #31 in the Hoover game.

In the Madison game, Richard Hollenbeck completes the pass which led to a first down for the Bucs.

Quarterback Randy McElwee throws a pass against the Madison Warhawks.



After a half time meeting, JV Bucs are ready to dominate second half of the game.



Slow Motion

JV started off each game in slow motion but they came back in the second half. Although these second half come-backs were not always enough they did prove to be beneficial in the Hoover game, in which the Bucs won 7 to 6, and in the Saints game which was 10 - 6 for the Bucs. JV dominated Serra for the entire game up until the last few plays where Serra took over with a very close score of MB 15 - Serra 16. At the end of the season the JV record was 2-6-1.

Some outstanding JV players were, offensive center Tom Jackson and offensive guard Larry Cecil, who led many important sweep plays. Leading the team in tackles was defensive linebacker Mark Emery.

Diggin' It Together

The volleyball team had a successful and winning season, along with the addition of a new Varsity coach, Sue Olsen. Even with the loss of two valuable players at the beginning of the season, the Varsity team still pulled together in an amazing show of team work to wrap up third place in the tough Western league, while the Junior Varsity team achieved a fourth place finish.

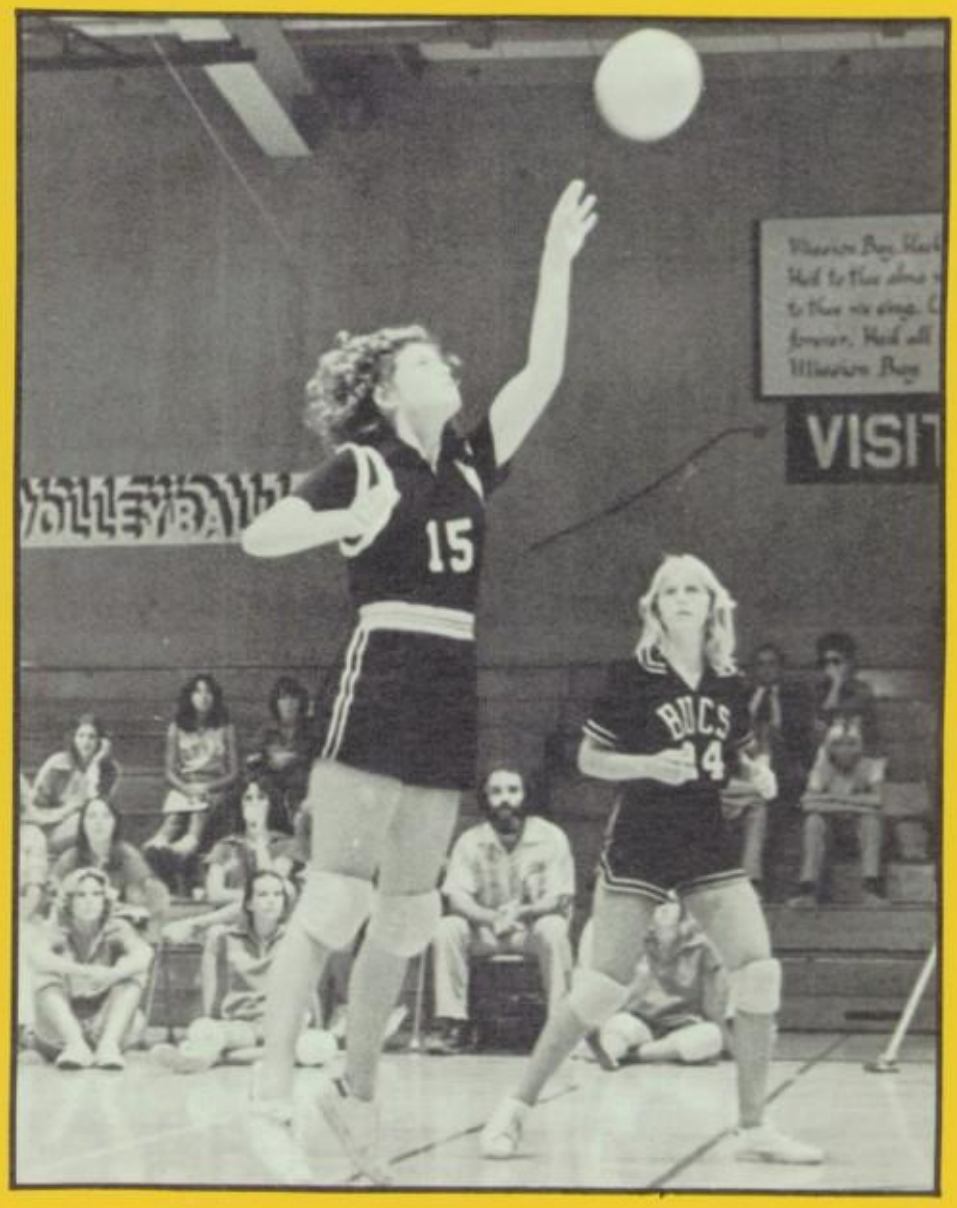
This was the culmination of three years on the volleyball for Kelly Daun, Karen Saffian, Sharon Welch, Michele Celata, and Varsity captain, Kelli Rucker.

Varsity coach, Sue Olson said, "It has been a wonderful experience working with these girls. Their temperments, control, and sportsman-like conduct make them overwhelming to work with. They are certainly the best girls I've ever coached.

"The team as a whole, learned that when you go out on the court you must offer your best to the opposing team, and anything they project to you must be regarded as a challenge and a learning experience on the court."

While Kelli Rucker and Mari Flanagan set up a cup in a defensive play, Teresa Rhoads energetically spikes over Uni's blockers.

As Mari Flanagan powerfully digs a spike, Michele Celata sets herself up for an offensive play as Kelly Daun hangs back to be of any assistance.



Swiftly, Bonnie Young dinks the ball while Joan Delperdang intensely watches the play.

Enduring a tiring race against Serra, runners Don McHugh, Kevin Brink, and Greg Feldman strive on for the finish line.

Cross Country Keeps On Truckin'

Many exhausting miles and hours are a part of the Cross Country team's work out. They averaged fifty miles per week and loved Coach Ungricht's P.T.A. (Pain, Torture, and Agony). Although the team was young and inexperienced, Coach Ungricht helped bring the team together by urging team work, competitiveness, and a sportsman-like attitude.

The team, led by Captain Steve Brummer, and Bob Franks, had excellent races against St. Augustine, Hoover, Lincoln, and University.

While sophomore, Faneice Jackson, is the only girl on the Varsity team, she is one of the top girl Cross Country runners in San Diego County.

Jim Bittner, a junior, was very enthusiastic about Cross Country. He remarked, "Even though Cross Country is a team sport, it is really for the individual. Running helps you both physically and mentally. Because it is such a grueling sport, when you've finished a race you have a true sense of accomplishment."

Vigorously, Steve Brummer sprints his way past Serra's runner.

Talent Takes Waterpolo to CIF

"The talent was the best that we've had, but there were many injuries, if anything hurt us, it was the injuries," commented Coach Schofield about the waterpolo team.

The varsity record in league was 2-2 and in non-league it was 6-8. As for J.V., their record was 1-3 in league and in non-league it was 2-9. Waterpolo can be a serious game, but there are times when it is played for fun. For instance, the team played a game against the girls' swim team, and also played their second annual alumni game. CIF participants were Chris Rhoades, Tom Watson, Pat Wombolt, Mike Kaonis, Jay Shinn, and Scott Calhoun. Meegan Maile was the first girl ever to play waterpolo and she did extremely well on J.V.

The waterpolo team consistes of six members; five players and a goalie. They play seven minute quarters, and gain one point for each goal. They practice Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at six a.m., and Tuesdays and Thursdays after school at Clairemont Boys' club.

The Buc-ettes Of Water

"It's not whether you win or lose, but it's how you play the game." This famous quote directly relates with swimming. Actually it's not whether you win or lose, it's improving your times that matter the most. Two hour practices at six o'clock in the morning, for half of the season, and two hour practices in the afternoon, for the other half of the season, certainly helps the swimmers practice and strive to steadily improve their times.

The girls who went to CIF and composed the relay team were Ginger Rosser, Susie Browning, Cheryl Slean, and Diane Hotz. Diane placed fourth in the CIF 100 butterfly, and second in the city. An outstanding long distance freestyler, Margaret Higdon, made CIF time in the 500 freestyle and 200 freestyle.

The Girls' Swim Team had a combined banquet with the Boys' Water Polo team. The season's awards were presented at the banquet. Most Valuable Varsity Swimmer award was presented to Diane Hotz, and Most Valuable Junior Varsity Swimmer was awarded to Joanne Kroth. The award for Most improved Varsity Swimmer was presented to Bonnie Budd, along with Melodie Whited and Luana Dawson voted Most Improved Junior Varsity Swimmers. Varsity swimmer, Susie Browning, was presented with Most Inspirational award.

As a result of the Swim Team's spirit, they presented a float at the Homecoming game entitled, "Neptune's Daughter". It was designed in the theme of Ester Williams' films.

Birdwatchers Go To CIF

Watch the birdie! That's just what the badminton team did, for some team members went to CIF. They finished collectively at third place in the league, with a record of 6-5. The CIF singles players were Jolanda Duren, Julie Brewster, and Amy Curren. The CIF doubles teams were Christie Johnson and Mary Johnson, Maria Richards and Chris Flanagan, and Claudene Adam and Cheryl Kann.

The awards given out to the singles players were: Most Improved, Pia Klevemark, and Best Sportsmanship, Julie Brewster. In doubles, the Most Improved team was Claudene Adam and Cheryl Kann. Best Team was Mary and Christie Johnson, the award given to the team with Best Sportsmanship was Heidi Voss and Andi Bame.

Coaches Seaman and Labeta

The Varsity Bucs were led by seniors George Davis, Billy Fields, Brent Ball, Jon Sanchioli, David Seymour, Ralph Kemp and Eric Lutz. Top juniors included Tim Kosik, Clark Henderson, Dwayne Texas, and Ben King. The team was coached by Coach Mike Seaman and Coach Labeta. This was both coaches' first year of coaching varsity boys basketball.

Game Highlights

"The opening of league play is always a big game and gives players a new goal to achieve," stated Coach Seaman. The first league game was at Serra against Serra. Looking like all-league players, George Davis, Dwayne Texas, and Billy Fields chipped in 26, 19, and 16 points respectively. Davis had an incredible 14 points in the first quarter. The final score was 67, 65, MB. A big win and a lift to their spirits.

"The next three games against Hoover, Lincoln, and University were very disappointing." claimed Coach Seaman. While scoring 176 points the Bucs gave up 236 points, which results in 3 losses. After the University game the overall record stood at 3 wins and 10 losses including pre-league games.

The fifth game was against Saint Augustine. The Bucs gambled and slowed the ball down. They didn't stall but rather played for a good percentage shot. A one point lead exchanged hands throughout the game. Down by one point Mission Bay worked for the last shot of the game but with no time on the clock the ball hit the front of the rim, keeping the score at 37-36 Saints.

Entertaining the largest crowd in many years at Mission Bay, spirit and desire were sky high as the Buc's prepared to take on the La Jolla Vikings. Regardless of records, this annual affair could never be predicted. Out-scored 15-6 in the first quarter the Bucs fought back to 3 close quarters but not enough to make up for the disastrous first. The final score read MB-57, La Jolla-73. Coach Seaman said, "It was a terrible loss and one that was hard to accept." The Bucs were led by senior Billy Fields who scored 14 points and used his quickness well. Also playing a strong game was Captian George Davis, who added 10 points to this exciting game. Devil country November 29, at Sweetwater High. Rated 6th in the C.I.F. It turned out however that the Bucs played "David" and beat the Devils at their own game. Dwayne Texas held Sweetwater to 10 points. While Tim Kosik had a varsity career high 19 points. George Davis followed suit with a matching 19. Jon Sanchioli came off the bench in the final Mission Bay assault to score 7 points and propell the Bucs to a stunning upset.

For the 2nd time in as many nights, Mission Bay ventured into unfamiliar and unfriendly territory. The Foothillers of Grossmont High, a perennial power in the county posed the second challenge for the Bucs. At the game's end, the score was 72-68 in favor of Grossmont. "Emotion from the previous night had taken its toll," said Coach Seaman. Even though the Bucs placed four men in double figures; Texas-10, Fields-11, Sanchioli-14, and King-18, it was not to be.

The third pre-league game was against Carlsbad but the Bucs were at home at last. Playing their third game of the week the tired Bucs would have had to reach down inside and pull out a supreme effort in order to defeat an up-start Carlsbad team. What the home team found in their hearts was tremendous courage. Going into the 4th and final quarter the Bucs were behind by 15 points, an almost insurmountable lead. By game's end, the Bucs had scored 20 points, while holding Carlsbad to 7 points. The heart-throbbing and bitter conclusion with seconds remaining was a pair of completed freethrows leaving the score 63-61, Carlsbad. Ball-15 points, Fields-12 points, and King 18 points.

The fourth and final pre-league game was at MB against Crawford. Posting its 2nd win of the year Mission Bay defeated the visiting Crawford Colts 51-48. The game went into overtime and was played very much like the previous three Mission Bay scenarios. However, the ending was more to the liking of both players and fans. Led by Dwayne Texas, who had 18 points. The Bucs ended their pre-league season with a record of 2-2.

During a time-out at the Grossmont game Coach Seaman goes over game strategy for the second half.

At the Hoover game, Billy Fields scores 2 pts.

Dribbling, senior Jon Sanchioli, tries to escape from guarding Lincoln opponent.

Center Dwayne Texas scores two points in the Lincoln game.

Guard Brent Ball dribbles the ball down the court enabling the Bucs to score against the Sweetwater Devils. The final score was Devils-71, and Mission Bay Bucs-73.

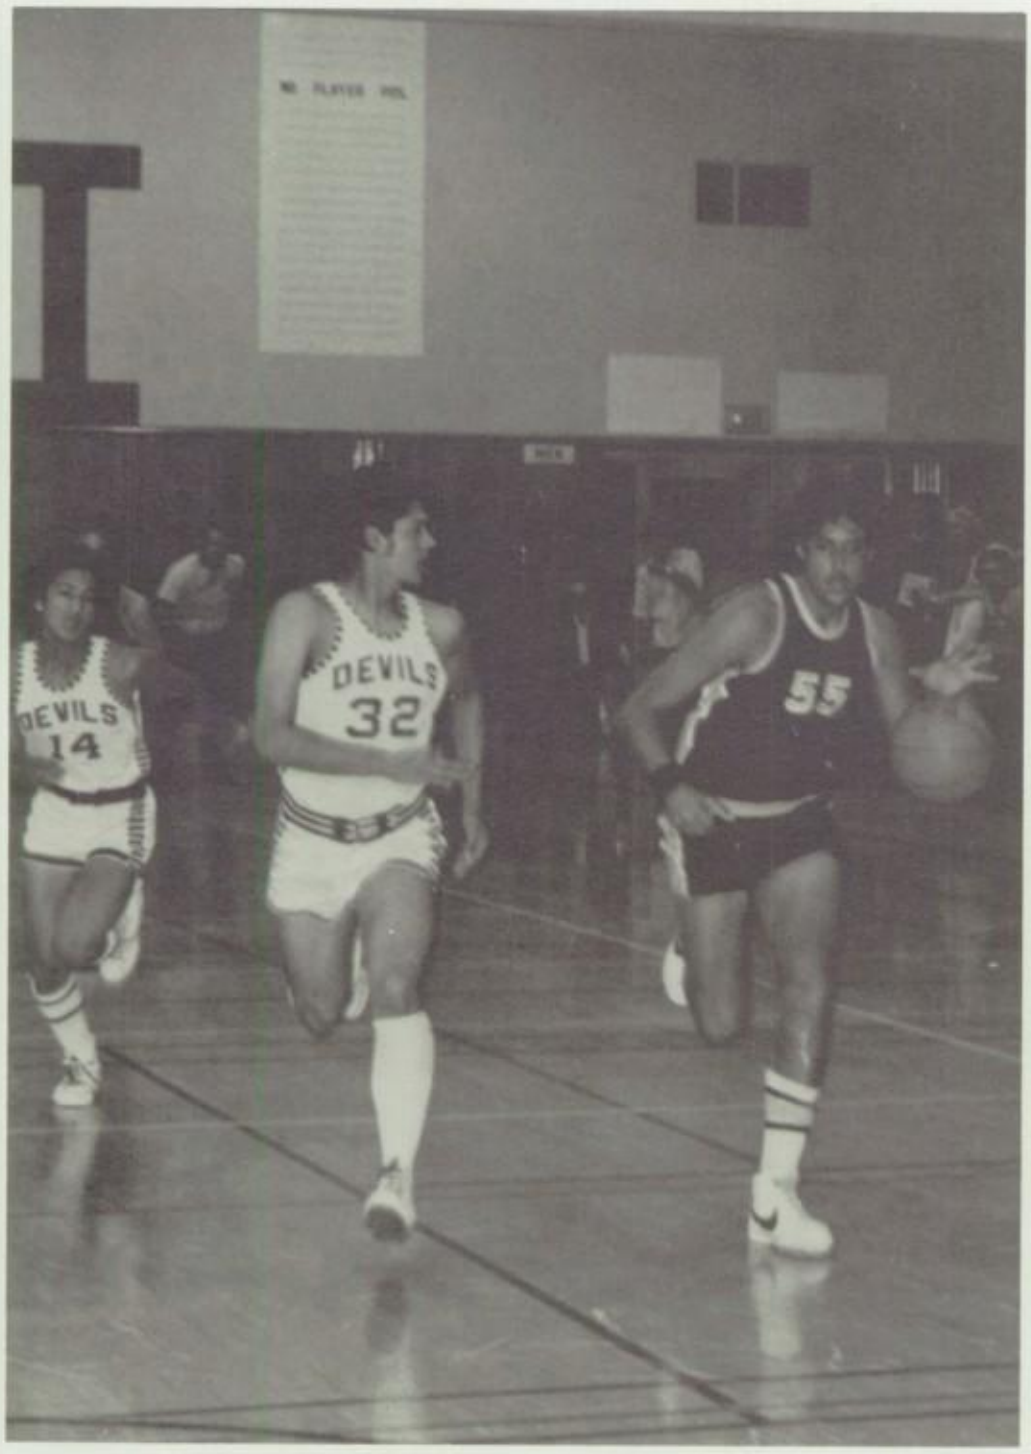
Oh Shoot!



A hustling spirited group, described the well balanced Jr. Varsity Basketball team, led by Richard Hollenbeck, Mark Grier, and Cookie Erwin. Hollenbeck and Grier displayed aggressive defense, accurate shooting and pin point passing. Erwin, a stalwart on the boards controlled the Buc's unside game. Two bright spots this year was the fine play of Mike Asbury and Brad Coulapedis. Mike, a sophomore guard has tremendous poise and a remarkable shooting touch. Brad Coulapedis is a diamond in the rough. Throughout the year he added board strength and consistency with his shooting. Coach Dennis Pugh has molded a winning team in his first year as Jr. Varsity coach.

Against Sweetwater, Cookie Erwin dribbles down court. It was a 54-36 victory for the Bucs.

Malley's Mashers: Reaching for the Sky

". . .shove that ball on down the line, score, score, score!!!," can be heard from the Mashers while they are raising their spirit for the day's events. The Varsity team got off to a slow start, but had a good year in the long run. They were a very close knit group and obviously the most spirited. Some of the girls who received the award of player of the game were Anna Tink, Julie Brewster, Christie Johnson, Laura Wilhite, Chris Salcedo, Nancy Cheshire, and Christine Hardman.

The JV team had a very good season, playing the first part undefeated. The captains of JV, Carol Tink and Mary Johnson, headed the partially inexperienced, but extremely enthusiastic team. JV proudly wore their new kilts which they bought with the money they raised from their annual candy bar sale.

Both varsity and JV, coached by Ms. Malley, had an extremely fun and friendly atmosphere throughout the season. They had fun before, during, and after every game. The practices and warm-ups were enjoyable, but sincere. When the Mashers were the home team, they served oranges to themselves and the visiting team during the half time. After many of the games, Malley's Mashers went for pizza or to movies. Sarah Higdon, the team artist and comedienne, made shirts with an animal playing field hockey for all of the Mashers to wear on game days.

Julie Brewster felt she could speak for everyone when she said, "Field hockey is a unique team because of the closeness of all of the players. It teaches everyone how to work as a team and is just great fun!"

Awaiting possession of the ball are Jill Carey, Christie Johnson, Anna Tink, and Julie Brewster during their game against Mira Mesa.

Kick It Again, Soccer!

*I*ntensity and aggression are two words which describe the season played by Varsity Soccer. The team felt that the most aggressive defense and offense players were Andy Overett and Ray Sword, the captain.

The team consisted of fullbacks: Al Pomianek, Kevin Ohlin, Scott Brown, Andy Overett, Greg Johnson, and David Read; forwards: Ray Sword, Jim Monahan, Munir Ismet, and Joe Giacalone, a sophomore; the goalie: Robert Fay; halfbacks: John Giacalone, Brett McTammany, Bill Carrington, John Vanini, and Andre Broutin. The team got along well in their season together, since they were friends on and off the soccer field.

An exchange student joined the team. His name was Munir Ismet and he came from the Turkish part of Cyprus. When he was asked what he thought about soccer here, he said, "They play very hard soccer!"

In the game against Mira Mesa, Andy Overett, John Giacalone, and Kevin Ohlin help to protect their goal.

Soccer To Me, JV

Kicking JV soccer off to a good start were juniors, Chris Ryan, Tom Jackson, James Schmidt, and sophomores, Bill Brown, and Mike Sawyer, who the team thought were the best players. Together the team worked well on the field, which was shown by their successful season.

The forwards, whose main purpose is to score the goals, did an excellent job. They made this obvious in their 7-0 league victory over Serra. The forwards were Chris Ryan, David Conde, Mike Monahan, and Tom Cronin.

Russ Kerr, Greg Feldman, Mike Sawyer, and Tom Lund, as fullbacks, did a great job of taking the ball away from the opponents.

The halfbacks, who represented the backbone of the team, helped to bring the offense and defense players together. They consisted of Tom Jackson, Bill Brown, Brian Bremmerman, and Dan Romero.

The goal keeper, Brad Conrad, did a fantastic job protecting the goal. Such as in the game against St. Augustine, when he blocked a one-on-one penalty shot, and held the game to a 0-0 tie in overtime.

Jim VanZee, who was currently playing soccer at San Diego State, joined JV as their new coach. The team summed up his workouts, which consisted of practice plays, ball skills and shots on goal, by saying, "His workouts were hard but essential, and we really appreciated them at game time."

Dancers Caught It- The Wednesday Night Fever

Watch out, the "Fever" is contagious. At least it seemed that way when the Mission Bay Dancers put their dance performance on, the night of January 25th. With a full audience, the dancers successfully performed to such numbers as: "Climbing Up The Ladder", "Fire", "Exorcist", "Chain", "High School Dance", and many other excellent dance routines.

The outstanding costumes, choreography, and make-up, were designed and created by the dancers themselves.

The Dance officers were: Alison Alotis, President; Melinda Lee, Vice President; Donna Wells, Secretary/Treasurer; Val Donaldson, Show Director; Dyana Rose and Mitsi Moon, Wardrobe Mistresses; Lori Roe and Kelly Owens, Publicity; Ms. Rohrer, Advisor.

One of the dancers stated, "It's a lot of work but it's worth it, because everyone gets to know each other well, and you also learn a lot from the other dancers."

The title of the show "Wednesday Night Fever" was a take-off on the current hit disco movie, "Saturday Night Fever".

Bucs, Pinning And Winning

Taking an overall third in the city tournament, the wrestlers proved that they are one of the best teams in, as well as out of, the San Diego district. In the all-city tournament, all the schools in and around San Diego participated. Capt. Kris Lynds at 145 and Randy Mc Ewee at 138 both took first place in their weight divisions. Greg Lynds at 140 took a second and Bob Wilder at 168 and Kevin Carver at 127, each placed third.

The grapplers were coached by Coach Lewis and two new coaches, Coach Solari who coached weight lifting and Coach Latham who taught new moves to the team. Wrestler Bob Wilder said, "Coach Latham was the main reason the team went as far as we did, with the new moves and techniques he taught us, we were able to achieve our highest potential on the mat." They did reach their potential in the La Jolla match as the Bucs pinned eight out of thirteen men.

The Short And Long Of It

The Varsity softball team received long pants as part of their uniforms for the first time in the Buc softball history, along with the addition of Coach Bailey, the first male coach of the girls' softball team. The Junior Varsity team started the season off with a whole new line up, along with a new JV coach, Ms. Pearson.

One spectacular game during the softball season was the Varsity home game against UNI. The entire game was pitched by Michelle Dunn. The score was 1-0 in Uni's favor up until the bottom of the seventh inning with two down for the Bucs. Leanne Nead hit Colleen Beaton in to tie the score up 1-1, which took the game into four extra innings. The game ended in a twelve inning tie.

A Parting Of The Waves

Causing not quite the stir Moses did when he parted the Red Sea, the Boys' Swim Team still managed to slice an impressive path through the waves of every pool they swam in. One pool, in particular, saw a great deal of the boys. The Plunge, their home ground, was the site of the countless practice hours put in both before and after school.

For the first time, the team sported a competitive diver, John Watson. The lack of diving boards at most city pools caused the team to schedule meets outside the Western League. Ms. Judy Werner coached this group of strong swimmers, half of them in their last season of swimming since June spells graduation for all the seniors.

Some of the outstanding swimmers on the team were Chris Rhoades, Scott Anderson, James Morioka, Tom Watson, John Watson, and Mike Kaonis.

Peach Basket Pushovers

Ever since 1891 when James Naismith nailed two peach baskets up inside a gymnasium and started shooting balls at them. basketball has attracted a large share of enthusiasts. Among these fans are the twenty-six girls who play on Mission Bay's team.

In their second year, the Girls' Basketball Team practices during fifth period instead of the customary sixth, so as not to conflict with gymnastics.

Coached by Mr. Willis and Mr. Labeta, both the Varsity and JV teams excel at this fast-moving sport. Varsity boasts All League Player, Kelli Rucker, and outstanding new sophomore, Coleen Beaton, in addition to a great number of returning players. To quote proud Coach Willis on the subject, "Both teams are in the thick of the fight for League champs."

Bandaged Up and Bound to Win

The agony of track is a facet of this sport that often goes unseen by the spectators. The finished effect of each event is prefaced by long hours of practice and hard workouts, accompanied by innumerable aches and pains.

These aches and pains, however, are very important, because they signify that the muscles are getting toned into condition. As the body builds up speed, strength and endurance, the physical hurt is worked off, as well as extra pounds. The melted-away pounds double the athlete's sense of accomplishment as they're replaced by steely muscles, but the pain of conditioning often gives way to a new kind of pain: shinsplints.

The pain of practice is always forgotten on meetday, though, when the track team sets forth with bandaged knees and battered ankles, psyched up and ready to face the competition.

Athletes' Feat

Since track is such an individualized sport, with each athlete solely responsible for his own accomplishment, it seems to most spectators that the sport lacks unity and team spirit. And, surely enough, when pumping for the finish line, pulling for extra distance or straining to throw a little farther, the outcome relies on the output of only one person.

But this does not mean that this person's performance is not influenced or supported by his teammates. There are definite techniques for success in each event, and very few athletes can master them naturally. For this reason there are coaches, but the new competitor can often learn just as much from his more experienced teammates. Further examples and leadership are supplied by the team captains, Glenn Hofmockel, Christine Hardman, Nancy Chesire and Jim Mann.

As for team spirit, there is no greater display of this than when the whole team strains with empathy and screams itself hoarse, urging a teammate to victory, or when everyone holds his breath in nervous silence while the last pole vaulter concentrates on the bar. Times like these, which usually go unnoticed by the spectators, are what make the tracksters a team.

From Point "A" To Point "B" In Time "T"

One of the objects of track is getting from point "A" to point "B" in the least possible amount of time, "T". In the distance, "D" between start and finish, anything can happen, and it's up to the individual to make every inch count.

Personal accomplishment is what makes the effort behind track worthwhile. Whether it's straining to break the finish tape or striving to jump just a few more inches, attaining the goal is an individual effort.

Part of the excitement of track stems from the fact that a single third place win can sway a track meet. Taking first and second score five and three points respectively, but it's often the one point scored by taking third that wins the meet. Therefore, every athlete is valuable to the team, because everyone has the potential to be a winner, whether he takes first or not.

Tracksters Doo Run Run Run

More people than ever before turned out to join Track and Field. About ninety kids turned out for the Track and Field season. Thirty-five to forty of these students were girls. That's about double what it has been in past years. The team competed in the Western League, with main rivals being La Jolla, Hoover, and Lincoln.

Track is an individualized sport, so everyone did something different and worked mainly on his own initiative. Track not only consisted of running but also shotput, discus, high jump, pole vaulting and the triple jump. There were five coaches in all. Ungricht headed sprints, and the relay teams; Boise was in charge of distance running and hurdles; Magnuson directed shotput and discus; Seaman handled high jump and pole vaulting; Grogg had the triple and long jumps.

The team members put in a lot of work by practicing after school every day.

Baseball, Hot Dogs, Apple Pie, and Mission Bay

This spring time national sport started off with an extraordinary offensive team, with a pre-season average of .287. The team had some of the best hitters in the western league, such as Billy Fields and Bob Wilder slugging at .461 with one home run each. The leader in runs batted in was Joel Skinner whose average was .333, followed by Jon Sanchioli at .350, Todd Burzette at .368, and Tom Britt at .315. This excellent hitting talent paid off when the team scored 41 runs in their first six games, averaging 7 runs per game, a record any team would be proud of.

Bats, Hats, And Stats

"Rain, rain, go away", might have been what the Junior Varsity Baseball team was saying at the beginning of the season. The first two scrimmages, along with the first game, were called off due to rain. They proved, however, that this seasonal interruption did not lessen their spirit and talent as a team, for in their first game of the season they came through with a 15-2 win against Oceanside.

Junior Varsity's toughest league competition was Hoover, University, and La Jolla.

The name and position of each starting player is as follows (in alphabetical order): Ron Allan, out field; David Allen, pitcher; Matt Britt, first base, out field; Brad Coulapedis, out field; Mark Emery, infield; Don Gulihur, pitcher; Richard Hollenbeck, pitcher; Tom Krause, out field; Mike Monahan, out field; Grant Niman, second base; Tom Phillips, catcher, first base, out field; Brent Rhodes, out field; Armando Rodriguez, short stop, pitcher; John Stadler, catcher, first base; Chris Teeple, third base; Mike Trieger, infield; John Turner, out field, pitcher.

Coach Pugh stated, "Baseball is a winning program here at Mission Bay and we are trying to build tradition which starts at the J.V. level."

Getting a hit, John Turner puts himself on first base.

Nobody Does It Better

"The team was packed full of talent and excitement," Coach Carrie Rohrer said of her pride and joy—gymnastics. With the combination of strong returning gymnasts and fresh talented sophomores, the team was really looking good. The school was well-represented at the optional level by Pam Benson, Stacey Lawson and Tara Kaylor. The team was especially strong at the intermediate level by gymnasts Jill Carey and Gretchen Myers. All-arounders included returnees Kandi Clifton, and Donna Wells. The JV gymnasts showed a lot of promise in their building year. Julie Brown and Ellen Rogers were assistant coaches for the team.

Anyone For Tennis?

Concentration and control is the name of the game. Tennis not only requires mental strength and endurance, such as: concentration, control, and temperament. The team as a whole proved this to be true, for they put in a lot of time and effort by practicing two to four hours each day after school.

The team consisted of ten full time players, four singles and three doubles teams. There were also nine substitute players who filled in for full time players who became ill or were unable to play at a match. The ten full time players were: Eric Basart, Todd Bloom, Konrad Rasmussen, Jim Hassell, John Kratz, Doug Bradley, Denis Amyot, Mark Payne, Ron Moury, Robert Martinez.

Mr. Homiston stated, "We had a really good team, they had a lot of depth There were many really good sophomores on the team this season. I was well pleased with them."

Par For The Course

A hole-in-one and getting stuck in a sandtrap are par for the Golf Team. Golf can be played with little strength and great skill throughout a life time.

Coach Schofield, in his last year of coaching, expressed his feelings for his team like this, "The kids playing for me now are really super. Their attitudes are great and we should have a real good season." The team consisted of Jeff Fettner, a junior and the only returning player, David Barczak, a senior, juniors, Jacque Robbins, Stuart Degn, and sophomores, Matt O'Conner, Rob Evans, Kevin Cook and Bill Feingold. The statisticians were Carol Glasheen and Suszi Morgan.

This season was mostly a rebuilding season, taking the new members and fitting them into the team. Jacque Robbins, the first girl to be on the golf team, did a fine job and really held her own throughout the season. The team put in long hours of practice and worked-out every day at Torrey Pines Golf Course.

The golf team played a nine hole course. The course had a par for every hole, which is how many strokes the hole should be played in. A birdie occurs when a player makes the hole in one under par, which is good. An eagle is when a player makes the hole in two under par, which is better. Then there is a hole in one, which is the best. A bogie happens when a player makes one over par and a double-bogie is two over par. The players go out in foursomes, two from each team, to play. The team with the lowest score wins.

Coach Schofield summed up golf when he said, "It's a neat sport for all people of all ages, it's so relaxing and green."

Different Strokes for MB Folks

Taking full advantage of the ideal location of the school, the PE department plunged into several new aspects of physical education. Many new classes were formed which gave the students a vareity of PE classes from which to choose. The purpose of these new classes was to teach students practical as well as fun activities which they can continue to develop throughout their life.

The new classes included scuba diving, cycling, yoga, bowling, canoeing, golf, four-wall racquetball, and relaxation through bio-feedback.

The course in scuba diving was sponsored by the Diving Locker. The students learned how to use the equipment safely, as well as learning how to use the ocean to its full extent. After the class was over, many students became certified divers and further explored the mysterious ocean depths.

The cycling class took students on many of San Diego's bike routes. The canoes for the canoeing class were provided by the Red Cross. Students had fun while learning safe boating techniques. At the Rose Canyon Racquetball Club, enthusiastic racquetball players embarked upon the challenge of four-wall racquetball.

These off-campus programs as well as the yoga and relaxation classes taught students physical activities which they can always use.

'Look Out We're Here!'

The Varsity Cheerleaders were here and boy did they make their presence known. Throughout the football and basketball seasons the walls of the cafeteria were lined in player signs which were designed to motivate players and alert students to upcoming games. Along with the Commissioner of Rallies, the cheerleaders planned and executed many rallies which generated laughter and spirit from those who observed as well as those who participated.

The squad was very talented. After being chosen by the student body in June '77, the girls immediately began many hours of practice. During the summer the varsity went to a camp sponsored by the International Cheerleading Foundation on the USC campus. There the mighty Bucs took an over all 2nd place.

Getting the players up for each game was a primary goal of the cheerleaders, they did this by presenting each player with a carnation before big games and by baking cakes and cookies for each one, but they felt the most effective way to motivate the players was by generating school spirit.

Some of the varsity's memorable activities were toilet papering the houses of all the football players the night before the La Jolla game, and kidnapping both the football and basketball players. Quite a job for eight girls, "But it was worth it to see their faces at six a.m." said Jill Hutcheson, adding "Cheerleading is a lot of fun, you meet a lot of people and gain a lot of self-confidence." The Cheerleaders felt that the only drawback was the enormous amount of time they devote to cheerleading.

The Cheerleaders cheered at all the football and basketball games as well as many other games and matches. They also cheered on radio stations, B-100 and KCBQ. The Cheerleaders were voted number one by all the San Diego City Schools' Cheerleaders.

JV Cheerleaders "Rock Steady"

Backing the Baby Bucs was the goal of the JV Cheerleaders. They painted enormous signs for all JV sports and wore their uniforms at least weekly to remind students of big JV events of the week. The girls threw a party for the JV football team on the night of their Homecoming game. The JV squad was close, not only with teams they cheered for but as a team themselves. The girls all became close friends, whether they were shopping for uniforms, baking cupcakes and cookies for players or leading cheers.

Remarking about cheerleading, the JV said, "It's a lot of work and your grades go down, but you're involved in your school and make a lot of friends." Karen Schmook caught the general feeling of all when she said, "It's just plain fun."

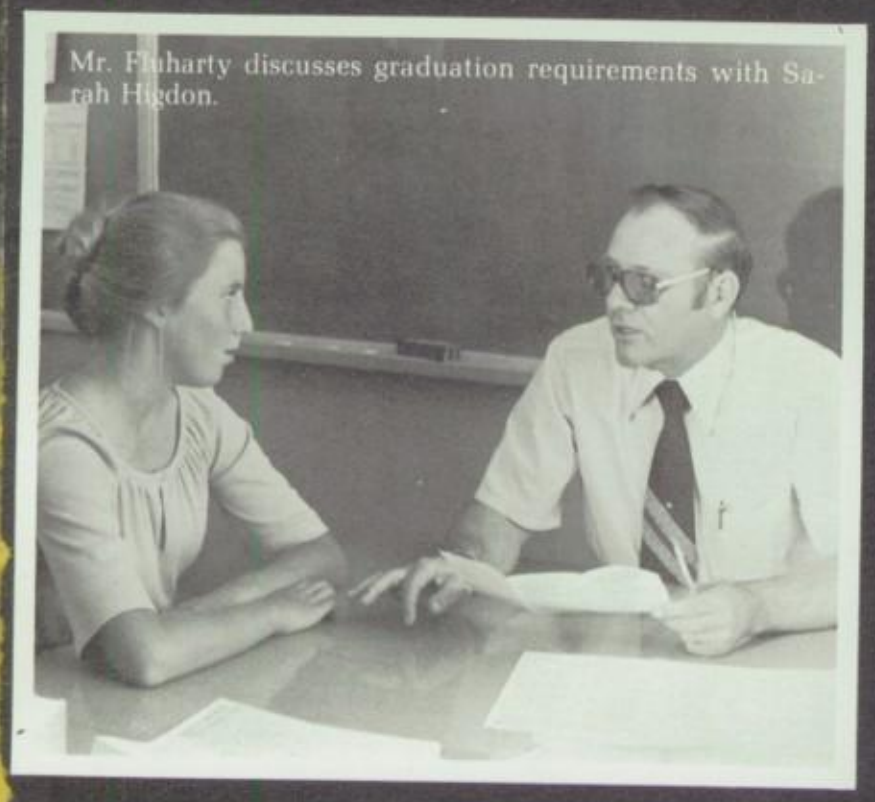
Show and Tell

*D*o you remember your very first homework assignment? It was probably bringing your favorite toy for Show and Tell, but you didn't think of that as homework, it was just plain fun. As the years went by the assignments got harder. Instead of writing the alphabet, you had to write term papers and research projects. And instead of having one teacher to assign you homework, you had six. Teachers made a regular habit of overloading you with busywork, while others saved up for a single semester undertaking. The result was the same—headaches galore!

Of course, school wasn't always bad, and not all teachers were ogres. Remember the fun you had teasing substitutes, and the time your English teacher let you turn in an essay late? The world of academics proved a constant challenge. You struggled over one hurdle only to be faced with another. All the minor accomplishments of thirteen years finally added up to one momentous occasion—graduation. And as you accept your diploma, smile back on that kindergartener "sharing" a pink panda.



Mr. Fluharty discusses graduation requirements with Sarah Higdon.

The Vietnam War Monument is a tribute to those MB students who died in the war: William L. Fix, Richard A. Friend, Charles H. Goldmeyer, James P. Gulie and David J. Rose.

Fountain of Memories

Although Vietnam is now past history, the effect that it had on the world will last forever. What many students don't know, however, is the effect it had on students going to MB at the time. Mr. Beck had a class called Interpreting World Affairs. Part of the class time was devoted to studying the Vietnam War. After the anti-war demonstration at Kent State in which some students were killed, MB students decided to show their disapproval.

A meeting was held and drew a large crowd. A strike was suggested, but was voted down for fear of causing problems. Students decided to organize an early morning class on Vietnam. For four weeks Mr. Beck, Mrs. Porter, Mr. Marshall, Mr. McAllister and Miss Dundee donated their time as advisors. As time went on, the FBI and police kept a careful watch on the school, but the meetings were always peaceful.

The next year Mr. Beck asked students to volunteer their time to build a monument in memory of the alumni students who were killed in the war. That monument is the fountain located in front of the auditorium. Unfortunately, the fountain has been neglected as the memory of the Vietnam War wears off.

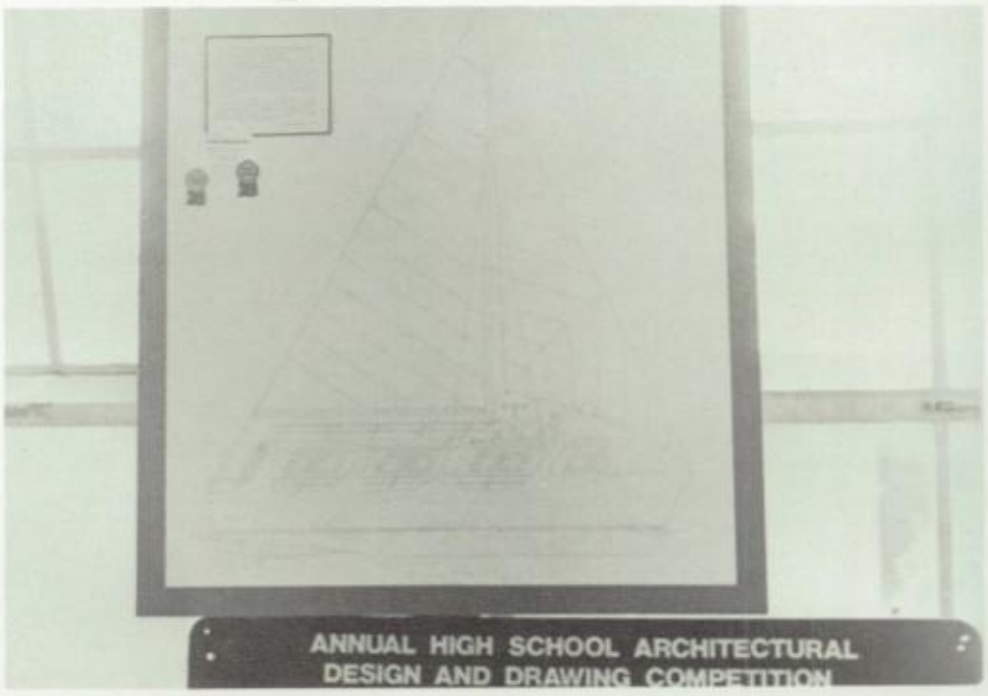
Industrial Arts Triumphs at Del Mar

Mission Bay walks away with the firsts! Every summer in late June and early July, one of the big events is the Del Mar Fair. Many graphic arts, drafting, woodshop and metal shop students enter their hand-made projects in the Industrial Arts Competition.

Last summer a total of forty projects were entered. Of these, twenty-two placed first, thirteen placed second and five placed third. Quite a few of the winners sold their projects—coffee tables, cedar chests, guitars, mirrors, rocking chairs and so on. Some students also received orders to make reproductions of their projects. Among the winners still in school are; Steve Dillon, who created a cedar chest, Tom Gregg, who fashioned a coffee table and Tom Watson, who made a plant-hanger.

Mr. Zmolek, the wood shop teacher, summed it up by saying, "We surpassed all other schools in the county with our projects placing highest overall."



The drawing of a 65 Cruiser-Sport Fishing Boat, by Anthony Margan, took a first and a Special Award in the Architectural Design and Drawing Competition.

Chairs, tables, lamps, guitars and couches were a small selection of the projects in the Industrial Arts Fair in Del Mar.

Shake, Rattle and Roll

The trembling ground and rattling windows of the bungalows wasn't caused by earthquakes, but by the loud machines used by the construction workers. The roving bulldozers and rugged workmen had a disrupting effect on the faculty and students in that area. The distractions came in the form of noisy machinery, shaking bungalows and hot, stuffy rooms closed off to shut out the annoying construction sounds.

Teachers disliked the noise because it detracted from their teaching methods. They felt that the students' attention spans decreased and teaching became more difficult. Students' reactions ranged from unaffected to irritated, but they had to put up with the intrusion for most of the year. The construction was necessary to provide the school with a building to house the Graphic Arts and Business Education Centres.

The construction men and ferocious bulldozer work together to make the new Graphics/Business building.

Carrying On, Going Strong

"My responsibilities grew as the school expanded," claimed Mr. Lundmark, the principal. Many changes have taken place during the year. He became interested in the development of new programs, especially Free Enterprise and Marketing. He stated, "We would like our graduates to be conscious of the Free Enterprise system and how it works." He felt that our school was very fortunate to have such an exceptional student body, and expressed his feelings by saying, "They are more mature and more realistic than in past years." He felt that the entire staff was very good and totally essential to the school. "They are a very co-operative and hardworking staff." Some of his goals were the construction of the new Career Center, the improvement of the Music, English, Mathematic, Business, Science and CCTV programs and a smooth running year.

From the Old to the New

A new year, a new vice-principal. Mr. Tarvin, the vice-principal of the first quarter, left in the middle of the first semester. He moved on to a bigger school in hopes of getting nearer to his goal—a principalship.

Mrs. Cole, the girls' vice-principal, has been working at this school since 1968. Her main duties were overseeing the Master Schedule, the counselors and girls' discipline. She was also on quite a few boards and committees. Outside of school Mrs. Cole occupied her time with reading, following the stock market, woodworking and also working with anything mechanical. She was joined in the vice-principalship by Mr. Bill Hassett, who arrived here from Taft Junior High.

Bill Hassett was originally from Massachusetts. He had taught, counselled or operated as vice-principal in three or four elementary or junior high schools since he came to California. Sports and Mr. Hassett fit together like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. He felt that he would get into sports since the school is very sports orientated. For outside interests he has: motorcycle riding, most sports, fishing and reading. After a junior high Mr. Hassett discovered MB to be somewhat more sophisticated and he was glad that he came to this school and put a lot of time and work into it.

Foreign Affairs

"I want to be in America." That seems to be the case with many students attending school. The number of foreign students is increasing each year. There are many exchange programs which enable students to experience life in another culture.

Pia Klevemark, from Sweden, was on the American Student Scandinavian Exchange. ASSE is a transfer just between the Scandinavian countries and America. Karen Axell, also from Sweden, was with a different exchange– the Student International Service.

Louise Millar, from Scotland, and Munir Ismet, from Turkish Cypress, were both with American Field Service. AFS services sixty countries throughout the world.

Hagit Zabrodsky and Benny Poupko, both from Israel, and Vanda Bulirsch, from Germany, were all here on a personal transfer. Their fathers were teaching at UCSD for a semester or so. All the foreign students stated that school in the U.S. was much easier than in Europe and they all enjoyed coming here and experiencing a new way of life.

The Scientific American

While the results of these students projects might not be published in Scientific American, they still provided answers to many interesting questions. For example, does having a driver's license affect a student's grades; and how are blood components affected by junk food as opposed to health food; or what is the best technique for rooting poinsettias. These are just a few of the questions probed by the entrants of the Science Fair. After endless questionnaires, experiments, and evaluations of results, the students were finally ready for judging. For many of the participants, March 2 marked the end of long months of experimentation. For others, it was only the beginning. Matt Bennett, Wendy Hanscom, Tom Lund, and Kristine Larson were all chosen to represent the school in the Greater San Diego Science and Engineering Fair. But for all, it was a chance to explore some new aspect of science which might otherwise remain unknown. And though only a few went on to compete downtown, all the winners should be congratulated for their efforts and participation.

Accolade of Achievement

Award winners of the year. At the uppermost end of the academic scale were the national merit finalists; Cassandra Shafer, Kevin Brink, Bryan Johnson and Marc Akin. These students demonstrated outstanding academic ability.

Established to recognize seniors' scholastic ability, sense of responsibility and leadership, was The Bank of America Achievement Awards. The following students were winners in specific academic fields: Sarah Higdon, Art; Janice Pollack, Drama; Tina Johnson, Music; Amy Higgins, English; Marc Akin, Foreign Language; Heather Campbell, Social Studies; Kevin Brink, Science; Thor Zollinger, Math; Christie Johnson, Business; Alex Roberts, Industrial Arts. The General Field winners were: Glenn Hofmockel, Fine Arts; Cassandra Shafer, Liberal Arts; Maureen Harrity, Math-Science and Tom Watson, Vocational Arts.

The Quill and Scroll, recognized students who demonstrated superior achievement in a phase of journalism or school publications.

Selected to participate in a leadership training seminar, the Girls State representative, was Susan Baldwin. Kent Latham, the participant in the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, was chosen on leadership qualities. The Savings and Loan Assoc. presented Jean-Marc Barr with their Outstanding Student Award. These students should all be commended for their accomplishments.

Slow Down, Sick Out, Strike

At the end of the 76/77 school year there were many teacher and student uprisings. It all started when Collective Bargaining was voted in. Collective Bargaining is the mutual decision of the Board of Education and the chosen Teachers' Association, on the terms of the teachers' contract.

It was the first time Collective Bargaining was used, so both sides were demanding and somewhat unsure of themselves. The Board wanted no maximum on class size, unlimited work hours and less pay. The teachers main concern "was not to regress back to prior agreement terms," stated Mrs. Porter. They didn't want worse conditions than they had before. Neither side would agree to the others' terms, so they reached a deadlock. Consequently, the teachers reached a concensus to do three steps: to do nothing outside of regular duties, have sick outs, and strike on June 6. They did.

The teachers had parent and student sympathy. Even MB joined in and the students staged a walk-out. Under the pressure, the Board relented and negotiations began again. "The resulting contract wasn't what either side wanted but it was a beginning," concluded Mr. Kops.

Media interviews Ms. Quam and Mrs. Werner on their views of the strike.

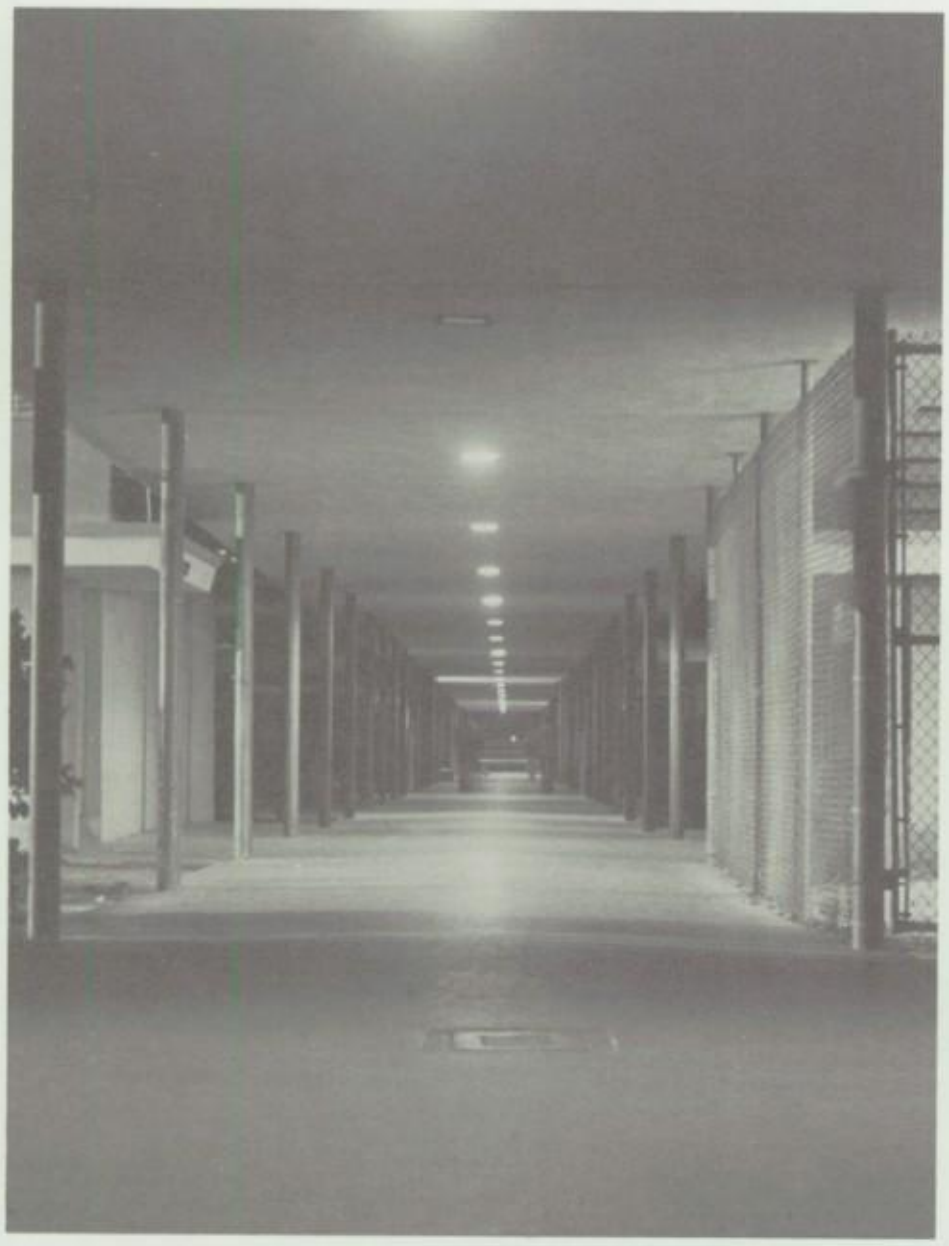
Education After Dark

The end of day school, the beginning of night school.



As a chance for making up classes or extra credits, many students attended North Shores Community College Adult Center at night. Situated at MB, it provided a convenient center for night school.

There were three categories of classes for students to participate in: enrichment courses involving classes from Auto Shop to Micro Wave Cooking, special classes for the disabled, and credit courses for drop-outs or students short on credits. All night school classes could be attended if a student was over 18 or if he or she had a permit.

Most students went to evening classes from 6:30 to 9:30 pm Monday to Thursday. About 20% of the students were there for high school completion, 40% were learning English as a second language and about 40% were taking general classes such as Fine Arts, languages and Sign Language. Night school supplied students with another chance to improve themselves and many used it to aid them in graduation.

On the Air

CCTV aired many programs on Closed Circuit Television and our school radio station.

Closed Circuit Television has been situated in the school, but it never played a very prominent part. At the year's beginning, CCTV was moved to a room of its own. All new equipment was purchased and the room was remodeled. Mr. Calvert was in charge of the whole program and he and a few volunteer students operated it.

CCTV was used for video production in the classes. Language, drama, speech and just general classes made tapes of their proceedings. As the tapes were made, they were played back for the class or others on the Video.

KMBH, the campus radio station, was operated from CCTV's room and equipment. Mr. Calvert supervised as Russ Labranche, Dan Hoffman, Duke Wild, Alex Roberts or Amy Higgins operated as DJ. The radio station was on the air early mornings and lunch hours. CCTV and KMBH really progressed and became accepted facets of our school.

The CCTV co-ordinator, Mr. Calvert, prepares the machines for working order. He does most of the taping, recording and producing of the Video Tapes.

One of the volunteer students, Dan Hoffman, helps to program the quipment. He also helps out in the radio broadcasting.

For Life After Highschool-ROP

Of the off campus career oriented programs there were four Regional Occupational Programs available.

One was Applied Marketing/Fashion Merchandising. This course taught business/retailing skills along with fashion co-ordinating products. It was taught by Pam McKenney and Barbara Hand. The students were off campus four days a week at two hour training stations (stores). Three stations were attended a semester and many students were hired. Pupils from other schools in the county also attended the program.

Parenting/Infant Development was taught on child care and understanding by Barbara McDonald and Susan Erickson. It was open to anyone, plus high school mothers who wanted to complete their education. The children stayed at school all day and participated in the exercise, art and learning centers. The only time they were kept in cribs was when they slept. Having had this course, the students were eligible for acquiring a job as an aid in a nursery.

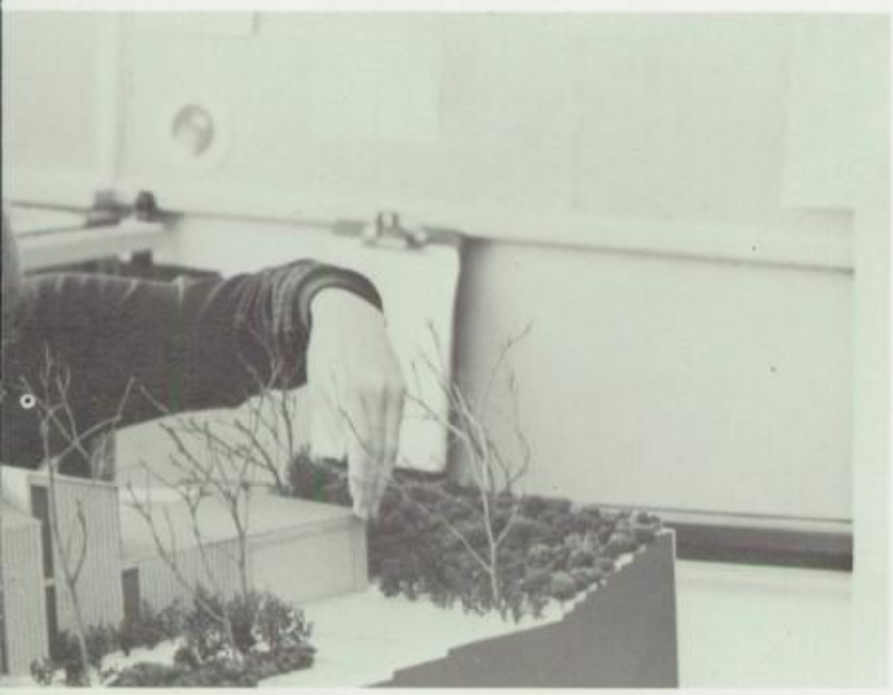
Occupational Drafting, taught by Mr. Noderer, was a program specializing in architecture, electronics and mechanics. It was very individualized and they worked with the highest quality equipment available. The class worked with industries and prospective employers. This program enabled any student to acquire a job easily.

ROP Art, taught by Mr. Patterson, was to develop job, personal and success skills. Areas of specialization were: commercial art, advertising and photography. There was on-the-job experience. Projects were: Advertising for the SD Zoo and the PB Town Council, mural work and so on. Altogether there was a wide choice of ROP classes helping to prepare students for life and a career after high school.

Susan Erickson feeds Marie while they relax in the Exercise Area.

An ROP Art student practices block printing. Certain skills must be perfected before students can do outside projects.

Barbara McDonald having a good time playing with Channell, a thirteen month old child in her class, while her mother attends school.



Adding the finishing touches to her project, Susan Henderson straightens the roof of her house, which she built in the Occupational Drafting class.

Two students in the Marketing class practice making change while learning how to conduct a basic sales transaction.

Dressing, placing wigs on, and positioning models are some projects in the Fashion class. Mrs. Hand shows a student how to arrange clothes.

Cook, Clean And Organize

The function of the school was controlled by the cafeteria staff, custodians and secretaries.

The cafeteria workers started their working days at 5:30 a.m. They made 1400 meals every day and sent the extra meals to eight satellite elementary schools, Bay View Terrice, Crown Point, Farnum, Kate Sessions, Mission Beach Fairhaven, one junior high school, Pacific Beach, and two child care centers, Bay View and Crown Point. Everything was made from scratch, and had to be prepared early.

Our campus appearance and maintenance was from the work of our custodians. Most of them came to school at 2:00 p.m. to clean the classrooms and hose down the halls and lunch court. Some custodians came during the students school day to conduct the day time maintenance and others pruned, hoed and watered all of the greenery on campus.

A total of ten secretaries did all of the paperwork and organization for the school. There were secretaries ranging from financial to library areas. They took care of student records, attendance, counseling, organization and the general paperwork. They kept the school and correspondence running smoothly.

Secretaries: Mrs. C. Robison, Mrs. A. Bernstein, Mrs. B. Jewsbury, Mrs. J. Harris, Mrs. J. Cannon, Mrs. K. Stoker, Mrs. B. Scofield. Not pictured: Mrs. K. Hippe, Mrs. J. Husak and Mrs. Florence.

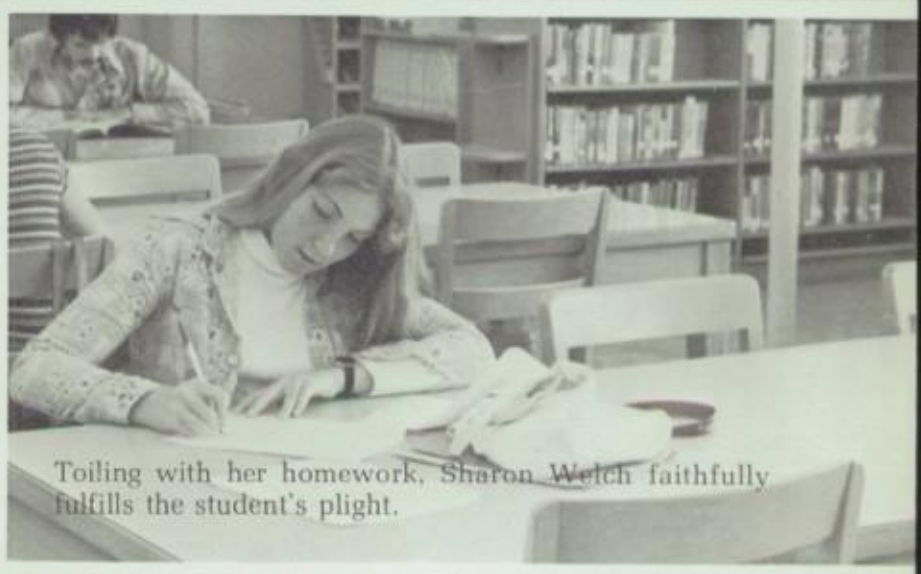
A familiar sight as students communicate with the outer world.

Ode to the High School Student

The school year, a nine month chore! And who must endure it? The students, of course! The host of adults who control the educational scene are blind to the noble nature of high school scholars. They expound on the sacrifice and dedication of teachers while overlooking the silent perseverence of students coping with their prodigious burden. Students are expected to maintain excellent study habits and behave with absolute decorum day after tedious day. Yet no one ever applauds these illustrious efforts. When that rare misfit attempts to regain his dignity by rebelling against the rules, the same supercilious adults pounce on this lapse, and proclaim all high school students to be irresponsible and no good. If anyone deserves praise, it is the longsuffering student: "For he's a jolly good fellow!"



Toiling with her homework, Sharon Welch faithfully fulfills the student's plight.

Class Of '78 Survives Senioritis

The Senior Class struggled through their last year of high school while attempting to spark interest with a myriad of traditional senior activities. The Senior Cabinet, headed by Kim Jensen, Jean-Marc Barr, Janice Pollack, and Wendi Tilton, organized Homecoming, built the winning Star Wars float, sponsored the Shipwreck Dance, and coordinated an exciting Senior Week, including the Talent Show and Slave Sale. Already a wealthy class, the seniors raised money through their mistletoe sale. The Cabinet planned the year-end events: the prom, after-prom, Baccalaureate, senior breakfast, grad-nite, and graduation.

The top six outstanding seniors were honored for their excellence in school. Selected because of their high grade-point averages, these students represent scholastic quality and endeavor.

Hidly-

Well kid, what can I say to my best friend after 11 years of friendship? All I can think of is thanx for everything. It seems like every year we laugh a lot about writing in each others annuals but it's really the only time that I really tell you what I feel about you. If you think about the number of things that we've been through it's incredible! We've had so many good times over the years, and we've gotten into a lot of trouble over them too. I don't know what I'd do without you to tell all my troubles to. No matter how crazy or dumb they are you always seem to understand. You know what really makes me feel the very best, is to know that someone else cares a lot for me. It makes me feel so good when you tell me one of your private secrets or of one of your trust in me, and that means so much to me. You're the one person that I can tell anything to without phasing you out at all (like: you can't get pregnant from swallowing it!). Well, what else can I say except that I love you and I hope our friendship lasts for years and years and years...

i love you always,

Julie

P.S. I hope you'll notice no mention of Byrod!

Disney characters were on hand to welcome the Seniors to a night of play at the Happiest Place on Earth on June 14. Memorabilia of the final year.

We May Never Pass This Way Again

At last! For the Seniors, high school days were finally nearing an end.

The last week of school was a busy one for the Seniors. All the traditional Senior activities were held at various places in and around San Diego. The Senior Breakfast was held on June 12. Baccalaureate, the inspirational services for the graduating Seniors, took place on June 11 in the school auditorium. Hotel del Coronado was the site of the prom on June 9. It was followed by an after-prom on the Marietta, where for the first time, Seniors had the pleasure of cruising around San Diego harbor until the wee hours of the morning. The Awards Assembly brought together the school's best athletes, scientists, journalists, artists, dramatists, and citizens on June 12. June 15 saw many sleepy Seniors struggling to stay awake at Graduation, after spending the night before at Disneyland. Graduation was a wonderful end to a new beginning.

The Marietta Harbor Excursion Cruise- site of the after-prom on June 10.
The annual annual-signing party, June 6.

The beautiful Hotel del hosted the Seniors for their prom on June 9.

Seventy-niners: One More to Go

Waking up for early morning meetings was the greatest task faced by the Juniors: the rest was easy! The class of '79's Junior cabinet did an excellent job in getting their class organized. Their licorice and pennant sales were especially successful. Unfortunately, the Juniors were forced to cancel their carnation sales because of the static the deliveries caused among the faculty.

The main activities of the Junior cabinet were the construction of a Homecoming float, decorating dances and fundraising. There were also many committees, such as the prom committee, which was formed to set a prom date, find a room or hall, hire a band, and take care of decorations and invitations.

The class officers were the backbone of the Junior class. They were the ones that kept the Junior class going. The president was Leslie Mann, the vice-president was Duane Matthews, Debbie Dorris was secretary, and Maria Richards was treasurer.

The president and vice-president were in charge of organizing the class, their activities, and their sales. They presided over cabinet meetings and were spokesmen to the administration, student body and ASB council. The treasurer kept a current record of the financial situation, and the secretary took the minutes of all cabinet meetings and did all the correspondence for the class.

Pres. Leslie Mann, V.P. Duane Matthews, Treas. Maria Richards, Sec. Debbie Dorris

Fads: Icing on the Cake

No, that bright splash of color is not the NBC peacock coming out of retirement. It's just an average, everyday rainbow fan, thummin' his suspenders.

Originally used for holding up ski pants, rainbow suspenders are now popular with all non-belters, and are found in almost any clothing store, whereas a year ago they were only sold in sports shops and ski chalets.

And not only are rainbow suspenders decorative and useful in preventing embarrassment, but they've also become somewhat of a hobby for those musically inclined. In fact, it is rumored that the more experienced rainbowers can actually twang out the theme ot "Star Wars" on their suspenders.

Another recycled item that's made its appearance on campus is the stick-pin. This accessory has been borrowed from men's fashion, as the stick-pin's primary purpose was to hold men's ties in place. Now, though, stick-pins, whether flowered, jewelled or plain, are used by women both as brooches and scarf-holders.

Twang! Amy Higgins models her rainbow suspenders.

Classroom Crises

Do you realize how many things can go wrong at school? Of course you are familiar with the usual headache-HOMEWORK. But there are many different varieties of schoolroom blues. Here are a few of the more common symptoms for those lucky few who don't know what schoolroom blues are.

One of the earliest symptoms of the blues is FORGETTING about your homework or even worse doing it and having the dog eat it. Then there are the teachers who collect the homework at the beginning of the period when you still have to recopy it.

Finally you make it to lunch but your troubles are not over yet. You seem to stand in the same spot in line for twenty minutes while everyone else cuts in front. When you finally get through you end up with a cold burrito and a hot milk.

These are just a few of the things that can cause schoolroom blues. But if you've had a bad case of the blues lately don't worry, you're not alone.

Zzzzzzz . . .

All Fowled Up

Look! Up in the sky—it's a bird! It's a plane! No, it's the KGB chicken—of course! This freaky fowl is well-known around the San Diego area—and many other places as well. He appears at concerts, football games, baseball games, bathtub races, and anything else that goes on in San Diego. The crazy chicken is rather infamous for his beer intake—he's almost a legend in his own time. What little is known about the KGB trademark is debatable. He sure doesn't seem like he's six feet tall, anyway. But the real mystery is—who is this crazy collection of feathers? And where does he get all that energy (the beer, maybe?) We may never know the answers to these questions, but we love this enigmatic egg-layer just the same—and we always will!

Full of vim and vigor the KGB chicken shows up everywhere

Sophomore Pres. Laura Brown, V.P. Shannon Varley, Sec. Jan McKay, and Treas. Karen Parsons.

A New Decade: The Class of '80

The sophomores, the first class of the 80's, were off to a great start by electing Laura Brown as President, Shannon Varley as Vice-President, Jan McKay as Secretary, and Karen Parsons as Treasurer.

The sophomore class sponsored the Halloween Dance, bake sales, and M.B. Night at the Family Fun Center.

The class of '80 has a lot of school spirit and if they're a sign of what's to come Mission Bay has a great future! Hopefully, the rest of the decade will live up to the high level of spirit and dedication established by the class of 1980.

Sophomores relax on the weedpatch at lunch.

The individual arts program is not restricted to the classroom.

Holly,

I don't know where to begin. Where? I think you've said just about everything that I should have said so if you want to hear it just read mine.

I just think of all the times we've shared and all the times we've talked about. What a bunch of times you are the only person (besides the walls & head) that I've shared some secrets with. I know I can trust you. I think that is the key to our friendship, trust. You're just the type I can break down and say anything to, good, or bad.

We've been through mainly boys. (Chris + I know well go through boys. Maybe we'll get into Jodi.) I honestly hope that Jodi (Cecilia) can double date Keith gets along with Wayne!

Well I hope it does, I can't remember a lot of things that done, to you Getting our hopes neither of us had enough money for. We always found a way.

Well I know if I go on and on this will sound like a niece breaking up (Kathi) and I've had too many of those. Just want you to know you're a good friend (the best) and I hope our friendship lasts a least long enough to buy Harmans and our apartment together (Jodi can come too!)

Lunch provides time for intimate talks.

Love ya,
Always,
Mary Jodi (Reading)

P.S. Remember to: Keep the FAITH!

Elvis: Fame to Fad

The death of Elvis Presley had a profound effect on a wide scope of people. It aroused feelings ranging from shock and grief to awe and worship. The biggest result of Elvis' death, however, is a sudden frantic craze to own, see, and know everything to do with the king of rock and roll. Elvis Presley biographies sell as fast as they are printed. Although these books show a side of Elvis that is pathetic and unwell, they still serve to make him into a martyred hero. So Elvis Presley Tee-shirts, posters, and album collections are bought and idolized as they never were while he was alive. There is a mystique surrounding Elvis' death that is much like that following Marilyn Monroe's death. It is only a pity that these stars achieved immortality more through their deaths than by their contributions to life.

Elvis: the king lives on.

How Many?

Are you interested in knowing that there are 47 sprinkler heads on the football field? The 5,616 words printed inside our school folder never tell us these things! Statistics are a handy thing to know. For instance, if you walk up to that guy you've been dying to know and told him that there are 388 poles at this school he'd really take notice of you.

Have you ever wondered exactly how much time you spend at school? Well it all depends on certain factors. For instance, the average student misses 8-10 days a year. And there are 597 possible times he can be tardy!

Don't you hate it when you're standing at your locker, which is one out of 2,100, and the bell rings? Do you realize that 1,530 bells ring yearly? Can you believe that most people here don't know that there are 22 fire alarms scattered through 10 halls or that there are 160 trophies in the cases in the auditorium. You can believe the there are 180 words in this article!

One of the 1,425 students sits in front of one of 2,100 lockers in one of 10 halls.

"On and On"

Although Mission Bay is a small school, the students showed a wide variety of tastes in music. They enjoyed country, disco, hard rock, and jazz, among other types. The one thing MB students could agree upon, however, was that Fleetwood Mac was the favorite group. Other popular groups included Aerosmith, Boston, Eagles, and Chicago.

The top male soloists were undoubedly Peter Frampton, James Taylor, Boz Scaggs, Ted Nugent and Kenny Loggins. Favorite female singers were Linda Ronstadt and Barbra Streisand.

Because of the wide variety in musical tastes, picking the favorite song was almost impossible. Among the favorites, however, were "On and On," sung by Steven Bishop; "You LIght Up my Life," by Debbie Boone; "Jungle Love," by Steve Miller Band; "Best of my Love," by the Emotions; "When I Need You," by Leo Sayer; and "Slow Dancing," by Johnny Rivers.

Among the more listened-to albums were "Rumours," by Fleetwood Mac; "I'm in You," by Peter Frampton; "JT," by James Taylor; and "Chicago XI." And, of course, no San Diegan's album collection could be complete without the current "Homegrown" album.

The wide range of musical interests shown by this comparatively small group of people reflects the tastes of music lovers all over the nation.

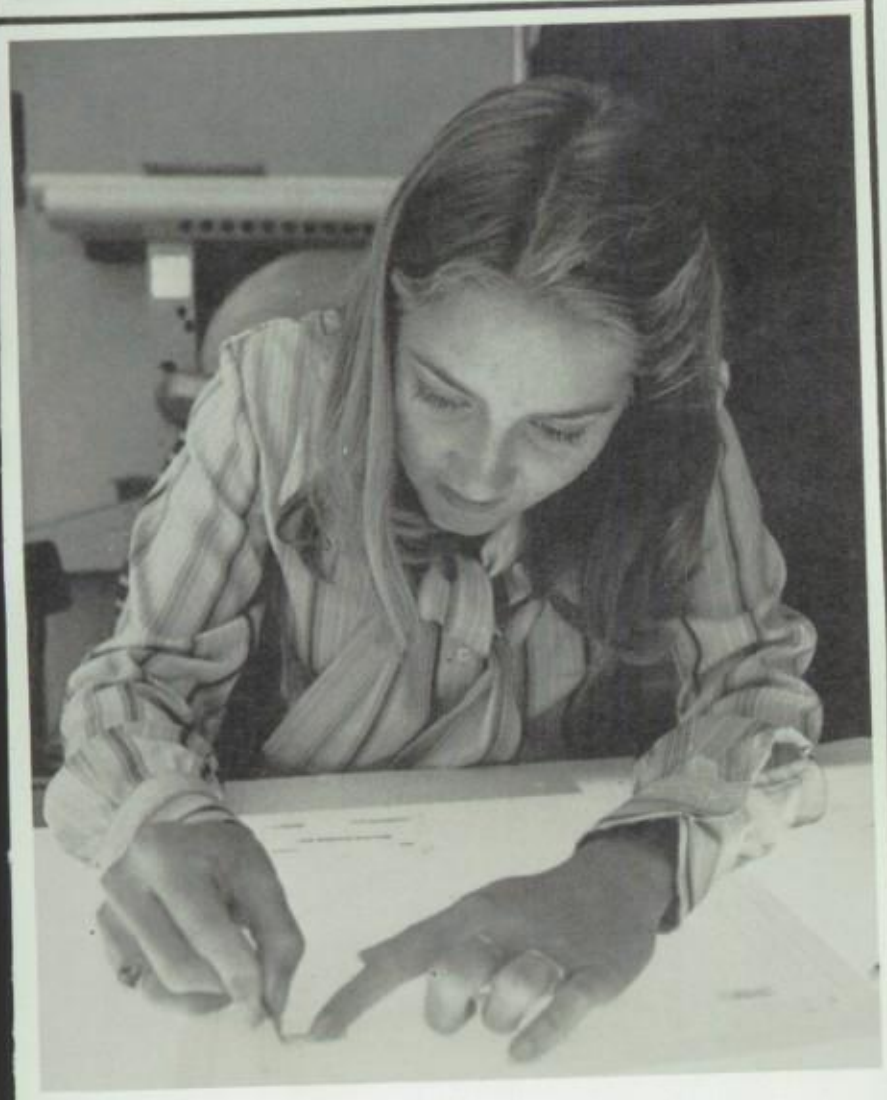
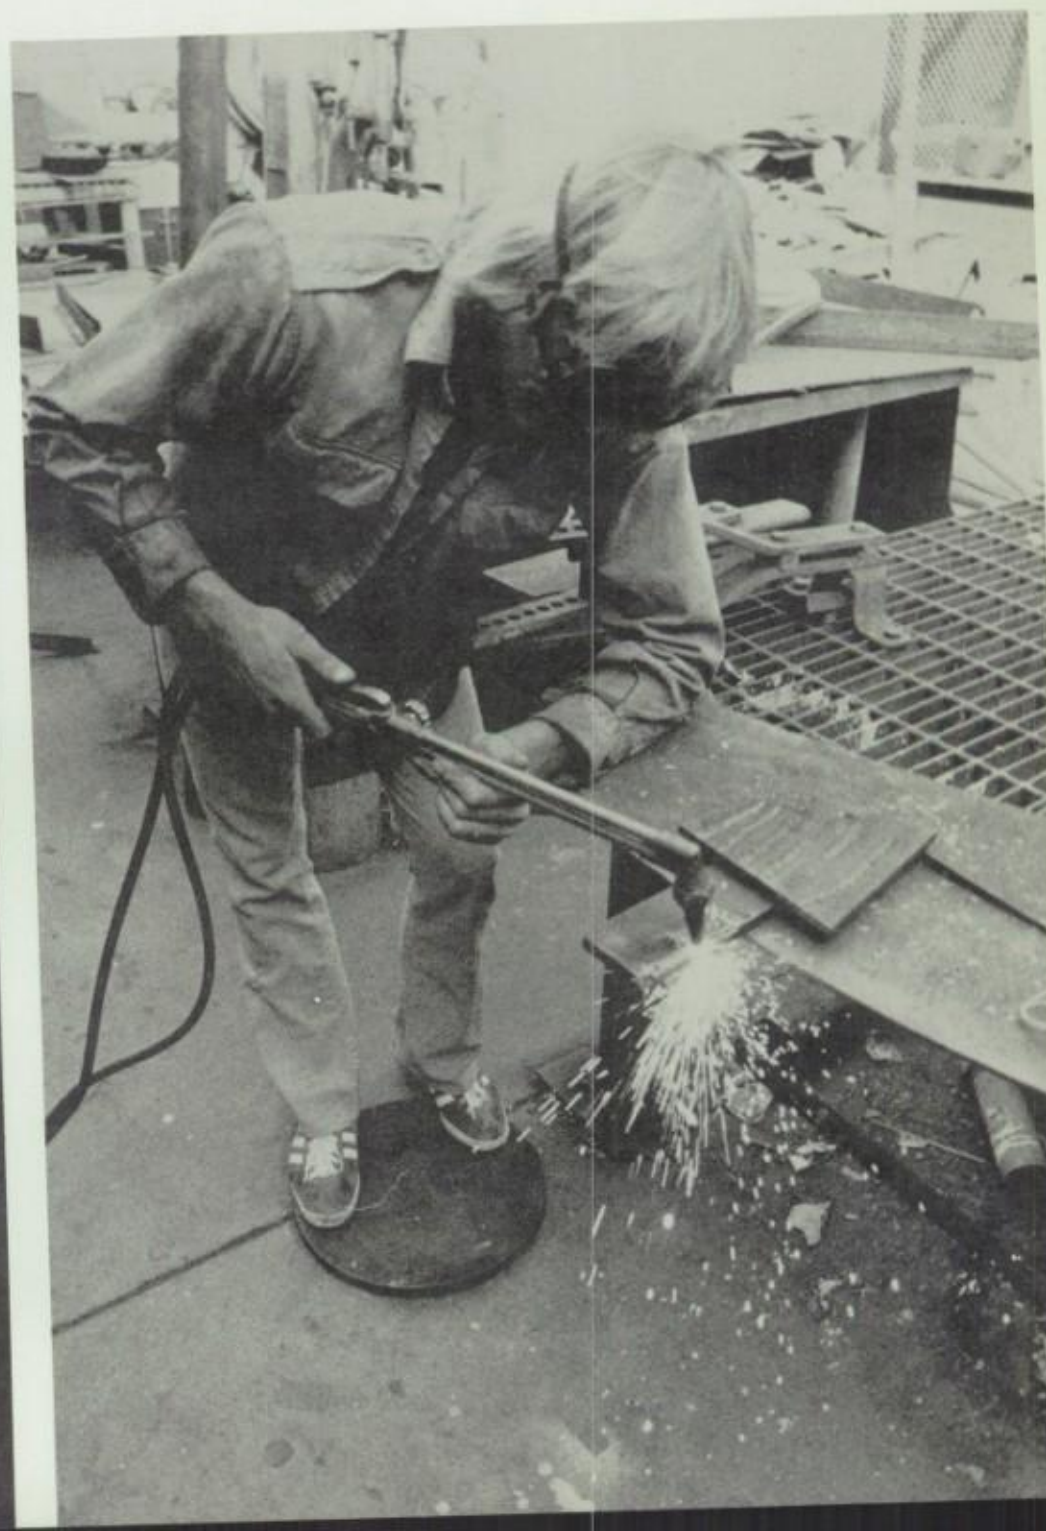
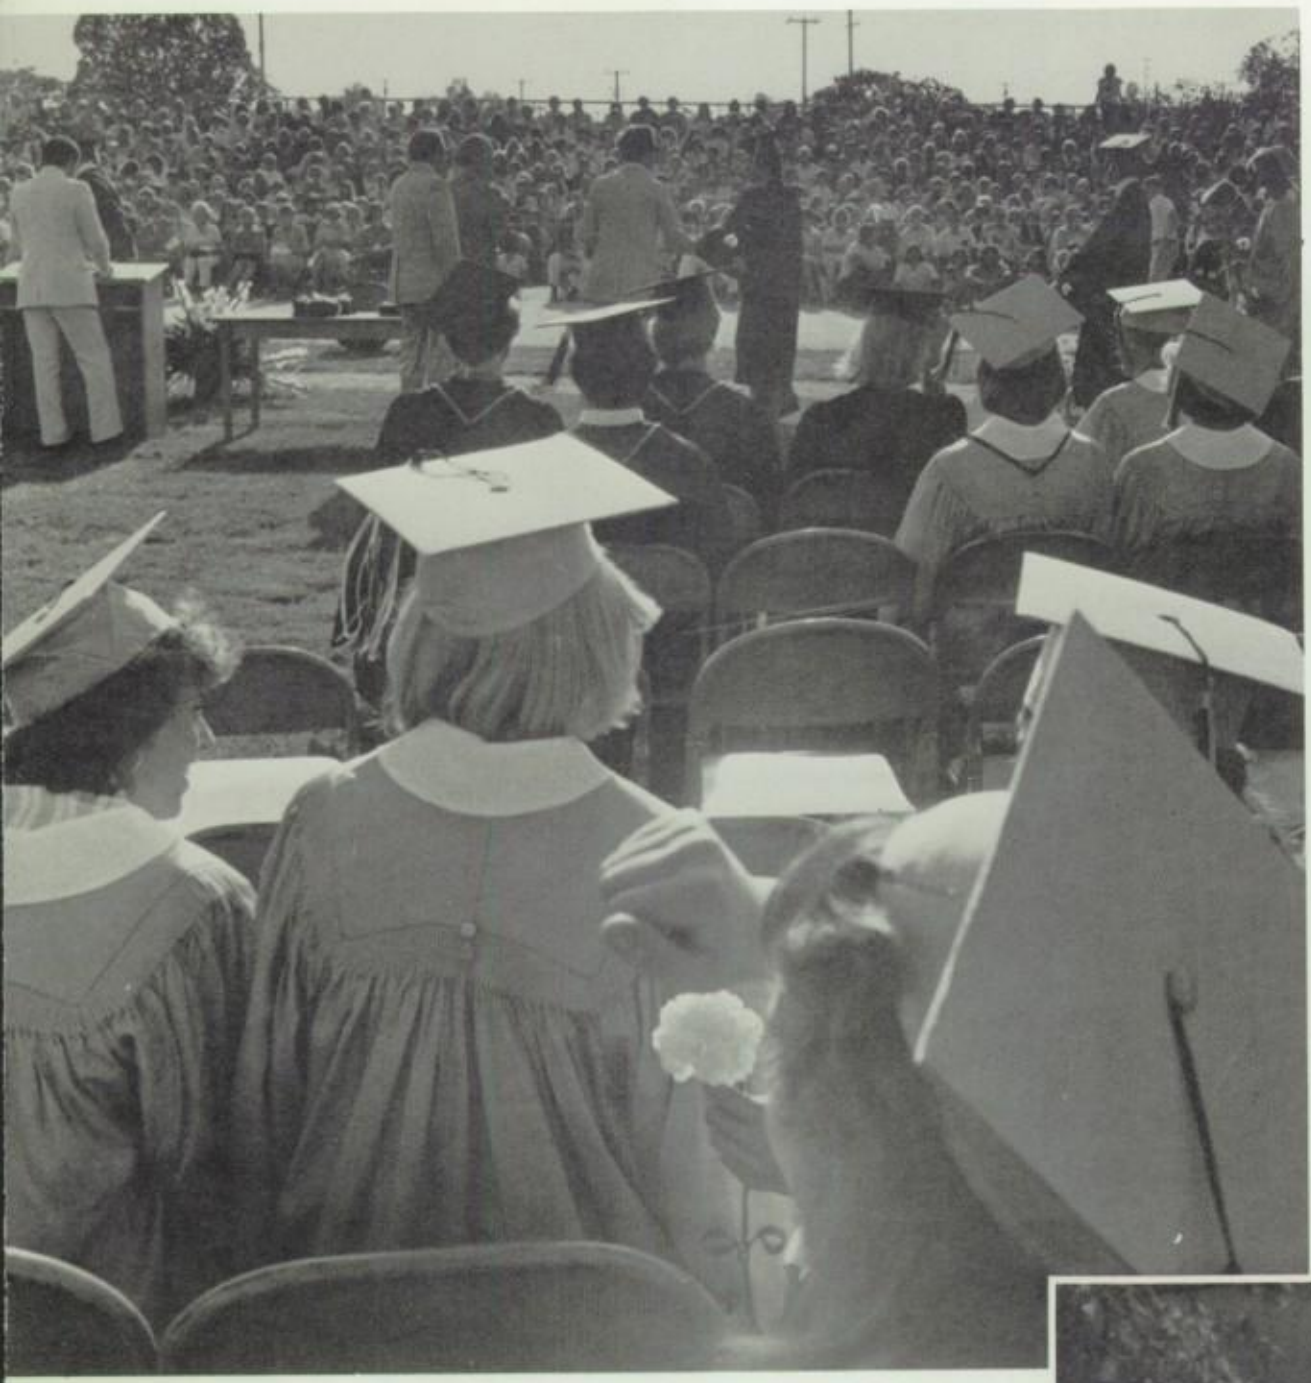
June is the month of change. Frosty spring mornings melt into sultry summer afternoons, and classrooms hum with suppressed excitement as the end of school approaches. One class graduates and everyone shifts to fill the gap. It is a time for remembering. Attempting to plan next year's schedule, only to find that all the classes you want are the same period. Forgetting your lock combination. Watching wrestling meets. Fishing a handball out of Rose Creek and slipping in the muck. Chinese fire drills. Dancing the "Swing." Typing a term paper using the hunt and peck method. Breaking up. Getting a drink at the water fountain and having the water shoot into your face. Searching for your picture in the yearbook. Looking forward to not being a sophomore anymore. Playing a joke on April Fool's Day. Plagiarizing for a report because the encyclopedia says it so much better. Growing older. Neglecting to set your clock ahead for Daylight Savings Time and being late to school. Twice as much homework on Thursday nights. Crewing for a play. Spring fever. Losing your voice after cheering for your team. "Inventing" additional data for your Science Fair project. Languishing from unrequited love, then finding out it isn't unrequited. Planning to see Europe this summer, but knowing you'll get a job instead. Showing off your new clothes after Christmas vacation. Signing annuals and saying goodbye. Knowing your school is the best. Wishing it was summer. Wallpapering the school with signs at election time. Dreaming. Coming early for cabinet meetings. Making faces. Wondering if you'll be asked to the Prom. Getting a headstart on your tan. Finally covering your books. Rebuilding a car engine in auto mechanics. Facing finals. Performing in the Spring Concert. Stampeding to get hypnotized by Dr. Dean. Forgetting how to speak during your oral report. Practicing scales. Cafeteria study sessions. Heart failure when your calculator battery runs down during a test. Shin splints and bruises. Earning a varsity letter. Worrying that you'll miss your deadline. Relearning the same things year after year. Celebrating the end of a thirteen year grind. Receiving a scholarship. The empty feeling you have when you clean out your locker and don't put the lock back on. Tossing your cap in the air at Graduation. Wondering if next year can be better. Regrets. Anticipation.







Holly.
Well its been an excellent year. Plenty of good times and parties (well a little short on parties) and also I got to meet you. Hope you have good luck with your jobs and can soon afford my motor-cycle. love, Joey

Holly-
We had some good times in crafts at the beginning of the year. "Remembering" Have a good Summer, I'll see you at South mission.
Love ya-
Pam Y.

Holly,
I was really glad I had the chance to get to know you because you are a really sweet person. It was fun having you in English. I hope that someday that you meet a nice guy, you deserve one. I hope you have a good summer & call me sometime 272-3940.

Love, Lisa Lagnado

Well Holly

This is our second year together Sounds great doesn't it.
were had our ups and were had our downs.
and no matter what you say I was in love with you the whole time and still am.
I just don't think we have got it together at the same time, your real cute and you mean alot to me, this is getting a little corney, Oh well why not. Ill call you this summer and maybe we could do something we might even be able to find a bush or two

Love ya always

Todd

well Harmon Head - i hope "he" doesn't read this, that's all i have to say. we both were so smart and realized what a fuckhead he really is. it took you a little longer than some, but finally...
he's not worth it. CREEP! the beach was fun (Diamond) with bullfrogs and "sun." i think that's wha it was.
i wish we really could have done more together then we did. yours so sweet and funny! Also, dear: call me this summer- keep in touch, or whatever else i have to write to tell you to call. lets do stuff this summer, but not Diamond. Marine or South
Mission. i'm glad we became friends.
lets keep it. ok? 272-2110 CALL!!
Love ya,
mayo
not Mar!

-Holly-
I'm glad I got to know you this year. You're a sweet person, stay that way
Finally this year is over Maybe I'll see you during the summer. Take care
Be Good.
Luv.
Carolyn Travers

Holly,

My lost buddy... How come we don't ever see each ther anymore. I guess it is because we both are usy but what a BUMMER!! I wish we could play OTL this summer but that's the way it goes. I think we ould have won 1st anyway - HA HA!! Holly - we have to et together this summer when things get a little less ectic, ok? I hope you don't think that I ignore you ther because I really look up to you and consider you a terific friend. I'll never forget the times we've ad together and now we have another whole summer for more. Have a good Time & stay happy..

Love Always.

Pam

in case you lost it!!

Holly, or Daughter,

I'm so glad I met you this year it seems to me that I have known you for about two years. I just can't believe how unbelievably sweet you are to me. Listening to all my problems and solving most of them for me. I never knew I could meet someone as nice as you are. I'll see you at the beach ~~this~~ this summer. If you ever and I mean ever need someone to talk to don't hesitate to call me cause I listen to anything you have to talk about. You'll always be my friend. 459-9490.

Luv

Jim Hassell

[redacted] ← Sorry

holly,

I don't know where to begin, but I hope you had a 10th grade year and a better 11th grade. Have a good summer and good luck with what's his name, I don't know what real to write, but take care and I'll see ya later bunny.

love always.

Richard

Halberd

Holly,
I've been a real good pal these last couple of years. I wish we could be more things together besides biology labs. Hopefully we can this summer cuz I think your a real sweet girl. Best of Luck with Joe and I'll be seeing you this summer.

Love Ya
Diane

P.S. Call me cuz I get real bored

Hollyana,
Too bad I didn't get any classes w/ you. I can't beleive how damn good you look this year. I'll be seein' ya at R. St. everyday. Have a fun summer partyin'! See you at most of 'em.

Love,
Ellen B.

Holly -
I didn't get to see you much this year. Have you been hiding? Have the best of summer — Take it easy.

Love
Yo' ☺

Dearest
I've known you for awile now and be seeing you around so I'm Not going Say good bye Just see you latter

Adios
Love, your friend
Tomás Cronin

Holly
Thanks for being so nice and pretty this year. I sure had fun that night I went out with you I hope I see you in summer and years to come. And do good in school the next years. Thanks for everything except Holly being so nice

See you Love
Kevin ☺

Holly,
It was great getting to know you this year and I'm really glad I did. You're really nice and I don't know how but you always seem happy. Have fun this summer and I'll probably see you at the beach.
Take care of yourself. Love, Todd Myrick

Holly!
I knew you from Marston Jr. High one new here m.B. Keep up with the Boys or Man. Soon I could run the years I come your one hell ota pretty lady
So stay that way it yes want to fine a party on a Friday nite

Holly,
Thank you for our tutor class when fun when we went and smoked some more to dad we can't all be as sexy as you this summer but maybe next. Take it easy
Love,
Adam Cesario
(Sinsos)

Dearest Holly,
Thou the years have fled fly, and we still will come, I will always to the friendship we have had, and still have. You have been a beautiful friend. (even though you weren't in 9th grade.) But now since we were in school together. I hope we can share the next 7 yrs. again, we can live the best life you want, and always to come. Love + Friendship the many years to come. Always Vicki Peter

Holly-
10th grade will leave alot of good memories for me. I hope the same for you. Hope we can get to be better friends next year.
Love
Anna

-Holly-
You have got to be one of the nicest people I've ever met. Really. I mean, in the first place you got me to go with Jimmy (and boy, was that a great idea) and second, you've been a super friend. I can talk to you about anything at all, and I don't know many people like that. I wish I'd met you before or I would've been happier just that much longer. We have to stay in touch or I'll go crazy - I swear!!! Stay as sweet and gorgeous as you are (what a cliche) and remember we'll always be friends. Call me sometime or if you don't I will!
Love,
Amy B.
